THE ATLANTA DIVISION
THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

FOREWORD

A baseball player married a cinemama. They spent their honeymoon in the Far East: she in Korea with G.I.'s and he in Tokyo with Japanese baseball players—probably the most unusual honeymoon of the year.

That was the big story of 1954.

Twenty-three American prisoners of war flipped their fatigue caps while in Communist captivity. When time came for them to "go home," they refused. Two finally realized that Life in America is better, even for a collaborator, than Existence in Exile. Then there were 21 left.

That was the big story of 1953.

In Atlanta, at the Atlanta Division, a small, quiet competent group worked swiftly, assuredly, to collect, edit, and assemble material for the school's yearbook. They knew mistakes would be made, students' photographs would be omitted, wrong identifications made, sensitive souls slighted, but they would not be deterred. Joe, George, Marywill, Mike, and Maggie would appreciate their final work.

Joe, George, Marywill, Mike, and Maggie, and their friends, said: "Give us a book for reminiscence. Something to bring nostalgia."

The group, having completed their work, awaits the final judgment: Yours.

Won't make a big story—not even news. It will make a few people happy to know you like the 1954 Rampway.

Against the Old, A Monument to Enterprise

Dream, plan, work and fight, yield a little—but then push . . . hard! In 1953 Governor Herman E. Talmadge broke the ground for the new Atlanta Division building. Director George McIntyre Sparks realized that which so many men who dream, plan and work feel when they see their conceptions emerge as actualities. It is a wonderful feeling, reserved for men who pioneer. In 1954, this Fall, students will enter the new Atlanta Division building hurriedly, noisily. Few will give thought to the past, to the present, to the future. They pause only long enough to rest a bit between classes. They have a dream for the future too.

A Serenade for the Builder

THE ATLANTA DIVISION

The phenomenal growth of the Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce, begun in 1913 with 47 students, into the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, with an enrollment of more than 5,000, is without parallel in the history of education. Gratifying the wish of Atlanta men and women for higher learning has been an ever-increasing task through the 36 years of the school's life, and its scope shows no signs of narrowing.

The idea for an evening school in Atlanta had its embryonic beginning in 1911 when W. M. Fambrough, president of the Alumni Association of Georgia Tech, inquired of the alumni concerning their need for business training, especially during the first few years after graduation. Their replies prompted him to express the desire for a Chair of Business Science at Tech.

In 1912 a campaign was begun to interest juniors and seniors in a series of business lectures given at the school. These lectures were placed on the regular schedule at the end of that term.

In 1913 the Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce was established, housed in three rooms in the Walton building. Although it was authorized by the Board of Trustees its financing was independent.

The school's first president was the late W. S. Kell, a member of the Georgia Tech faculty. His aims as stated, were:

1. To interest business men in the idea of an evening school in behalf of the youth of Atlanta.
2. To prepare himself for a more thorough business training in order to raise the standards of the school (in quest of this, he became the third C.P.A. in Georgia).
3. Eventually to make the school co-educational.

A peak enrollment of 364 attended classes in the four rooms in the Arcade building from 1917 to 1921. In the latter year the site was moved to a third-floor attic at 18 Auburn avenue, where there were five classrooms. In 1920 the school was made co-educational.

For 1926-27 the school operated at 92½ Forsyth street, and from 1927 to 1931 had six rooms at 106 Forsyth. The enrollment had spurted to 654.

In 1928 Dr. George M. Sparks became director of the school, and increased the number of courses required for a degree from 24 to 30. The next year it was made the standard 40. The year 1931 saw the number of courses offered jump from 22 to 92, and the faculty increase from 17 to 35. By 1933 there were 138 courses taught by 38 professors.

From 1931 to 1938, some 19 rooms at 223 Walton street building housed the school. When the junior college was opened in 1935, enrollment shot from 853 to 1,274, and reached a peak of 1,709 in 1938.

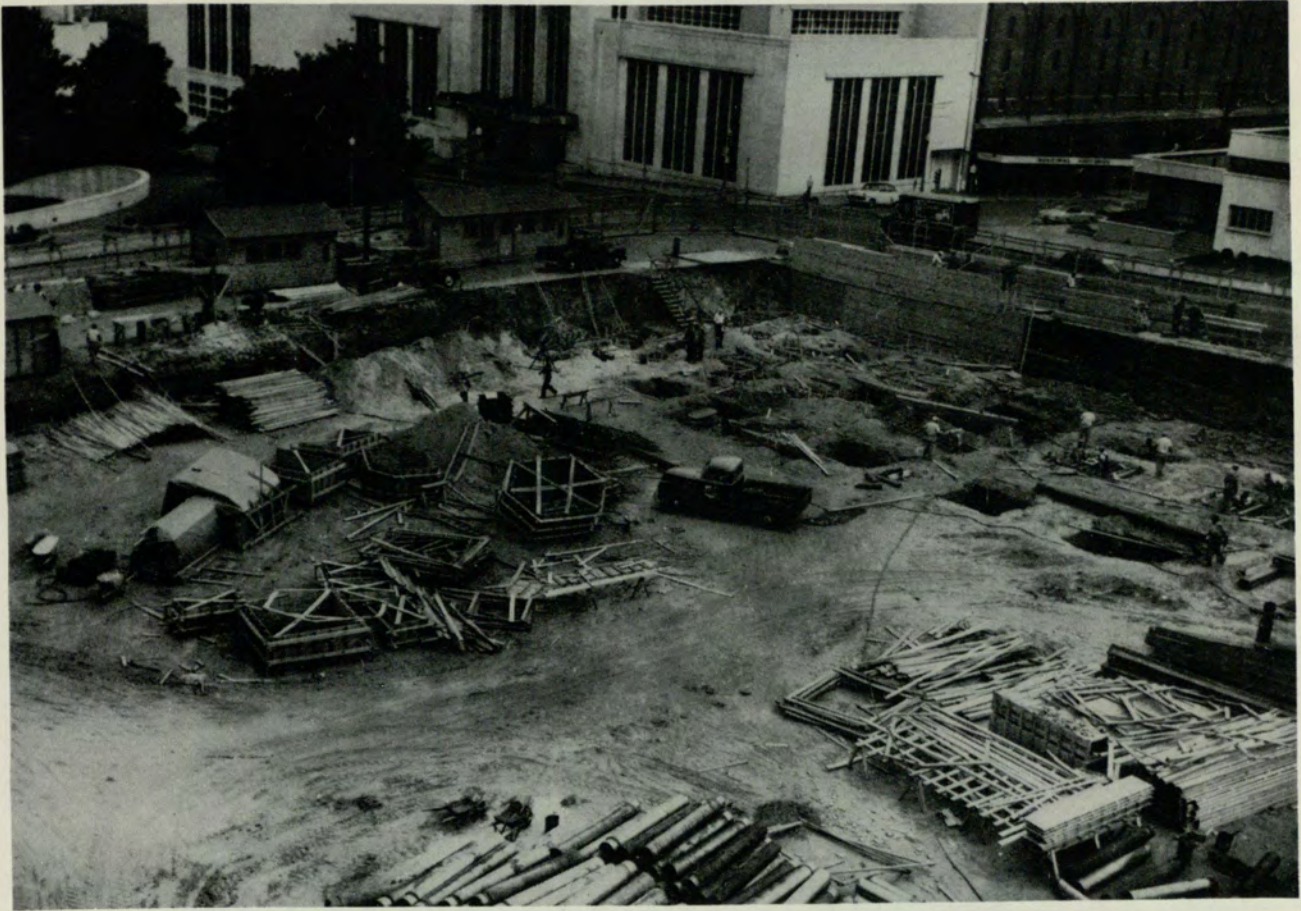

Crowded conditions necessitated another move, and the Georgia Evening College and Georgia Junior College settled at 162 Luckie street, where there were 50 classrooms for more than 2,000 students.

The war years saw a slump in enrollment which was more than compensated for afterward with the influx of thousands of veteran students. Enrollment records continued to be broken, and new quarters were sought again.

They were found at 24 Ivy street, S. E., in the old Ivy Street garage. War surplus materials worth hundreds of thousands of dollars speeded the changeover, and classes opened in the fall of 1945.

In 1947 the school was made the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia. Today it has over 100 classrooms, with almost 160 instructors teaching 300 subjects. The peak enrollment for the year 1948-49 was 5,327.

The Atlanta Division has proved her worth to Atlanta high school graduates as well as to working men and women. Her reputation has been won, not through famous athletic teams or by individual exploits, but through liberal, thorough education bestowed in the best American tradition. She looks always to the future, never to the past, for her best is ever yet to come.

SYMBOLS

They first excavated and Clementine looked down from a seventh floor window and exclaimed over the "tiniest things" moving about in the great hole. Had Clemmie imagination she may have taken her charcoal pencil in hand and sketched the scene. Down below, where another chapter of the Division's history was being introduced, all the symbols of man's desires, fierce struggles for survival and eagerness for reproduction laid there. There also laid the ending of a dream and the beginning of reality.

Raymond H. Dominick

MISS JULIA SPARKS died January 13, 1954. She was 78 years old. She was a graduate of Wesleyan College in Macon. She served as regent of the Mary Hammond Washington Chapter of the DAR in Macon. She was also active in UDC work and at one time served as executive secretary of the Georgia Federation of Women's Club. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Atlanta.

Indian Creek Lodge is her monument. Miss Sparks transformed the place into a retreat for students. She made it beautiful and comfortable. She graced the Lodge with her own presence, serving as hostess and chaperone to countless student outings. How many romances pulsed and bloomed under her friendly eyes?

While others taught, inspired, urged ever onward efforts, she busied herself in providing a pastoral retreat for students and faculty alike.

RAYMOND H. DOMINICK was a professor of mathematics at the Atlanta Division. He died January 18, 1954.

Professor Dominick had been with the Atlanta Division seven years when he became ill, one month before his death. For 26 years he taught at Tech High School in Atlanta. Once he was principal of Glynn Academy in Brunswick. He served as vice president of the Atlanta Teachers Association and on the College's executive board of General Studies. He was a teacher.

He, simply and sincerely, without pedantic paternalism, won the respect of thousands of students whom he counseled and guided. He worked with students, treated them as individuals. He concerned himself with their welfare. He made their interest his interest. He was a teacher.

UP FROM A GREASE PIT

The University of Georgia (at Athens) has a delightful plant. Its Atlanta branch, in the home town of archrival Georgia Tech, is more or less underground. The building was formerly a seven-story garage and still shows unmistakable signs of its past: car ramps, grease-stand niches, and repair-shop space. But the college has converted the space into hallways, lounges, offices and 88 classrooms for 4,700 students. There are some 30 student organizations on the "campus"—which is what students call nearby city-owned Hurt Park—and the ROTC unit drills on the garage roof.

The Atlanta Division acquired the garage in 1945, when its shrewd director, Dr. George M. Sparks, saw a chance to make some money for the university system. He bought the $900,000 building from some harassed garage men for $301,000—and returned the money to two state education funds in ten months. Today, the school has a surplus of $400,000. Sparks has made the three restaurants in the school profitable, and he rents office space to the Board of Regents, the state Merit System, and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. He also leases to outside operators two parking lots and two filling stations.

Garage Annex: Now, from its own funds, the Atlanta Division is allocating $600,000 for construction of a new building with 75 classrooms on an acre behind the converted garage (the state is providing the rest of the $2,200,000 cost). The new edifice will be completed within a year, in time to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the institution.

The college offers 500 subjects and gives the degrees of bachelor of business and B.S. in nursing. Students, who are of all ages, may take three years toward an A.B. from some other university branch. The division guarantees a job to every student (each studies only part time) and helps them find places to live. For Georgia residents, the tuition is only $150 a year.

Often three generations of the same family take courses at the same time, and frequently the children of the city's wealthiest as well as poorest citizens attend. One woman comes to classes with a chauffeur carrying her books.

THE CURIOUS SAVAGE FINDS ASYLUM

Jean Cole portrayed Mrs. Ethel P. Savage, an affluent eccentric, in a delightful comedy artfully entitled "Curious Savage." The curious who saw the University Players' presentation gave it a hand warming commendation. Ian Macauley, writing in The University Signal, thought "Curious Savage" the most perfectly-cast play presented before . . . the Atlanta Division . . . this season.

Mrs. Savage is an affluent eccentric whose primary objective in life is to satisfy the petty desires of those around her.

Walter Guthrie, Jerry Burton and Jean Faragason play the "heavies," the greedy children of the old woman, who have her confined to an asylum.

In the asylum Mrs. Savage has for companions quite a number of real gone lid flippers. Mary Donaldson, William Falkner, Patricia Maynard, Gail Bell and Jon Colcord convinced the audience they were really deep in the snake pit. No hissing!

Alyce Carson and Jack Canavan played the medics in the institution.

Mrs. Savage before her confinement converted her wealth into negotiable bonds, stuffed them into a teddybear, and played "bonds, bonds, who has the bonds?" with the avaricious offsprings for the rest of the performance with the asylum's prize lunatics providing the sometimes poignant moments, often the merriments.

After much ado, all ends well.

Elliot Brand, Bruce Walrath, Joe Johnson, Claude Brown and Hazel Thomas worked backstage to provide stage designs, setting, lighting and directing.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Day Student Council officers are elected each Spring by majority vote of the Day Student Body to serve the following year. Officers 1953-54 are

- LOWMAN OGLESBY President
- JACK KELLEY Vice President
- RUSSELL MUSGRAVE
(elected to fill unexpired term)
- VIERA WESTBROOK Secretary
- JACKIE FURR Treasurer

Representatives to the council are elected in each 10:40 class at the beginning of each quarter to serve the one quarter in which they are elected.

Student Council is the voice of the student body. Any student with a problem may come to Council meeting and be assured of an audience which will take proper steps promptly. The most important thing the council has done this year is the work on trying to secure a Liberal Arts degree at the Atlanta Division.

ATLANTA DIVISION'S SENIOR CLASS

If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it from him.

ALMA MATER

(TUNE: "GLORY, GLORY TO OLD GEORGIA")

'Mid the haunts of streaming commerce
Stand thy walls so dear;
And thy loyal sons and daughters
Cherish mem'ries here.

Refrain:

Alma Mater, thee we'll honor,
True and loyal be,
Ever crowned with praise and glory,
Georgia, hail to thee.

From thy halls in fair Atlanta,
Famed in battle song,
Come thy notes of inspiration,
Guiding us along.

—Words by Dr. B. H. Flanders

THE STORY OF THE SONG

The first true Alma Mater for the Atlanta Division has been written by Dr. Bert H. Flanders, head of the English Department here. Dr. Flanders encouraged by Dean Henry T. Malone of the History Department finished the words just in time to be used at the Two-Day Freshman Orientation Program held here early in September.

The words of the Atlanta Division's Alma Mater sung to the tune of "Glory, Glory to Old Georgia":

INTRAMURAL KEY

Frank H. Strickland

A closer understanding and cooperative spirit among students, and between the student body and school administration.

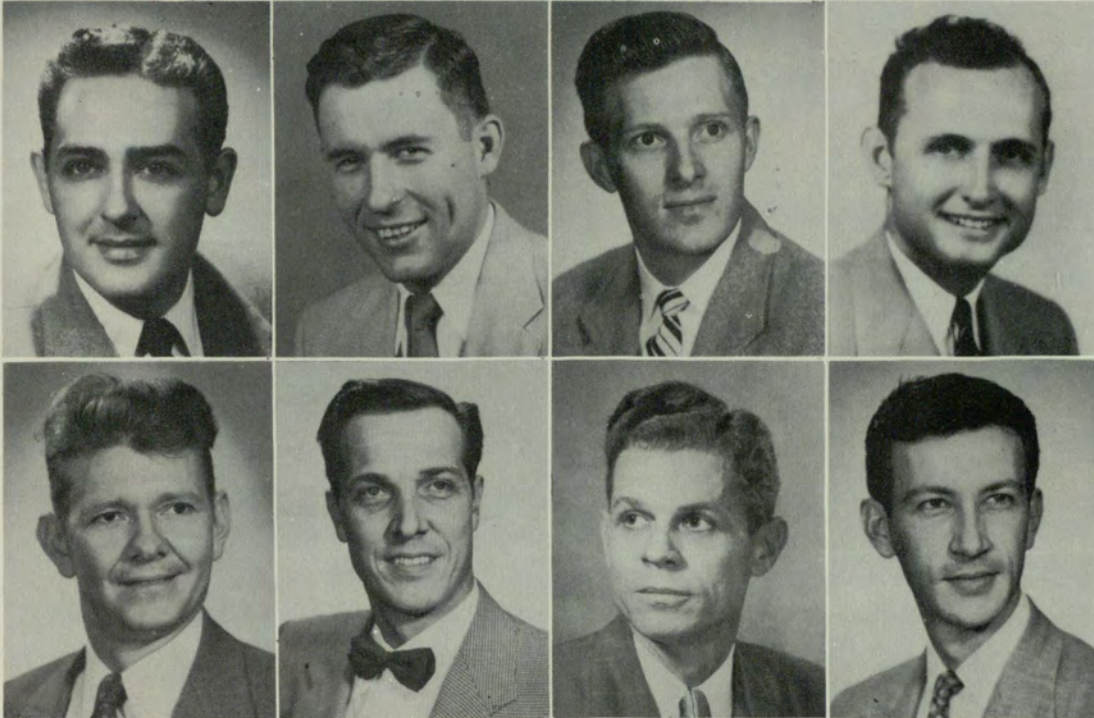

An aspiration for great intellectual achievement. A study of student problems to the end that all students' life may be enriched and the progress and best interest of the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, be stimulated and promoted.

LEST THEY BE OVERLOOKED

(Or, Why Are They Included Here)

In handling some 15,000 photographs, more or less, we lost a few. Some did not bear identification. The "official" roster of students prepared for us by that department of electronic marvels omitted a few names. A lens failure in the camera caused an omission of others. Our "not on the list" list included the prominent, the Phi Beta Kappans, the Tau Eps, a number of future nurses, and Hortense Screvens, who really doesn't give a shrug of the shoulder whether her picture appears or not. Our apologies to you all and to you, Hortense.

Dean, the darn thing's empty.

Have you met our guest? Nancy, too?

Just some words, three and four letters long.

Ree-lee! Did you?
Honest to gosh?

Sacre bleu, prof! C'est nertz!

This student wrote the prize winning boner. . . .

THEY WONDER

THEY JOKE

NOBLE AND KIND SISTERHOOD

Delta Lambda Sigma was founded in 1934 as a sorority dedicated to the development of the nobler qualities of the mind and to the attainment of individual and social excellence among its members. The red rose is its symbolic flower. Red and white are the colors. The crest embodies significant symbols of ideal sisterhood.

BASKETBALL AT THE ATLANTA DIVISION

The Atlanta Division does field a basketball team. During the 1954 season, the Sparksmen played an impressive schedule, the final scores notwithstanding. For simon-pure sportsmen and "Good game, Charley" spectators, it was a better schedule than scoffers allow.

Dick Milne campaigned for greater student interest in sports through his column in The University Signal. Forever the faithful scribe, Dick sees encouraging possibilities in sports at the Atlanta Division.

The Yell Gals remain the most stalwart fans and by far the most beautiful—and sometimes the only—spectators at the home games.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA CHAPTER NO. 32

Atlanta, Georgia

Delta Nu Alpha Transportation Fraternity, one of over 90 chapters in the national transportation organization, aims to promote greater knowledge of traffic and transportation among its members, to foster academic and practical transportation advancement, and to develop an appreciation of the traffic profession as a vital factor in industry and commerce. In 1953, the Atlanta Division chapter won the Annual Chapter Achievement Award for its outstanding activities. It was the first time a collegiate chapter has won the award.

THE PURPOSE OF SIGMA KAPPA CHI

Sigma Kappa Chi, like all social college fraternities, purposes to give its members that intimate, beneficent fellowship with good men, so necessary to their full development, and to supplement their cultural and professional education with training in those qualifications for citizenship and leadership which are not definitely or directly part of the University function.

NOT SHOWN: Gene Ballard, Vernon Ballard, Paul J. Friddell, Eugene Frazier, John Jacobs, Dick McGowan, Ed Nicholson, Ray Pryor, Bob Shurling, and Bill Smith.

Sigma Kappa Chi Fraternity was founded at the Atlanta Division at the close of World War II, due to the particular need for a social organization. Today, Sigma Kappa Chi stands as a leader in the social and civic mindedness of the Atlanta Division through its participation in the various activities of the college.

HURT PARK AND THE AUDITORIUM

From a window of the Art Department students at night look down upon the above scene. Mickey Allen, Rampway's creative photographer, preserved the scene for us for future reference. The Auditorium is a "thing of architectural beauty." It symbolizes civic culture and community solidarity. Hurt Park is Atlanta's recognition of the importance of Nature in our life, even amidst the commercial hustlings, hustlers and hussies. In the remote background and to the left of the picture is Atlanta's (and Life's) Blight, the slums of oblivion. Somehow it's fitting that the Atlanta Division has grown in academic acceptance amid such a neighborhood.

Day Burnett

Day Burnett is the captain of the cheerleaders. She is 20 years old, a comfortable five feet tall, and has brown hair and eyes. Day came to us from Fulton High, and is a junior in the School of Business Administration. Cheerleader and queen of Fulton High School, "cutest girl" in Atlanta Division's Who Who and is in Chi Rho Sigma Sorority.

Nancy Collier

Nancy is the squad's co-captain and assists Day in the group leading. She is 21 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and has blonde hair and blue eyes. Nancy was elected Miss DeKalb County for 1951. She is an excellent singer, well-known in Atlanta, and has done extensive tours with Atlanta talent shows; also, she is the Regimental Sponsor of the Atlanta Division's ROTC.

Joanne Sayre

Joanne is 19 years old. She has light brown hair, blue eyes, and stands a short 5 feet tall. Joanne graduated from Grady High and is a sophomore majoring in Interior Decorating. Her favorite sport is swimming and she is interested in art work. Joanne holds the office of treasurer of Delta Alpha Delta.

Mary Ann Brantley

Mary Ann is a frosh here and came from O'Keefe High where she was chosen as the Queen of O'Keefe and their Best Cheerleader. She is 18 and stands 5 feet 2 inches tall. The brown haired, blue eyed freshman is in the School of General Studies and is undecided as to a major.

Shirley Waller

Shirley is a twenty year old junior majoring in Education. She has black hair and brown eyes. She stands a comfortable 5 feet 2 inches. Shirley was a high school cheerleader and is active in sports also. Bad news, though, Shirley is engaged.

Nancy Wallace

Nancy, a freshman, has already achieved the office of freshman class treasurer and is on the annual staff. She is 18 and came from College Park High School. The 5 foot 7 inch, brown haired and brown eyed yell gal is a major in home economics.

Cackie Davis

"Cackie" is 5 feet 4 inches tall and has brown hair and blue eyes. She graduated from Hapeville High, where she was in the Beta Club and Who's Who. Cackie is an 18 year old freshman whose major is still undecided.

Amanda Burnham

At Jonesboro High, Amanda made an impressive mark. She was the annual editor, high school cheerleader and football queen. Amanda is 20 and a junior, majoring in marketing. She has brown hair, blue eyes and is 5 feet 3 inches tall. Also, she is treasurer of Chi Rho Sigma Sorority.

Jonelle Upchurch

Miss Hapeville High, Miss Atlanta Ante-Bellum, Miss Stewart Air Force Base, and Sweetheart of Phi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, Jonelle is a busy girl. She has honey blond hair, hazel eyes, and is 5 feet 2 inches tall. Hapeville High is Jonelle's Alma Mater and she is majoring in Business Administration here at the Atlanta Division.

Gayle Cook

The ever present extra throat of the yell gals is Gayle Cook. She is a newcomer at cheerleading but is very efficient at her new-found skill. She is an eighteen year old freshman from Decatur High. Gayle is in the School of Business Administration and a member of the Delta Alpha Delta Sorority.

1954 RAMPWAY

The 1954 Rampway pictures for the most part were photographed by student Mickey Allen. If the annual is accepted with enthusiastic approval the credit for success will be given to Mickey. If the book is relegated to the dusty undisturbed shelves whereon rests other Rampways of the past, then the editors must assume the responsibility for doing a bad job, indeed, with the photographs and other material available to them.

NO ORDINARY EDITORIAL CONFERENCE. Editor Carol Vansant laughs at editorial errors and typographical bulls in The University Signal. Managing Editor Dewey Turner and News Editor Gordon Roberts doesn't think it funny at all. Jack Thrift, Business Manager, agrees with Carol: It is amusing.

The University Signal

By Dewey Turner

Since the first editorial on Guts in 1926, the school paper has traveled through name changes, a merger, two wars, a depression, the reign of Jean Harlow and Marilyn Miller and the infamous man shortage of 1944.

The first paper was known as THE TECHNITE, and the first edition hit the stands December 1, 1926. The day paper came out October 30, 1935 and was named the JUNIOR COLLEGIATE. There was a title change from TECHNITE to EVENING SIGNAL October 2, 1933 and on May 23, 1943 the evening and day paper merged and became the UNIVERSITY SIGNAL with Beth Rogers as Editor-in-Chief.

If you happen to drop around the SIGNAL office now, you won't see any of its past history hanging from the ceiling, but you will find the same love for journalism which prompted the beginning of the paper in 1926. The reporters and staff members sandwich in story writing, typing and copy reading between busy class schedules and work, and most of them maintain a high scholastic average.

A glance through the past editions of the paper gives a fair idea of what took place on the local, national, and international level. The pulse of the public is ably recorded in matters of entertainment, history and politics.

On November 22, 1930 the Paramount Theatre advertised Marilyn Miller in SUNNY. In the October 20, 1930 issue, Mr. Paxon of Davison-Paxon offered a ten dollar gold piece for the best slogan for the Evening School of Commerce.

"Hitler should be canned," was the student comment on Hitler's famous three hour speech in 1938 and in March 1937 the female students commented, "It is a wild idea," in regard to a new fad called hair tinting.

Of particular timeliness is an incident which often occurred in the headlines. In almost every volume of the paper there is a report about the "new building" the school was moving to, indicative of the amazing progress of the Atlanta Division.

In October 1937 the paper proudly reported that the library had five thousand volumes on the shelves. In a 1934 issue the paper printed the pictures of the thirty-three graduates of that year, and in 1936 an editorial stated that there would be better farmer income, payment to veterans and a continuation of relief demands.

In October 1935 Regina Rapier interviewed Admiral Byrd while he was visiting Atlanta on a lecture tour. A 1938 issue carried Dr. Sparks' remark on the first morning he awoke at Oxford in England: "I thought I was in Heaven or something."

A 1932 paper advertised Hart-Schaffner and Marx trousers at $4.85 per pair.

On December 4, 1946 the paper announced the decision for the year book title. Blanche Salmond was given ten dollars and a free annual for her choice RAMPWAY. On May 16, 1952 the headlines read, "Pogo to Run."

When you pick up your bi-monthly copy of the UNIVERSITY SIGNAL from the chair at the foot of the rampway, you don't just pick up six or eight pages of printing. You pick up an illustrious history, toil, sweat and love—a love for journalism, for the staff members get no monetary remuneration.

From the time the editor, Carol Vanant, hands out the assignments till Dewey Turner, Managing Editor, coordinates departments, the "story" goes through many processes.

Interviews take place, the stories are mentally worked over, a lead is sought, the story is typed, re-typed, thrown away and read and edited, words are counted, pictures are gathered and the mass goes to the printers.

The printers run off two copies and a staff member picks them up. The material is again copy read and corrected. Ian Macauley, Make-up Editor and Bill McMillan then take over. Headlines are written, advertisements are placed and finally the paper takes shape.

The reporters and editors parade by to make last minute checks. Nancy Dickson, Society Editor, discovers a misspelled name: the correction is made. Sports Editor, Dick Milne, nods—his department is in order.

The paper again goes to the printers Wednesday, comes back Friday morning and you, the readers, then take over.

There are still three jobs left to be done. Jimmie Elder, Circulation Manager, mails papers throughout the country and Hoke Benton corresponds with a hundred or more colleges and universities getting and giving news. And finally the Business Manager, Jack Thrift, checks expenditures against income to see whether the paper is in the "red" or "black."

SELECTED UNIVERSITY SIGNAL ARTICLES DEPICTING LIFE AT THE DIVISION

Korean Vets Up Enrollment To 4,630

In announcing the enrollment figures for the fall quarter at the Atlanta Division, J. D. Blair, Registrar, said that the total enrollment of 4,630 students showed an increase of more than 10 per cent over last year's figures of 4,004.

The Veteran enrollment of 1,017—which included Korean Veterans—showed an increase from 862 last year to the present figure.

The total enrollment in the School of Business Administration was 2,849; in the School of General Studies 1,163; Nursing Education 257 and special students not working for a degree 238. An additional 123 students taking non-credit courses brought the total up to 4,630.

The freshman enrollment of 1,867 is the largest in the history of the Atlanta Division.

To take care of the increased enrollment, classes are being offered on Tuesday and Thursday nights. These classes are especially for those students who cannot attend classes three nights a week.

In discussing the enrollment this quarter, Major Blair said, "I attribute our very favorable increase to the growing prestige of our institution plus the magnificent economic opportunities available here in Atlanta."

Mr. Blair added these significant facts: (1) the regular enrollment increased from 4,004 to 4,630, or an increase of more than 10 per cent and; (2) Veteran enrollment including Korea Vets, increased from 862 to 1,017—however, enrollment of World War II Vets showed a decrease from 800 to 467.

Construction of Atlanta Division's $2,000,000 administrative and classroom building is two months ahead of schedule, according to Director Dr. George M. Sparks.

CLASSROOM AND ADMINISTRATION BUILDING
ATLANTA DIVISION • UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

Atlanta Division's $2,000,000 School Now Under Way

It was first estimated that the total construction period would be 400 working days, but it is now believed that the building can be completed in that many calendar days. The construction engineers attribute this speed-up in work to the favorable "lay of the land."

Weather conditions are another important factor in the progress of construction. So far, the work has been hampered by only two days of rain. The engineers are trying to get all of the ground work done before the expected cold, wet winter months arrive.

$75,000 FOUNDATION

Seven hundred and fifty-eight steel and reinforced concrete foundations had to be sunk into the ground to support this new classroom building. Students attending the summer quarter were witnesses to the poundings of the steam pile driver as it drove the hollow steel columns to depths ranging from 15 to 52 feet in the ground. The estimated cost of these steel and concrete piles has been set at $75,000.

GRILL IN BASEMENT

The two million dollar building will consist of three floors and will have a lounge and grill in the basement. The college's administrative offices and a library to contain 150,000 books are to be located on the first floor.

72 CLASSROOMS

This new building of white Georgia marble will have 72 classrooms—all air-conditioned. With the 88 classrooms in the present building, and those future 72, making a total of 160, the Atlanta Division should be able to accommodate from 10 to 12 thousand students.

The George McIntosh Sparks Scholarship Fund, which has been in somewhat of a dormant stage for the past four to five months is still "very much alive," according to Estelle Riddle, night school co-ed and secretary of the fund.

Sparks' Friends Sparks Drive For Sparks Fund

Miss Riddle, who is also the assistant treasurer, says that the Fund has $1,570.08 on deposit in the bank, and that some contributions are still trickling in.

Since all contributions go directly into the Fund's capital, unless otherwise earmarked, the Founders have not been able to advertise. A check for $100, marked for publicity purposes, was donated last week by Dr. R. C. S. Young, counselor here. Miss Riddle said that the Founders are planning to adopt Dr. Young's idea of publicizing the Fund, by setting up a display in the college lobby.

GIVES $100

Another $100 check has been given by Malcolm Brenner, Jr., an Atlanta Division grad, and now part-time professor in the evening school. Brenner praised the idea of the Fund, in a letter to Dr. Sparks.

Professors Tom Luck and Tom Purdom are now working on a letter to Atlanta Division alumni, which will explain the Fund's purpose and at the same time, invite donations.

Checks to the Fund should be made payable to the Fulton National Bank, Trustee for the George M. Sparks Scholarship Fund.

Tom Luck, president of the Atlanta Division Alumni Association, has pledged full support of his group to the Fund.

The Man and Friends. Governor Herman E. Talmadge, Nan Young and Director George M. Sparks turn the first spades in the ground breaking ceremony for the beginning of the $2,000,000 Atlanta Division building.

Pearidge's Mink's Hobby Is Hounds And Horses

There is a young lady at the Atlanta Division, whose somewhat unusual name will automatically raise a long sigh from the female populace. Her name is Mink Nottingham.

Mink has chosen an unusual college study for a woman—animal husbandry. The Atlanta Division offers two years of credit towards this degree. When she finishes her studies here, she will transfer to Athens to complete her degree. She is a sophomore here.

Mink attended Avondale High School. Her home is in Pearidge, Ga. And if you really want to know where Pearidge is located, walk, run, or fly to the Greyhound Bus Station and ask the dispatcher on duty. He seems to be the only one in Atlanta who knows where it is.

Mink's hobby is training horses and hound dogs. She has a room full of trophies won by her animals. The trophy room proudly displays cups and ribbons won by her dogs. Her 18 dogs are of Walker, July and Trig breeds. These animals are trained chiefly for hunting foxes. Anywhere there are competitive field trials for champion dogs, Mink's hounds will be in fine voice, howling for another blue ribbon to award their mistress.

Quite frequently, while on fox hunts, some of the hounds get lost and are not heard from for three or four days. According to Mink, one of the dogs, a female named Shirley, gets lost at least once a week.

Mink's knowledge of horses dates back to the tender age of three. She trains her own horses for pleasure and competition. The animals are kept in Tucker, Ga., on the farm of Mr. Norris Gresham. Mink trains Mr. Gresham's fine stock of horses in addition to her own. She trains six horses—two five-gaited horses, three walking horses, and a quarter horse.

She teaches her five-gaited horses to be "mean." "That makes them stay in high spirits during competitive showings," she said. On the other hand, she trains her walking horses to be as "gentle as lambs."

Well-bred horses, it seems, are very valuable property. Most of the horses are valued at between $1,000 and $1,500 with the exception of one finely-bred mare, which is insured for $5,000.

Although Mink will ride any horse available, her mother is just the opposite. She is afraid to ride even the most gentle horse. She is afraid of all horses.

Mr. Norris Gresham, a good friend of the family, has Mink train some of his show horses. She enters both of their horses in shows all over the Southeast. So, don't be surprised someday if you see her driving a car with a trailer loaded with horses, heading up the highway toward Tennessee or Kentucky.

Who's Who Tells Who's Who Here

The National Committee of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges has accepted for membership 29 Atlanta Division students.

Eligibility is limited to those juniors and seniors who hold good academic averages and who participate actively in college organizations and service.

A list of nominees, selected by the faculty and a student committee, was submitted to the Who's Who judges in Tuscaloosa, Ala. All the nominees were accepted and will be awarded certificates by the organization.

This honor was earned by 28 AD students last year. Five of those selected last year were again named to Who's Who.

The students who were accepted for membership this year are: Ethel Jo Baker, senior, Public administration major; Robert L. Barfield, Junior, management major; James A. Benton, senior, management major; Martha Joyce Cannady, senior, business education major; Benjamin F. Clayton, junior, management major; Joyce Dailey, senior, business administration major; Doris L. Davis, senior, management major; also accepted into Who's Who last year.

Linton C. Ellington, senior, business education major, also selected for membership last year; Jackie Furr, senior, retailing major, also selected last year; Eleanor Ann Hallman, senior, personnel major; Gloria Hausman, senior, business education major; Barbara Hume, junior, management major; Henry L. Kelley, senior, Spanish major; Van Leach, senior, marketing major; George McRea, senior, personnel relations major; Lester Mann, junior, accounting major; Russell Musgrave, senior, economics major; Lowman Oglesby, senior transportation major; Ken Peet, junior, business administration major; David Senay, senior, Transportation major.

Profs Reveal Pet Peeves

This time it is the professors who get a chance to sound off in a poll. The question put before them was: "What is the most annoying trait you have found in your students?"

Assistant professor of philosophy, Dr. Gerald J. T. Runkle, objects to jokes told in class so quietly and secretly that he cannot hear them. He is annoyed by "humorous remarks in class loud enough for the class to hear but not loud enough for me to hear," he said.

"General inattention" bothers Dr. Bert H. Flanders, associate professor of English. He doesn't like to ask a student a question and be answered with: "What did you say?"

One professor, who preferred to remain anonymous, said, "I don't want my students to feel they're obligated to take six cuts in my class."

Mrs. Ruth L. Bonner, Assistant Professor of political science, could think only of "chewing gum—out loud."

When asked what annoyed him, Theodore T. Beck pointed to two students of French and said: "You have it right there!" The associate professor of modern language is also annoyed when students ask "stupid questions that have no connection with the subject of the lesson!"

Dr. Henry T. Malone, assistant professor of history, would have preferred saying good things about his students. The worst trait he could think of was "students' occasional lapses from being ladies and gentlemen."

"Coming in late" was the pet peeve of Bascom Quillian, political science instructor.

Kenneth Coleman, assistant professor of history, is annoyed by students who think they have already done enough studying when they go to college.

Assistant professor of women's physical education, Barbara Jane Hart, doesn't particularly like being greeted by her classes with "Do we have to dress today, Miss Hart?" Swimmers should note that she doesn't like people who breathe incorrectly, either.

Dr. Carl Maelshagen professor of history, loves his students a great deal. He enjoys his students and gets along with them. His only objection to students is that he finds it difficult to get them to work. He finds that it takes work to get work. He added: "The faults I find common among students are usually the ones most common with us."

School of the Air Offers Talent An Airing

A few years ago when Video was in its infancy, a major topic of discussion was the future effects of Television on the education of the American family. The question is now being answered here at the Atlanta Division by the way of the SCHOOL OF THE AIR.

Dr. Harold E. Smith, head of the Speech department and SCHOOL OF THE AIR, stated that the guiding rule is to present programs which are cultural, educational and entertaining. Attainment of this principle has been shown by the cross section of presentations so far, such as the health program on the history, diagnosis and treatment of Tuberculosis by the Atlanta Tuberculosis Association. Also the foreign language series, the musical Moulin Rouge and South of the Border.

Professor Ted Beck, able assistant to Dr. Smith, is enthusiastic about one particular program soon to be presented: an Italian bird artist will give a Video exhibit of some of his past work. He will also demonstrate his technique before the cameras.

Miss Faye Fuller, SCHOOL OF THE AIR secretary, is looking forward to the coming pet show, and the entire department is particularly excited over the three one-act plays which Mrs. Clara Dunn and her University Players will present. The plays are: "The Ugly Duckling" by A. A. Milne, "Balcony Scene" by Donaly Elsar, and "Sorry, Wrong Number" by Lucille Fletcher.

To say the "SCHOOL" is a success would be an understatement! University of California, Cornell, University of Michigan, Iowa, Iowa State and many other schools have written for information on how the "School" works and how certain problems are solved.

The newspapers, P.M.L.A. Foreign Language, Birmingham Messenger, the Birmingham Post Herald and papers across the country commended the department on the foreign language series. Numerous letters of praise from such personalities as Faye Emerson have been received, but. . . .

Look and listen for yourself! There's radio everyday at 10:45 p.m. and every Saturday at 10:15 a.m. on WAGA and there is Televiewing on channel five every morning at 9:30 and on Saturday at 3 p.m. From one to 20 principals usually participate plus cameramen and various technicians.

Do you want to see a certain type of show, or do you know some phase of school life which is TV worthy? Or maybe you are a "budding young playwright" with a couple of one act plays in your hip pocket. If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, Dr. Harold Smith or Professor Ted Beck would like for you to come up to the fourth floor for a little chat.

What are your listening and viewing pleasures? Somewhere on the agenda there is a show "just for you."

A Real Oldie and Goldies

Mrs. Mucklow Original Settler Of the Division

Mrs. Frank Mucklow, present Veterans' Recorder at the Atlanta Division, is a warm and gracious lady. She is a native of Kentucky. She has worked here since fall of 1943, and she is the kind of person most AD people would like to see remain.

In the fall of 1945 the Atlanta Division purchased the present building which was at that time used as a parking garage. During the next several months the building, which has housed unthinking unfeeling machines (symbolic, perhaps, of staid conventions and insipid thinking), was transformed into a container for people who not only thought and felt but thought logically and originally and felt deeply, particularly about truth.

Mrs. Frank Mucklow's job as cashier and bookkeeper for the garage ended as the garage dissolved, or rather as it evolved into the new institution of learning. The idea being not to destroy, but to create, a new position was found for Mrs. Mucklow. She was employed as assistant to William B. Hartsfield, Jr., who was Veterans Recorder for the AD at that time.

Mrs. Mucklow, reminiscing about her first few months of working for the college, smiled as she recalled one month in particular. In February of 1946, shortly before the college "opened for business", she was sent to the new school to do her work. ("Somebody had to be there to answer visitors' questions about when the college would open.")

During that month it was Mrs. Mucklow's duty—keep in mind her southern femininity—to descend the steps every morning to the dark, cold basement and perform the very unromantic task of turning the heat on. She remembered what a frightening task that has been!

A review of the attractive lady's past brought up the question of how much her work had changed through the years. She explained that her work, which involves making monthly reports to the government on every GI student, had changed only in quantity. When Mrs. Mucklow began here it involved working with two files, one active and one inactive. She now works with 13 files and claims she needs another. She observed that the quality of work put out by Veteran students has changed very little throughout the years.

Mrs. Mucklow also revealed a desire to work in the new building at least one quarter. She added quickly, "I don't plan to leave even then."

BSU To Meet Daily Except Thursday

The Baptist Student Union here has begun a new venture, that of having daily meetings, instead of the former weekly meeting.

These new daily get-togethers will be held at 10 a.m. on Monday and Wednesday in room 205-F, on Tuesday in room 610, and on Friday in room 704. The BSU will of course not meet on Thursday, which is assembly day for all students.

Short periods of meditation and fellowship are on tap for Monday and Wednesday, with a big devotional meeting on Tuesday, to be followed on Friday with a "Singspiration Time", which will be a period of inspirational singing.

Something new has been added to the big Tuesday meeting, to the form of an all-male quartet. The four AD students are John Biles, Charles Bishop, The Rev. Frank Brown, Associate Pastor of Park Avenue Baptist Church, and Ed Carter. The quartet sings both hymns and spirituals and has been termed "good" by a spokesman for the BSU.

News Clinic For Churches

Pastors, religious education directors and church secretaries from all over Georgia will convene in Atlanta Oct. 23 for the Georgia Press Association's first Church News Clinic to be held at the Atlanta Division.

Purpose of the clinic is to acquaint church leaders—invited to take part in the activities by their local newspaper editors—with proper methods of preparing religious news for publication.

20 Appointed To Ad Faculty; Five Return

The staff and faculty of the Atlanta Division has been enlarged this quarter with five professors returning from leaves of absence and 20 professors coming as new appointments.

Dean of the School of General Studies, Dr. J. C. Horton Burch, said that Dr. William E. Hopkins would become the new head of the sociology department.

Further appointments announced by Burch include: Richard H. Brunell, formerly Asst. Head of the Art Dept. of Brown University and member of the Rhode Island School of Design. He will head the Art Department here.

Others named are: Dr. Julian T. Darlington, asst. professor of biology; Robert Warren Walts, asst. professor of English; James Thomas Madry, chemistry instructor; Joseph F. Perrin, asst. professor of art; Harvey H. Walters, head of the journalism dept., and Mrs. Martha Bullard Coffield, instructor in nursing and education and Miss Alda Lenora Ditchfield, asst. professor of nursing education.

Another chairman of a Business School major concentration named by Manner is Dr. Stewart W. McFarland, who will become the new chairman of the marketing division.

Additional appointments in the School of business include: Dr. Bill Moeckel, asst. professor of marketing; Marvin M. Tummins, asst. professor of economics; Nestor R. Rees (asst. professor of business administration; and John Mills Champion, counselor in business administration.

Those returning from leaves of absence are: Leland C. Whetten, professor of accounting; Charles W. Ray, associate professor of accounting; Mrs. Betty Street Johnson, instructor in sociology; Hiram Honea, asst. professor of economics and Dr. Joseph G. Mayton, professor of economics.

Religion Made Part of Campus Activities

Keenly religious students at Atlanta Division have banded together to make their freedom of religion an integral part of student life by organizing and renewing interest in religious groups.

Realizing that their education is incomplete without religion, they have banded together for further study of their religion and are organizing for the purpose of renewing their faith for a wider application in their daily lives.

Students of all denominations hope that in their own respective faiths they can light a fire of true Christian living in the breasts of their fellow students by intelligent discussion of the Bible, their mode of worship, and other principles so necessary for making everyone a better Christian.

And though they cannot hope to duplicate the social activities of the fraternities and sororities (for such is not their purpose), they lighten their program with social affairs, fulfilling another of their goals.

The Methodists have the Wesley Foundation, named after John Wesley, who once travelled the highroads and byroads of our native state. This club meets on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. for furthering the religious activities.

The Baptists have the Baptist Student Union, which meets at the same time. Baptist students in Atlanta have a building all their own for their various religious activities, however, the local group meets here at the Division.

Catholic students have organized a Newman Club, which has chapters at every leading college and university. This club is named after John Cardinal Newman, who perhaps is one of the most famous converts to the Faith. Cardinal Newman was a renowned Episcopal cleric in England before he became a Catholic.

PERSONALITIES

Alumni's Alumnus

Thomas R. Luck, Jr., economics professor and graduate of the Atlanta Division, has recently been elected president of the Alumni Association here to serve for the college year '53-'54.

A local attorney, Luck received his BCS degree here, an LLB from Atlanta Law School, and this summer, completed work at Georgia Tech for an MS in industrial management.

During his senior year here, Professor Luck was elected president of the student body, president of the Student Council, chosen Mr. Evening College, and received the Faculty Award, given to the "Most Outstanding Senior."

As the new president of the Alumni Association, Thomas Luck has outlined a program which includes . . . an attempt to establish a graduate school here . . . the annual Homecoming Banquet (set for Nov. 25) . . . support of the George M. Soarks Scholarship Fund and the establishment of current records on all Atlanta Division Alumni.

Journalism

Dr. Henry T. Malone, Assistant to the Dean of the School of General Studies, and professor in the History Department at the Atlanta Division, has been notified that his article, "Atlanta Journalism During the Confederacy", was published in the September issue of the Georgia Historical Quarterly.

Fossil Collector

Dr. Haley J. Walker, assistant professor of geography here, while on a trip to the western states this summer, discovered an amazing collection of fossils. He brought back, for display at the Atlanta Division, a dinosaur track, a peccate shell and more than 450 pictures of various areas of vegetation, petrified forests, and other fossils.

Mrs. Walker, the professor's wife, accompanied him on the trip, which included in the itinerary, a tour of Yellowstone National Park; Teton National Park; Zion National Park, and Bryce Canyon National Park.

Walker said that not all of the parks contained petrified trees. He said that some 60 millions of years ago, these now petrified forests, contained immense vegetation. He said, "Georgia does not have petrified forests, because it was then under water."

One night of the trip was spent in Death Valley, which has the highest and lowest points in California. Professor Walker said that Death Valley has an intense heat range, from 110 to 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

The fossil display, along with the picture panorama are located on the third floor, of the Atlanta Division, just outside the Geography office.

Nancy June

Nancy June Collier, a 21 year old student here, who is a talented vocalist, will be entertaining service men in Iceland, Bermuda, and the Azores this Christmas along with Jackie Nash, another A. D. student and the rest of the Miss Atlanta Show.

Last year, Nancy went to Alaska with the same troupe to entertain the service men there.

About two weeks ago, Nancy was invited by telegram, by an agent of the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour, to be present in New York the next day for an audition. Lack of time prevented her from accepting.

Nancy has also had radio, band and television offers, but as yet has not accepted. She has sung for the Officers' Club at Fort MacPherson, is soloist for the Georgia Tech Glee Club, sings in a girls' trio, has sung for the Elks' Club, Kiwanis Club, Womens' Club and many other such organizations.

Rebel Researchers

Two professors have come to the Atlanta Division to add to the part-time teaching staff of the history department, headed by Dr. Carl Mauelshagen. They are Professor Mary Ringold and John H. Moore.

Mrs. Ringold received her A.B. degree from Mississippi State College for Women, and did graduate work at the University of Mississippi for her M.A. degree. She taught high school during the war years, and worked as a "teaching fellow" while at the University of Mississippi.

Currently, she is working on her Ph.D. degree at Emory University. Her dissertation is to be on "Confederate Conventions and Legislatures."

Professor Moore received his B.S. degree at Mississippi State University, and at one time worked as an aeronautical engineer. The Professor's interest later turned to history and he did graduate work at the University of Mississippi for his M.A. degree.

He is now working on his Ph.D. degree at Emory University, and is in his third year of research. "Mississippi Agriculture Before the Civil War" is to be the theme of his dissertation.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

A SMILE, A SMILE, A SMILE. The above photograph came to the editors of the 1954 Rampway uncaptioned. Recognition of Miss Nan Young, the damsel in the center, places it as a photo from the school's first Annual Snapshot Salon.

PEANUTS BOILINGS AND TRIM ANKLES. Whatever one may say about the South's New Look, only a love-smitten poet can properly describe a man's reaction to meeting the young lady, a student at the Atlanta Division. Terrell County peanut boilings have been broken up by less attractive ankles.

Honest, I had to work overtime and was late.

Professor, you tell the funniest story.

The dreamiest fellow and a Phi Beta Kappa.

My girl, my suit, and he borrowed my car!

I don't feel so good. Went to a rush party.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many students and faculty member contributed, ho' wae id bid, to the making of the 1954 Rampway. None, however, helped us as much as Hortense Screvens who advised us to select but a few for counseling and guidance. Those few, she said, would be students who are active in student affairs and faculty members who are active in faculty affairs. Then there should be one who is both a student and an instructor. They were our privy council.

We must acknowledge the contributions of Mickey Allen who produced many of the photographs used in this book and for which he was poorly paid. The lad, a student in this school, showed remarkable talents in the photographic field.

To the various organizations, whose representatives helped the editors to solve the problem of senior photographic representation, we owe a pfenning of thanks. To Clayton Forrest, however, we are indeed grateful. He, alone, out of many, volunteered his services and then gave his time. There were others, but none so prominent.

Pat McGill, Harold Norris, Clemmie Hackler and Milton Epstein worked many hours in monotonous jobs—cataloging photographs, identifying them, counting 'em, preparing copy, and typing, typing, and typing. Harold Norris has been especially helpful.

Jonelle Upchurch, we are thankful to you for your assistance in preparing and distributing announcements about our plans for the Rampway.

Especially are we indebted to the assistance the Rampway got from the staff of the Georgia Press Association. Without their cooperation, one fact for sure, this 1954 Rampway would not now be.

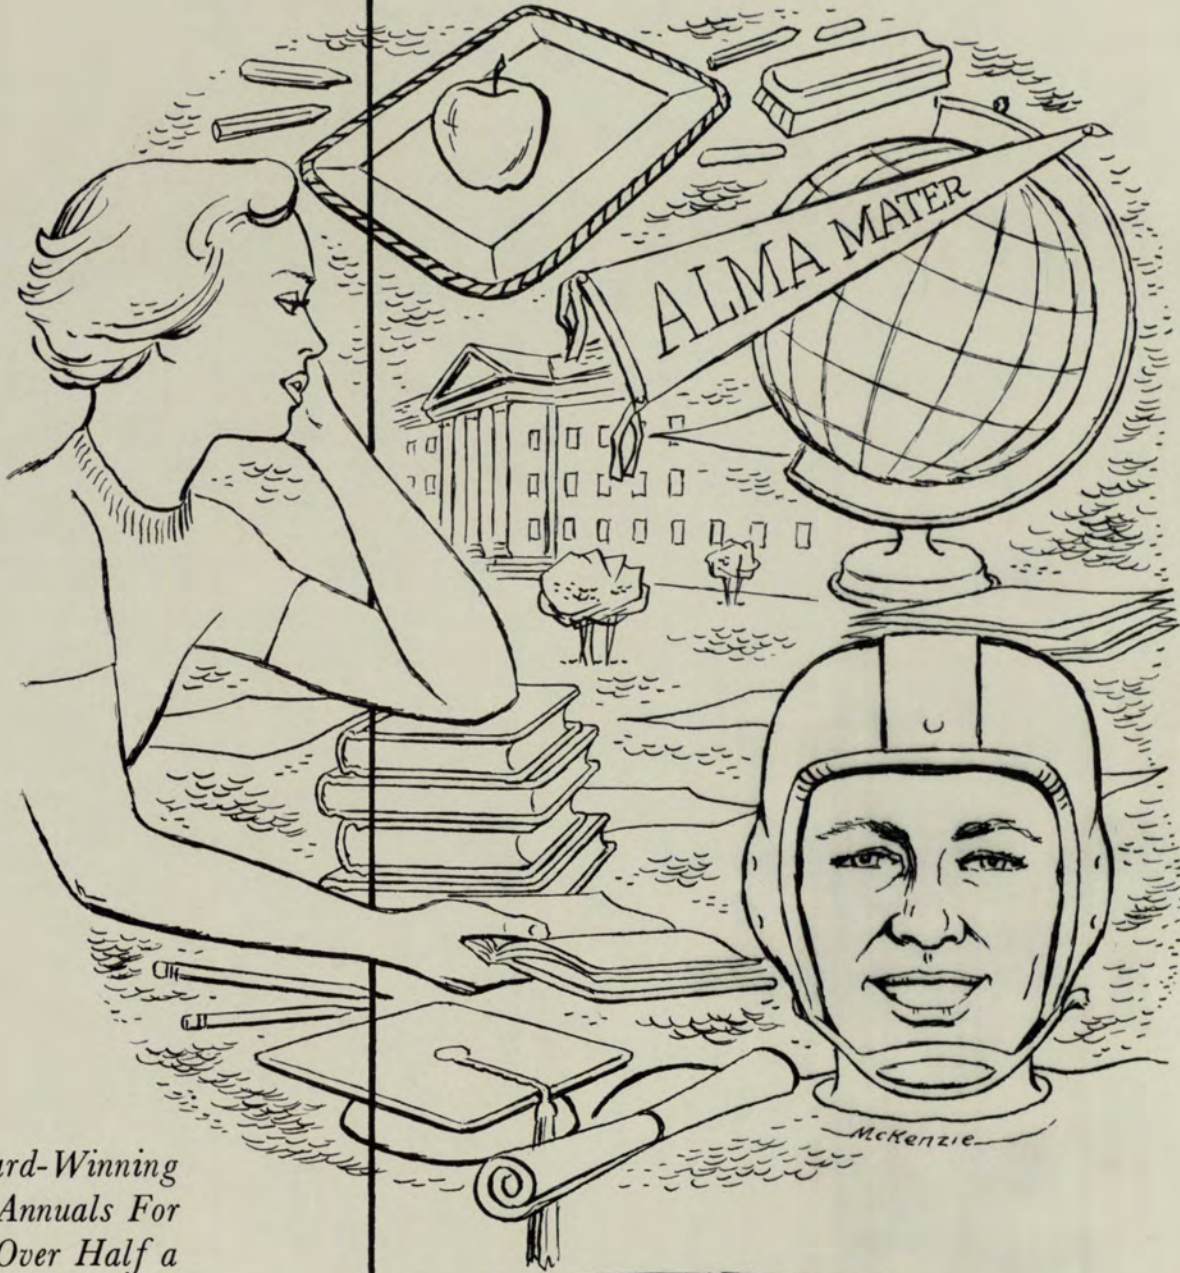

Thank you, too, Mary Will.
