RAMPWAY

FOREWORD . . .

The staff of the 1953 Rampway has endeavored to present to the student body an annual representative of our school—its classes, organizations and activities.

In order to reduce the greatly increased price of the printing of an annual, the School Administration again this year decided that the book should be lithographed, that individual pictures be taken only of students in the Senior and Junior Classes, that group pictures be taken of students in the Sophomore and Freshman Classes and that the book should be approximately 200 pages in length. By thus reducing the cost of producing the book, it is possible for you to receive your copy of the 1953 Rampway free of charge.

HISTORY

The Atlanta Division, University of Georgia is now in its Thirty-Ninth year of service in higher education to the Atlanta Metropolitan area and to the State of Georgia. The school was established in 1914 as the Georgia Tech Evening School and had as its first director the late Wayne Kell.

In 1928, Dr. George M. Sparks was appointed director. During the 25 years under his capable guidance, the school has grown by leaps and bounds, many times outgrowing its physical plant. The present building is a seven-story structure in downtown Atlanta which contains modern laboratories for chemistry, physics, human biology, zoology, microbiology, and bio-chemistry, A physical education department, student activity spaces, student lounges, refectory, college grill, tea-room, music room and two library centers with over 45,000 books.

Post-war growth has made even the present large plant inadequate. Plans have been drawn for an air-conditioned building containing a library, additional classrooms, executive offices, and student lounges, to be located on the corner of Courtland and Gilmer Streets facing Hurt Park which is adjacent to the present building.

Throughout these years of growth in service, the Atlanta Division has been guided by three chief aims: (1) to give to the young men and women of Georgia who attend the school a collegiate training characterized by quality and high standards; (2) to educate students so their behaviour will be living evidence of the finest principles of citizenship and the highest code of moral and business ethics; and (3) to return to the state citizens who will exercise effective leadership in every circumstance of life.

With this past growth and these aims, the Atlanta Division looks to the future with confidence that it will continue to grow in service in tempo with the growing needs of Metropolitan Atlanta and the State of Georgia.

Since the installation of Theta Chapter, June 9, 1931, Delta Mu Delta has lived up to its purpose, which is to promote "higher scholarship in subjects set forth in the curriculum . . . to stimulate interest in the advancement of scholarly ideals; and to recognize and reward scholastic attainment in the studies as set forth above."

Through the Delta Mu Delta Honor Roll, published annually, the records of students of outstanding scholastic rating are acknowledged.

The election of members, selected from the graduating seniors, together with two undergraduates, honors those students who have successfully passed the rigid requirements for this, the only senior college national scholarship fraternity at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association is the cord that ties the past to the present and the future.

There are now more than 15,000 alumni of the Atlanta Division, scattered across the globe. But, more fortunate than most universities, we also have a concentration of alumni right here in Atlanta. And as this group advances in business and the professions, its members reach out quite often to help some undergraduate along—a job, a word of advice, a boost in the right place for the alma mater.

There is no slackening of interest when the cap and gown is fitted and a handclasp of congratulations is in order, as from James C. Shelor, Vice President of Fulton National Bank, to Alumnus Bill Richardson.

There is no slackening of enthusiasm when an alumnus settles in a neighbor state, Florida, and becomes the executive assistant to the governor as did Warren Blackmon.

Nor is there lessened responsibility when the law shingle is hung and business is calling. In that spot, Rolan Neeson accepted the presidency of the Alumni Association, to guide its program.

And another attorney, Alumna Antha Mulkey, does not lose interest in her university's growth. Although she knows nothing of the mechanics of a steam shovel, she is on hand to watch it scoop the first clod of earth for the foundation of a new and finer University building.

For some there are far horizons, as for Airlines Stewardess Bobbie Grier . . . But for all alumni there is one promontory on the horizon always remembered and loved—their university.
