School of Arts & Sciences

The primary purpose of the School of Arts and Sciences is to afford the student a liberal education, which by its nature is broad rather than narrow, devoted to intellectual development and discipline rather than to the acquisition of technical skills. It should give the student some knowledge of the achievements of the human mind, with special reference to the Western civilization of which both the ancient world and contemporary America are parts; of the historical and cultural backgrounds essential to a true understanding of our world; above all, of orderly thinking processes and of a scale of values by which he can distinguish the permanent from the trivial, the substantial from the pretentious, the good from the bad. To that end he will need some familiarity with historical and political studies, the sciences, and the arts. The curricula require a number of courses deemed essential, individually and as a group, to the intellectual competence at which the liberal education aims; in addition to these, the student has electives which he may use to further his general knowledge or to specialize in certain fields.

On the Undergraduate level, the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts degree, the Bachelor of Science degree, the Bachelor of Music degree, the Bachelor of Science in Education degree in the area of Special Education, and the Bachelor of Visual Arts degree. In most of these degree programs curricula which meet the requirements of the State Board of Education of Georgia prepare teachers for certification on the elementary and secondary school levels.

Through its Division of Graduate Studies the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Master of Arts degree in economics, English, history, mathematics, political science, and psychology; the Master of Science degree in biology and mathematics, the Master of Arts for Teachers degree, the Master of Education degree, and the Sixth Year Program for Teachers.

The School of Arts and Sciences has been authorized to admit students in 1967 for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in psychology.

Art Department

The Art Department at Georgia State College is located on the 6th and 7th floors of Kell Hall. The department serves about 300 art majors who are pursuing professional degree programs in art in nine major areas: Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture, Ceramics, Crafts, Advertising Art, Interior Design, Art Education, Art History. Currently there are ten full-time faculty members and two part-time faculty members, all of whom are distinguished professional artists contributing to the culturally rich metropolitan environment.

Each year the Art Department presents a number of exhibitions in the Georgia State College Art Gallery which is located on the first floor of Kell Hall. These exhibitions include a wide variety of media and interests such as drawing, painting, crafts, advertising design, sculpture and printmaking. Art students at Georgia State also have the opportunity to visit the High Museum of Art as well as a number of private and commercial galleries in the Atlanta area.

Plans are now underway for a new building which will house the Art and Music Departments. Completion of this new facility is expected within two years.
