dedication

To Dr. Kenneth England, Dean of Men, we dedicate this 1959 RAMPWAY. During his seven years at Georgia State Dr. England has devoted his time and attention to the assistance, support, and improvement of the college organizations and individuals.

The humor he can inject into any conversation has made him a well loved administrator. For documentary purposes we asked him when he was born, "The present century," was his answer. Further research notes November 25, 1917, in Wadley, Georgia, as the specific date.

Dean England received his B.S. degree from Georgia Teachers College. His Masters degree was obtained from the University of Georgia, and a Ph.D. from Vanderbilt University. Southern literature was his specialty in graduate work, and naturally now is his favorite course to teach at Georgia State.

He was formerly superintendent of Matthews Public School in Matthews, Georgia and head of the English department of the public school in Fitzgerald, Georgia. Dean England has also been a professor of English at North Georgia College, Georgia Institute of Technology, and North Carolina State University. He first came to Georgia State in 1952, and now is an associate professor of English.

He has served on the Student Activities Committee and the Publications Committee. This year he served as chairman of the Committee on Assemblies and Commencement. During this school year Dean England also acted as head of the fund drives in the college for the Community Services, Heart Fund, and Cancer drives.

He is not only an important man at the college but in many other organizations in this area. He holds membership, office or honors in the Georgia Education Association, South Atlantic Modern Language Association, Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors, Methodist Church, Alpha Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, and Sigma Alpha Nu. He serves on the Governor's Committee on Nuclear Energy and the Education Committee of the American Cancer Society.

Articles about Dean England or his own poetry have appeared in the following publications — Georgia Review, College English, Georgia Magazine, The Phoenix, South Atlantic Quarterly, and others.

To our favorite bachelor we say, " 'God Bless You' too, Dean England."

Helpful Dean England patronized every organization at the Mardi Gras carnival.

RAIN SONG

(After Robert Loveman)

It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining soggy clothes,
And in each turgid drop I see
Limp trousers at my toes.

Send winter rain to China Sea,
Keep April floods in Spain,
And let my days all summer be Without summer's rain.

I feel the rain in nasal ills
And in arthritic knee,
It isn't raining daffodils
It's raining rain to me.

george m. sparks

On October 29, 1958 Dr. George McIntosh Sparks became a legend. He died in his sleep early on a Wednesday morning at his daughters home in Tryon, N. C. The college closed Friday, October 31 for the funeral.

Dr. Sparks had retired as president of Georgia State on July 1, 1955. This "master builder" of Georgia State had served the college as founder, builder, and director for 29 years.

The city of Atlanta, by proclamation of Mayor William B. Hartsfield, declared May 29, 1958 "George M. Sparks Day."

Dr. Sparks was honored in many ways. He said at the publications banquet that the dedication of the 1957 Rampway to him meant more than the many other honors he had received.

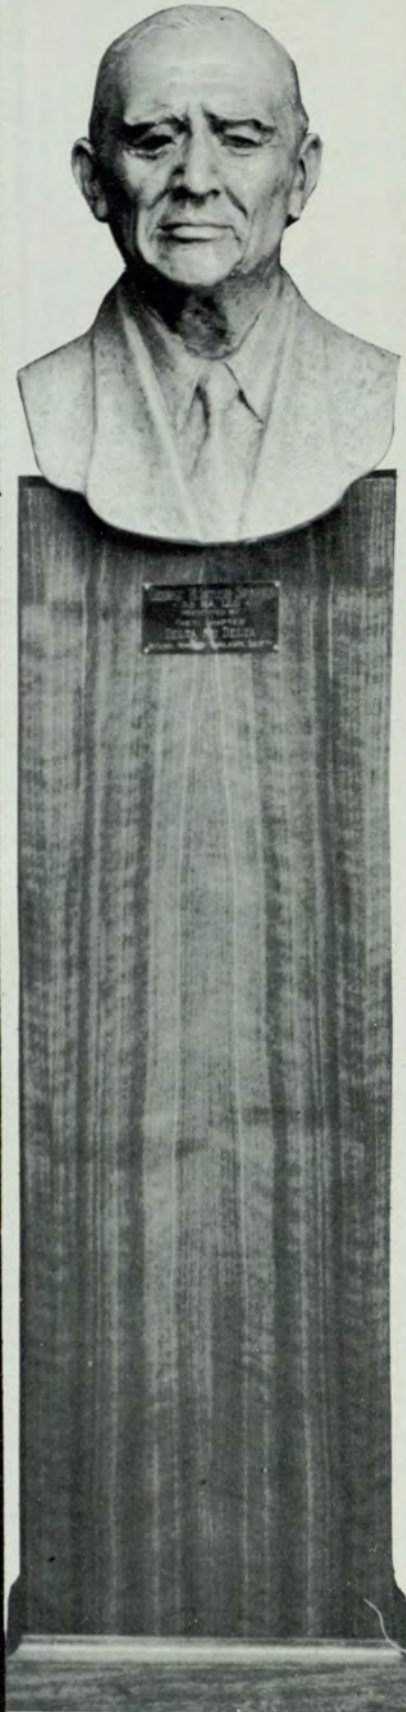

Dr. Sparks' influence and personality have been the inspiration of three decades of students. A senior leader said, "I consider him the only truly great man I have ever known." Dr. Sparks, a pioneer, saw his dream become a reality. His foresight is responsible for Georgia State as it exists today.

Dr. Sparks' long and successful career began with his first job in a livery stable. He held cigars in a hotel lobby, became physical director of the YMCA. He was a reporter on the Macon Telegraph, taught journalism at Mercer University, and was in charge of journalism and publicity at Georgia Tech.

At Tech he convinced Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Tech, to let him take over the night school department of commerce. The students were serious-minded young people from offices and factories in the city. It was losing $15,000 a year, but Dr. Sparks wanted it anyway. He said, "The students there are different. They yearn for knowledge. They know where they are going. They are a challenge."

The college began as Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce. It became Georgia Evening College, Georgia Junior College and in 1947 the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia. Under Dr. Sparks direction the enrollment went from 43 to over 5500.

He retired as president of Georgia State College and became president emeritus. He was active in other affairs after this retirement. He was public relations director in Atlanta for Ida Cason Callaway Foundation, a summer resort near Chipley, Georgia and president of the state YMCA.

Dr. Sparks was also working with a committee toward establishing the Atlanta Baptist College. He was chairman of the teacher retirement board, member of the Fulton County Welfare Board, and a member of the Board for Battle Hill Haven, a home for the aged.

He was a family man with religious convictions and civic responsibility all his life.

His funeral was at the First Baptist Church of Atlanta. Dr. Roy O. McClain, pastor, and Dr. William Suttles, Dean of Students at Georgia State, officiated.

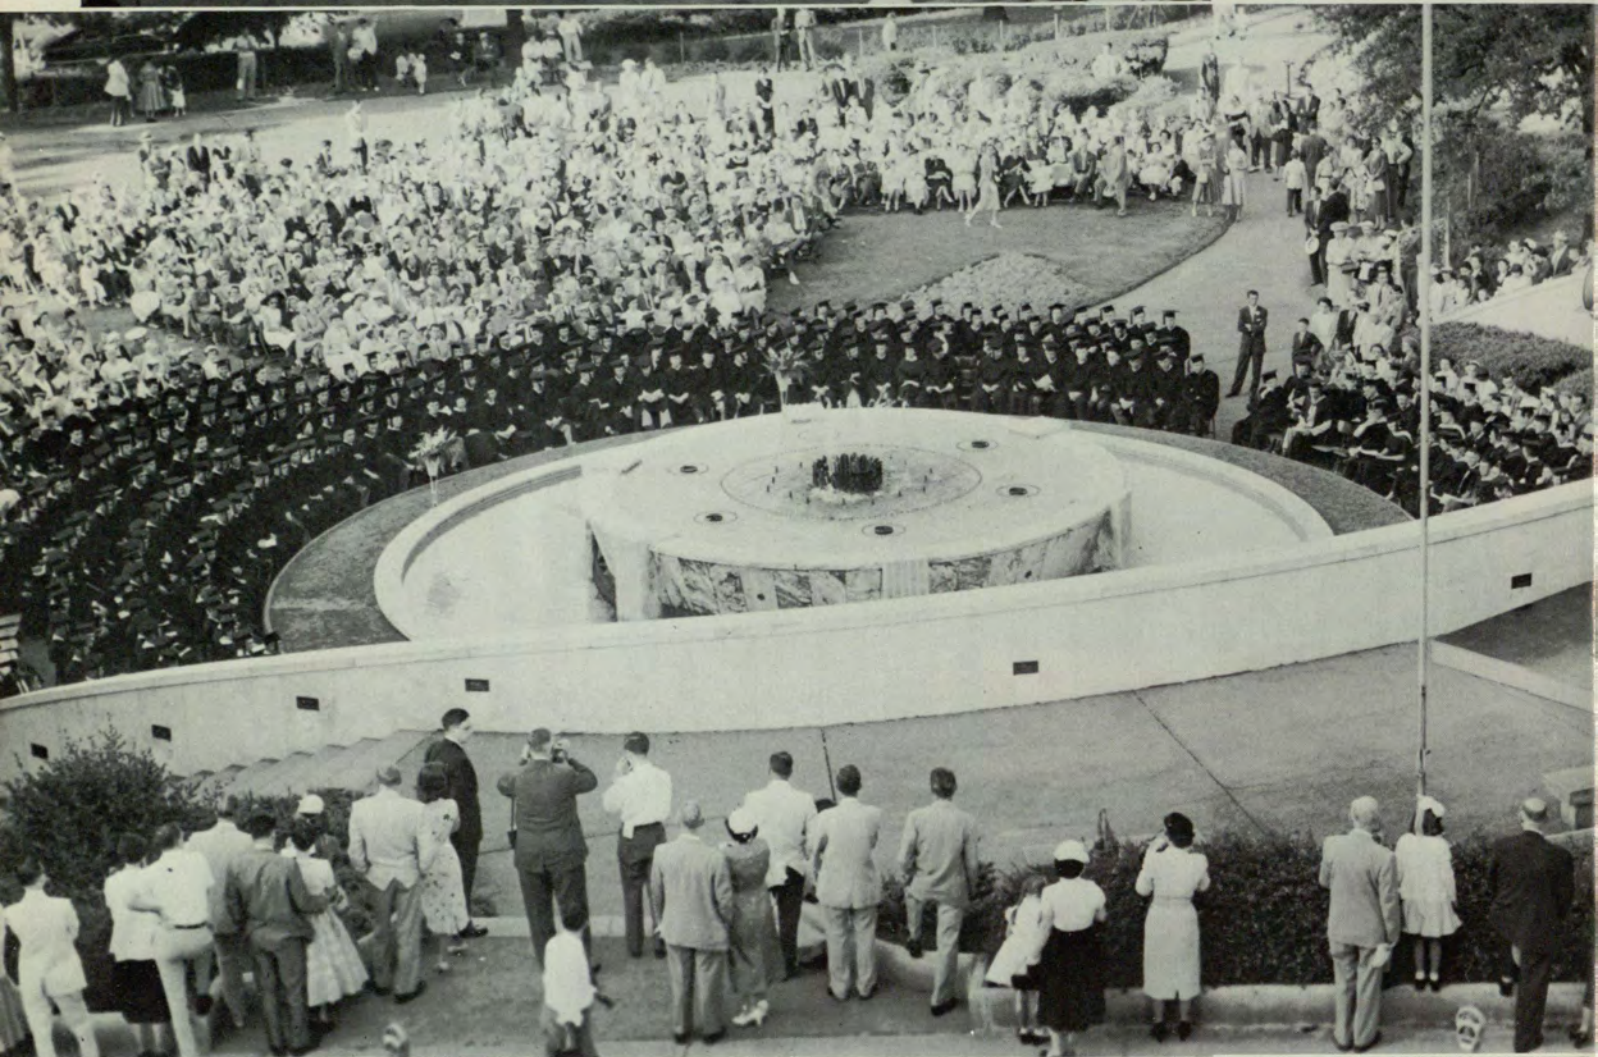

Dr. Sparks will live on in the hearts of those who knew him. The history and tradition he leaves behind will live forever.

"The Old"

"The New"

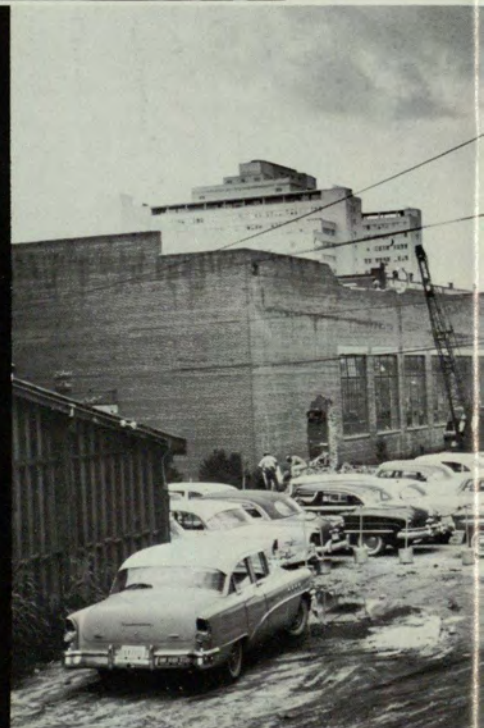

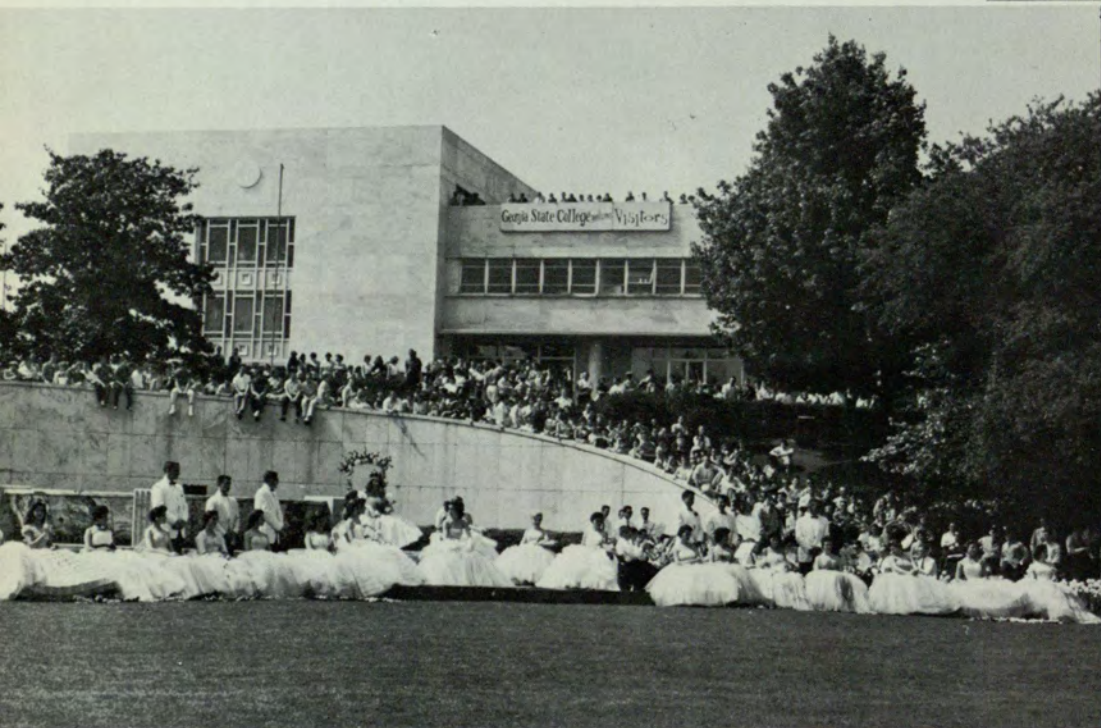

This year an almost unheralded milestone was passed by Georgia State College. The 1959 graduation marked the first class to have the opportunity of completing a four year course of study at the college since it was made a separate institution.

To these graduates the past four years have been filled with memories to last a lifetime, but to all the students in Georgia State's future, these years will be significant. This has been our transitional era and has set the pattern for students in the years to come.

This class had the privilege of knowing Dr. George M. Sparks, the college's former president who retired in 1957 after 29 years of service to the college. He was one of our most devoted servants who established the foundation for the memorable events of the past four years.

Our college has made its own place in the world of higher education. It has grown from a converted parking garage to the two and one-half million dollar building it expanded to in 1955. This year's graduates were among the new students attending the first completely air conditioned classroom building in the South.

Soon after acquisition of a new home, the school demanded and received its well deserved independence. The child that the University of Georgia had adopted gained with its freedom a new title, Georgia State College of Business Administration.

These past students saw a new institution, wide-eyed and newly on its own, take hold of its situation in the midst of the tall buildings that form the city of Atlanta and declare it to be its campus.

The addition of individual chapter rooms for the sororities and fraternities made quite an alteration in the school "campus" life. This was an answer to their plea for houses and has stimulated the competitive spirit of the organizations. The organizations have just in the past four years been able to take their rightful place at the lead of the college social life.

This class has observed the steady improvement of the Indian Creek Lodge. The high fidelity, bowling alleys, and swimming pool make the "suburban campus" ideal for social events and entertainment of many types.

Noah Langdale, Jr., of Valdosta State College was appointed President in 1957 to succeed Dr. Sparks. We have seen him step in and successfully take up the task of Georgia State's final steps toward maturity.

During the summer of 1958, a new presidential residence was bought by the Board of Regents. The President and his wife invite the students and organizations to use the Tuxedo Road home.

The last of the outstanding events witnessed by this year's graduating class was of course the recent addition of the new degrees. After many years of working toward a liberal arts program, the Board of Regents authorized the college to offer the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Business Administration degrees.

This college is now the largest unit in the University system of Georgia, the largest business administration school in the South, and the sixth largest in the nation. This year's seniors have seen this change and have indeed been witnesses of our transitional era.

Time out from orientation for some punch.

orientation begins the year

After registration three days of orientation were planned to inform the freshmen of Georgia State. Speeches about almost everything in the College were heard by the new students. The organizations were discussed, and the college leaders conducted tours of the buildings. The freshmen participated in a question and answer session, took placement tests, and learned how to use the library.

President and Mrs. Langdale held a reception at the new presidential home on Tuxedo Road. The climax of orientation events was the "Get Acquainted" dance in the student lounge.

So this is where President Langdale lives. The "Get Acquainted" dance welcomed all.

registration-again and again

College pains begin with the line after line of registration. Arranging a schedule is a problem but finding an advisor can be worse. A little lost freshman has trouble finding the next line. Closed classes worry everyone.

You wonder which professor requires a term paper. Then after it is all over you still wonder —who will my classmates be?

Vim, Vigor, and Vitality . . . at the first.

Advisement is only one of the many steps.

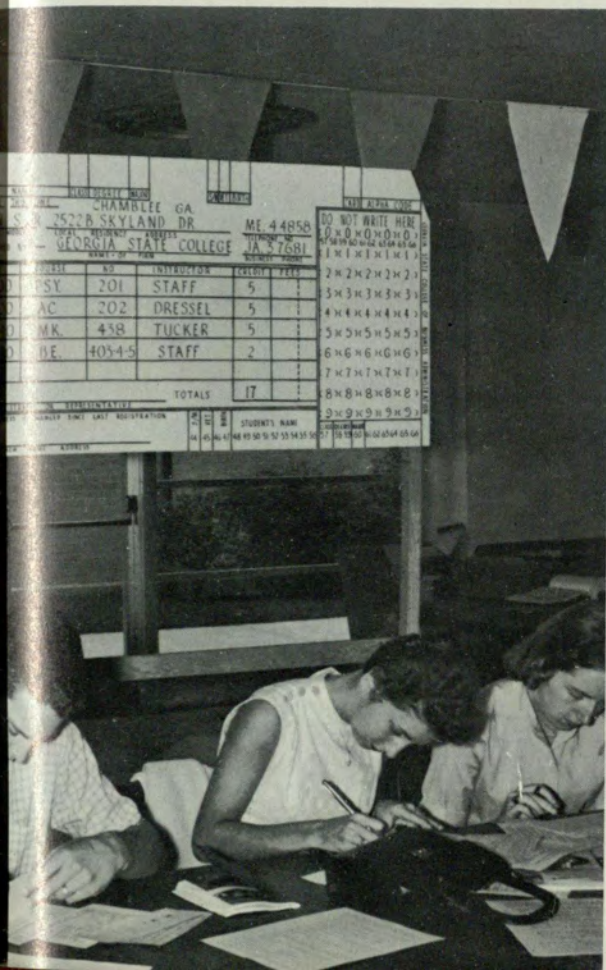

You're now officially a freshman.

And What's this line?

Kappa Theta had a tea.

And Pat Richardson entertains.

A very exciting part of college life is the rush season. It's also the busiest time of the year for the new freshmen rushees and the sorority members.

About 175 girls signed up for the rush parties in the day and evening sororities. They begin with a rotating ice water tea when the rushees visit each chapter room. A 10:00 break party and one evening party was given by each of the national sororities in the Stone Mountain room. The last party—the preferential—was held away from school.

There were many unusual themes with the decorations, costumes, skits and refreshments to carry them out. Some were — Anchors Aweigh, Toyland Tea, Circus, Angel and Devil, Hawaiian, Rose Formal, Dreamland, Sputnik, and Chemise Tea.

The supervision of sororities and the rush parties is under the direction of the Panhellenic Council and Mrs. Nelle H. Trotter, Dean of Women.

Fraternity rush parties begin with Smokers at the 10:00 break. Friendly coeds, who rush for their favorite fraternity, are a great attraction for the new freshmen boys. For this reason mainly, the fraternity rush period begins after the sororities have completed pledging.

Regulations by the Interfraternity Council on the fraternity rush are not as strict as on the sororities. Other than the Smokers the parties are held away from the College. The fraternities use the country clubs, Venetian, the American Legion, Elks Club, and Meadowbrook.

Wild West and Viking parties were some of the themes used.

Events of the evening began with the banquet in the student lounge. Robert O. Arnold, chairman of the Board of Regents, was the guest speaker. Buddy Bair's band played for the dance at the city auditorium.

Members of the Queen's Court were Joyce Pickett, "Pooh" Richardson, Jane Blankenship, Loraine McCord, Beverly DeLoach, all members of Delta Zeta, and Anne Emmert, independent. Kappa Sigma won first in decorations of flats. The Rampway and Delta Zeta tied for second.

mardi gras

Cotton candy, candied apples, and teddy bears put Georgia State into the Mardi Gras spirit each year.

The carnival on Friday night with its concessions "sometimes" is a money-making project for the organizations. Can-can dancing girls, pie throw, penny-toss, cake walk, dart throwing, and wheel of fortune are some of the activities going on.

The Saturday night dance is highlighted by the crowning of the King and Queen of Mardi Gras. The winners this year—sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi—were Louise McClain, a Delta Zeta, and Don Mitcham, a Sigma Alpha Nu. They were chosen by popular vote of the student body. TED ANDREWS
President

Sword and Shield military fraternity was organized at Georgia State in 1951, to institute among the basic and advanced cadets a closer, more amiable relationship. Any ROTC cadet having attained a scholastic average of C and a military average of C plus is eligible for membership.

Sword and Shield's outstanding social function is the Military Ball which they co-sponsor.

Ted Andrews is president; Gerald Kemper, secretary; and Dave Blair is treasurer.

basketball

Coach Herbert "Stoney" Burgess' Georgia State Panthers began the 1958 season by defeating North Georgia College 67-66 in their opening game. Hampered by the fact that Georgia State offers no scholarships to athletes participating in sports, the Panthers still maintain a good showing at all times. After being handed a 95-57 verdict by Tennessee-Weslyan in Athens, Tennessee, the Panthers obtained revenge with a 72-58 throttling of the Mountaineers in Atlanta.

Led by Frank Daherty, Gene Powell and Jerry Birdsong, Georgia State was well represented in height, while Glenn Morgan, Pete Reed and Bill Boland hit consistently from outside. The lack of depth and a gym in which to practice were Georgia State's chief deficits.

Last season under Coach Francis J. Bridges was the netmen's best year, and marked one of the most successful athletic campaigns in the history of the school. The Panthers ended the season with a ten-three won loss record and held a win over a S.E.C. team, the University of Alabama in intercollegiate athletic competition.

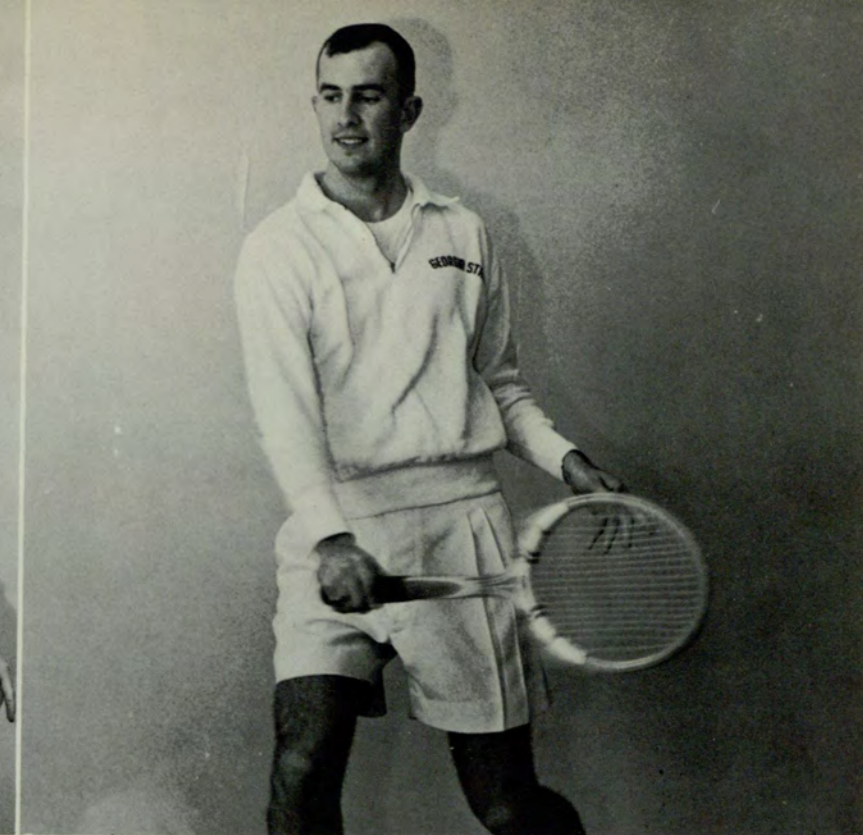

Led by Captain Al Griffith and Co-Captain Bob Clark, the Panthers had strength at each position, and every victory was a team effort. Don Hankinson did an outstanding job as number one man, followed by Herb Kumbein, Wilt Straley, Al Griffith and Bob Clark with Marcus Strickland and Pat McGlon alternating at number six position. Roger Jones, a previous letterman and Mel Little rounded out the squad.

This year's outlook isn't as bright as that of last, due to the loss of three lettermen and the addition of a new and tougher schedule.

The cheerleaders are the backbone of the spirit at Georgia State. The girls cheer at basketball games, lead pep rallies in assembly, and advertise forthcoming games.

Each year candidates are chosen on the basis of their ability, vitality, appearance, and attitude.

In addition to her many other duties, Miss Jane Hart sponsors and supervises the girls.

Pooh Richardson is the captain of the 1959 cheerleaders.

"Georgia State says 'Hi' to you!"

Pooh:
"Everybody ready?"

Jane:
"Panthers, Panthers we're on our way."

Annette:
"So come on Panthers, Fight!"

Pepper:
"You say you're going to win, hey-yea."

Lucy:
"Have ya got that spirit?"

Carol:
"Another victory for the Red & Gray."

golf

During the 1958 season, the Georgia State College golf team competed in matches with the University of Georgia, the University of Chattanooga, West Georgia College, Alabama Polytechnic Institute and Mercer University. The team also participated in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Athens, Georgia. The golfers climaxed the season with two wins and six losses. Student interest for golf has increased from year to year.

pi kappa phi takes football crown

There was always a crowd of interested spectators at the intra-fraternity football games.

Lewis Furr discusses the last play with Fuzzy Kruz.

The 1958 inter-fraternity football season came to a close with Pi Kappa Phi the champions. It was their victory against the Kappa Sigmas that provided them with the championship. The Pi Kappa Phis began slowly by tying two games, but finished strongly with an undefeated season.

The competition was keen this year, more so than seasons in the past. Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon tied for second. Pi Alpha had won the championship the last two years.

This year's intramural program was well supported by the students, and many considered it the best season in the college's history.

Allen Johnson captures one from Ed Tinnerman.

Allen Johnson snags one while Johnny Cowart takes a rest.

"I'll get 'em." Mike McCory heads off Hugh Tankersley.

Bit Aiken takes touchdown pass to make Pi Kappa Phi I. F. C. Champs.

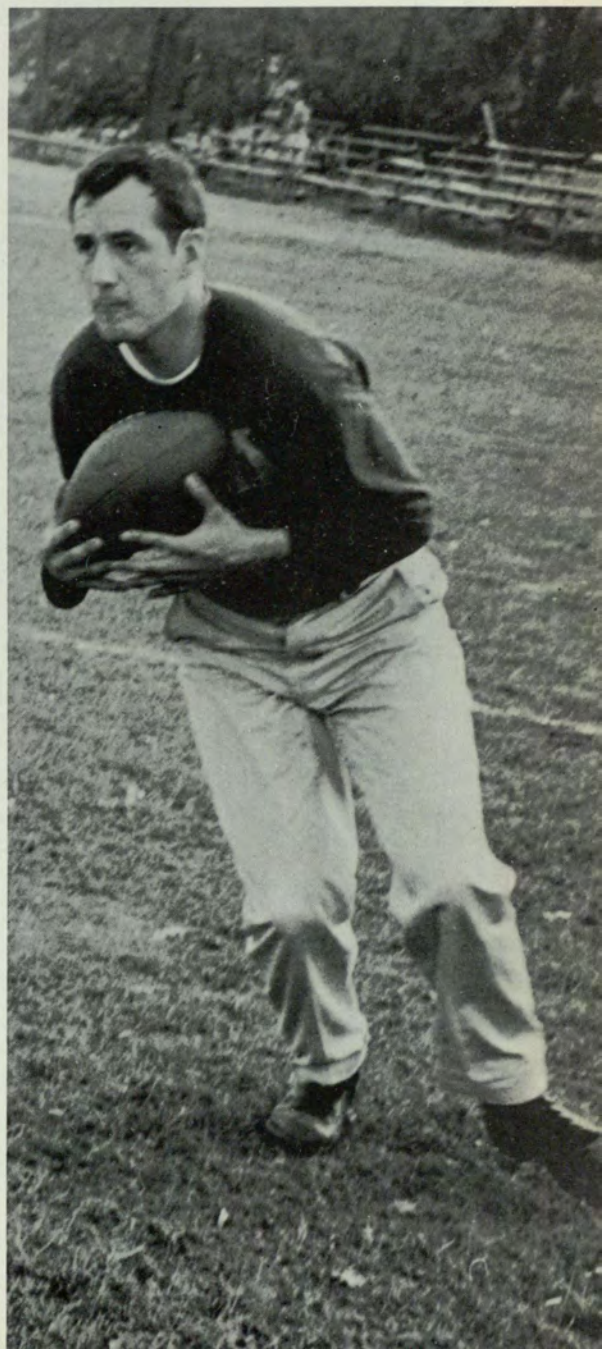

"I'm going to make a clean sweep of things." Kenny Britt runs around the end.

"Fancy footwork". Pat McGlon wiggles around the end.

Ken Attaway knocks a pass out of the hands of Jerry Holland.

Sigma Phi Epsilon's Dudley Barnes tries a one-handed jump shot from outside the key-hole.

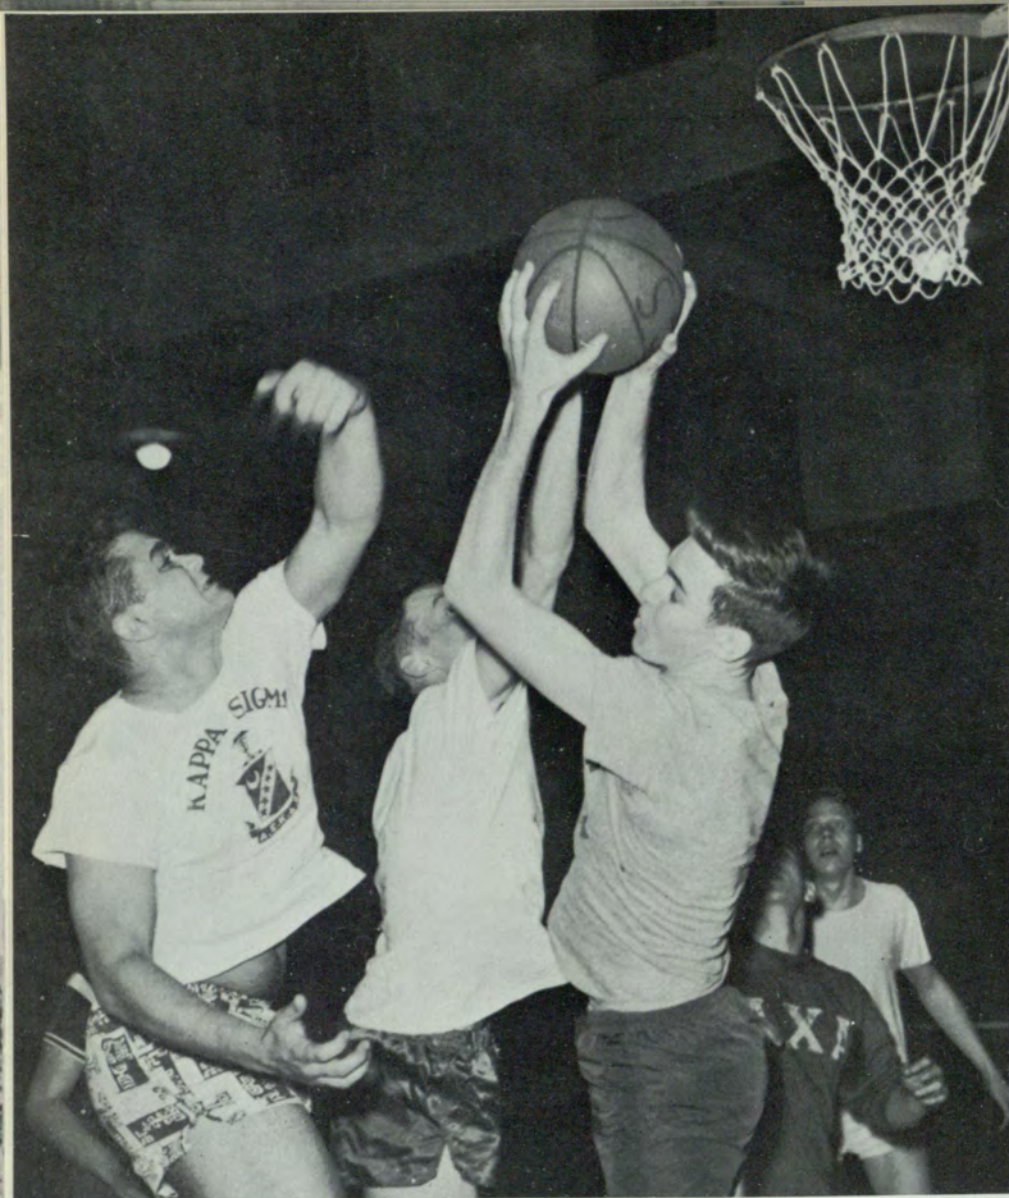

Everybody is after that loose ball in the S.P.E., Phi Kappa Phi clash held on Fulton High School's hardwood.

Pi Alpha's Pat McGlon is caught "charging" teammate Rantz Townsend.

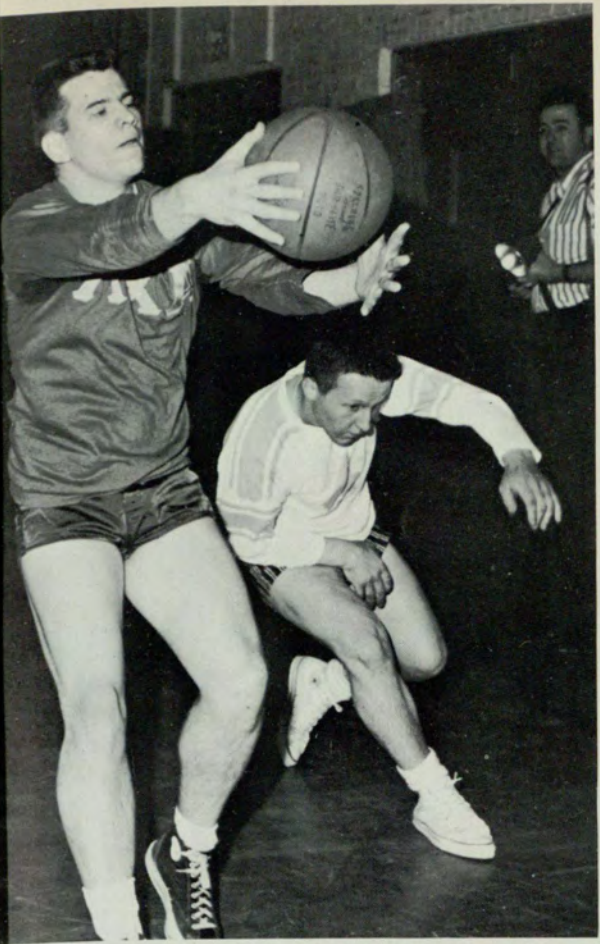

Walter Fountain drives in with a lay-up shot for Pi Alpha as two discouraged S.P.E.'s look on.

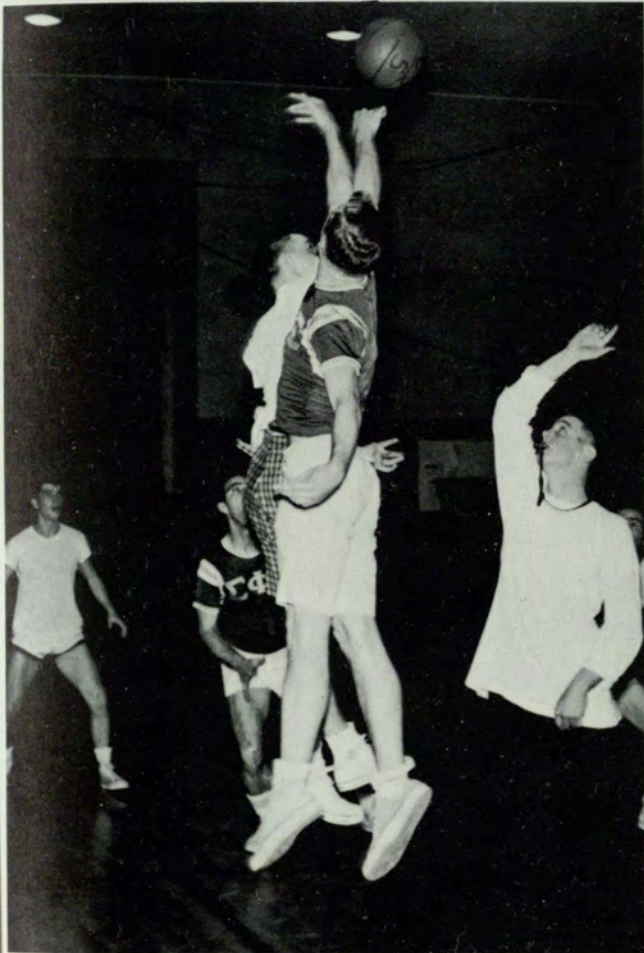

Jim Mikel, Kappa Sig swats at ball being held by Claude Lee in Kappa Sig, Pi Kappa Phi encounter.

Jimmy Stone, Charlie Roper and Bob Coleman watch as S.P.E. makes good on a shot from underneath basket.

Ken Britt grabs rebound for Pi Kappa Phi while Gerald Purser, Kappa Sig, dodges. Bennett Collins, ace photographer, looks on.

Jimmy Stone, (far left) wonders just who tapped this ball in Pi Kappa Phi, S.P.E. game. Sigma Phi Epsilon came up with team that took I.F.C. trophy for basketball in '59.

The referee tosses one at the centerline and the game is on in another I.F.C. basketball game.

who's who in american colleges and universities

Thirty-eight Georgia State students received the honor of being selected to represent the college in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" for 1959. These students were selected for this honor by the General Council and the Dean of Students. Requirements for those selected were: a junior or senior standing; an average of C or better, and participation in extra-curricular activities.

The number of students selected from a college depends upon the total enrollment of the college. The students selected for "Who's Who" receive a key, and their names are printed in the "Who's Who" volume which is sent to leading business concerns throughout the country.

Delta Sigma Pi, founded in 1907 at New York University, has 100 chapters and over 42,000 members. Georgia State's Kappa Chapter was founded in 1921. Membership in Delta Sigma Pi is for students regularly enrolled in the School of Business Administration by invitation. It is considered to be one of the professional fraternities in the field of business and commerce. Kappa Chapter has a record number of excellent ratings in the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi efficiency contest.

Professional meetings are held monthly at which outstanding guest speakers are invited to promote a closer tie between business students and the commercial world. Industrial tours are arranged to acquaint its members with business in operation. Social activities of varying types are scheduled at frequent intervals. In these and other ways, Delta Sigma Pi encouraged and emphasizes scholarship.

baptist student union

PAT McGLON
President

The Baptist Student Union at Georgia State strives to promote the religious growth and spiritual development of individual students; to provide an attractive program of organized Baptist religious work for the campus; to include all Baptist students and religious organizations on campus in one co-ordinated program; and to interpret the work of all boards and agencies of the denomination, as it should be understood and appreciated by students.

The Baptist students at Georgia State realize that even in their busy college life they must take time out for prayer and guidance. The BSU is student-led, church-related, and Christ-centered.

wesley foundation

The meetings, the outings, and the planning sessions of the Wesley Foundation create a feeling of closeness and good fellowship as the members of the Wesley Foundation carry out the aims of the organization which are:

"(1) To maintain Christian fellowship and activity for all Methodist students at Georgia State College.

"(2) To cooperate with the State Methodist Student Movement, the United Student Christian Council, and the World Student Christian Federation.

"(3) To promote the work of the Methodist Church at Georgia State College."

Rev. Sam Laird, Jack Youngblood, Jeanne Craig, Pam Blackshear, Ann Bass, and Dr. Cook.

The weekly pause in their academic schedule for spiritual refreshment has helped the Wesley Foundation to grow "in wisdom and in stature."

players

For several years the Players have been providing admission-free entertainment for Georgia State College students, faculty, their families and friends.

During the current year, the Players presented three three-act plays under the able direction of Mr. James E. Sligh. The first of these was "The Male Animal."

Also, members of this organization participated in one-act plays in cooperation with Alpha Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Society. These plays were directed by students with the assistance of Mr. Sligh. Productions were presented at assemblies, on television, and in the Little Theatre.

Fall Quarter Players production was "The Male Animal".

The yearbook of Georgia State is named for the ramps in the halls of the Ivy Street building. That building was once a parking garage. Therefore, "The Rampway" is the official name of the college annual.

For the first time in ten years, individual pictures of all classes have been used. Also, for the first time, major staff members have received small salaries.

The staff members have tried to record the year's events in pictures and word for you to remember and enjoy this year of your life in the future.

BREECE CRAWFORD
President

Breece Crawford, Joy Lumbard and Judy Collins at the Sweetheart Ball.

ΣΦΕ won the basketball championship.

Georgia Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon was installed at Georgia State College on May 21, 1958. Sigma Phi Epsilon seeks to maintain those lofty ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, literature, and fraternalism.

In addition to various social events throughout the year, Sigma Phi Epsilon has an annual Sweetheart Ball in May, and a Mothers Appreciation Banquet. The fraternity helps to support outdoor summer camps for underprivileged children. During the 1957-1958 school year, Sigma Phi Epsilon won first place in the IFC Sing during Greek Week. The fraternity has also won second place in IFC football for three consecutive years.
