Nineteen Hundred Sixty-four marks the close of the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary Year. In these first pages, which seek to highlight the history of the College, the RAMPWAY honors the memory of those who, in the first half-century, contributed to its growth and development. We cherish these years as a foundation laid for the bright future. OVER

HEARS

Our school was first referred to as "Kell School of Accounting," then as "Evening School" of the Georgia School of Technology. By the late 1920's it was called "Georgia School of Technology, Evening School of Commerce," but commonly referred to as "Tech Evening School of Commerce."

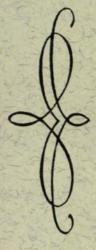

In 1933, the name became "University System of Georgia, Evening School Commerce." It was also referred to as "Atlanta Extension Center." Another unit was housed in the 223 Walton Street Building—the Division of General Extension, of which Dr. J. C. Wardlaw was Director. Each unit, however, was autonomous.

After day classes were added in the middle '30's these were designated "Atlanta Junior College" and the Evening classes were called "Georgia Evening College." Both were part of the University System of Georgia Center in the building at 162 Luckie Street, where also the Georgia Public Forums, headed by Miss Emily Woodward, and other state agencies were housed.

The name was changed to "Atlanta Division, University of Georgia," in 1947 in an effort to get the program accredited by regional and national accrediting agencies. It so remained until 1955, when permission was given to change the name to "Georgia State College of Business of Administration." Later, since the Arts and Sciences School's programs developed so rapidly, permission was asked to change the name to "Georgia State College," which was granted December 13, 1961.

LEADERSHIP ...

Mr. Kell, who taught in the Chemistry Department, Georgia School of Technology, was interested in Accounting. He was appointed by President Matheson and the Trustees, to take charge of the evening classes "in the new science of Business," the idea of which was the thought of F. M. Fambrough, Alumni president.

Wayne Sailley Kell, Director, 1913-1918

Classes commenced in the old Chemistry Building Basement, with an enrollment count of 47; but later, by request of the students, Governor Nat E. Harris, Chairman, Board of Trustees, permitted them to be located downtown, and quarters were found in the Walton Building.

The first graduating class had seven members, it was the Class of '16. The peak enrollment in those years was 159, in the year 1917-18. Mr. Kell, who had become the third C.P.A. in Georgia, resigned to open his own business; later he became a vice President of The Coca Cola Company.

Mr. Kell realized his desire to see the classes co-educational, as Mrs. Annie T. Wise, the first woman student, was permitted to enroll in 1917, graduating in 1920.

John Madison Watters, Director (1918-25)

Fred B. Wenn, Director (1925-28)

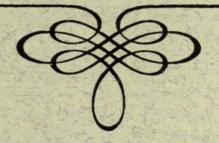

Professor John Madison Watters, Dean, School of Commerce, Georgia School of Technology, was made Director of the Evening College upon the resignation of Professor Wayne S. Kell, founder and first director. Called "a hard-working, dedicated man," Dean Watters saw the infant college through the World War I days, and through the "doldrums" of the '20's. The enrollment was 150 when he assumed his duties as Director, and reached a peak of 440 in 1922-23.

Professor Watters resigned to teach in the Middle West, at the end of the school year of 1925.

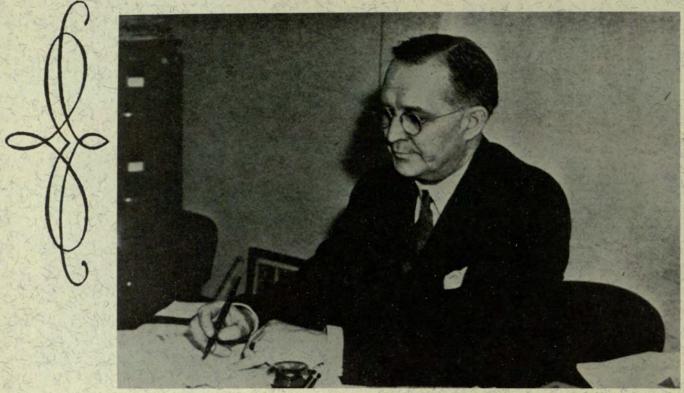

Mr. Fred B. Wenn, professor in the School of Commerce, Georgia School of Technology, became the third Director of the College in 1925, upon appointment by President M. L. Brittain. He had earned the Bachelor of Commercial Science degree at New York University.

The Technite, first school newspaper, was started during his administration in Journalism classes by George M. Sparks. This newspaper, under several names during several cycles of college life, is now known as The Signal.

Mr. Wenn resigned at the end of the academic year of 1928, to devote full time to his teaching on the day campus.

LEADERSHIP

George McIntosh Sparks, Director, 1928-55, President, 1955-57, President Emeritus 1957-58.

George McIntosh Sparks spent his mature manhood in dedicated effort to develop this College. When he was appointed to head the College by Dr. M. L. Brittain in 1928, although Mr. Wenn had promoted the enrollment to a peak of 480, it was still housed in rented quarters, and had a small student body; its faculty was part-time; its student activities were unorganized; it had no library.

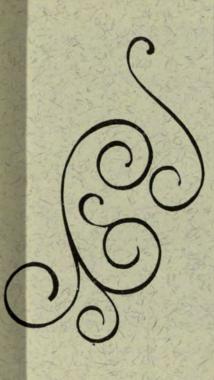

His public relations training in the newspaper world enabled him to know how to talk to and with people; his naturally good disposition, pleasant smile, and diplomatic way of working with people were personal assets which gave him the springboard to develop one after another—the College Properties from one building to seven-eights of a downtown city block containing three large buildings—24 Ivy Building, 23 Gilmer Street Building and an Auditorium-Gymnasium. In addition he acquired for the College several parcels of property on Courtland and Decatur Streets, and on Piedmont Avenue, in addition to a country acreage of around twenty acres near Stone Mountain, known as Indian Creek Lodge.

He saw the College reach a peak enrollment of over 6,000 students in one quarter in the early '50's. He extended the value of College property from around $40,000 to $10,000,000. This he did upon his own initiative, planning, and his ability to interest others to help.

For many years he had to depend on a part time faculty. It was not until the middle '30's that the college income was sufficient to gather a full-time faculty nucleus of Dr. Elmer G. Campbell, Dr. Carl Mauelshagen, Dr. James Routh, Dr. Louis N. LeConte and Dr. R. R. Hollingsworth.

Dr. Sparks died of a heart attack in 1958. The 33 Gilmer Street Building was renamed "Sparks Hall" and a "Shining Light" Award to his memory was presented on Oct. 29, 1963.

"He was not of an age, but for all time."

Noah Noel Langdale, Jr. President; 1957 to Present

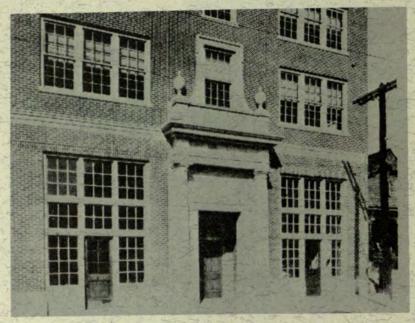

The second President of Georgia State College earned significant achievement at the University of Alabama where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, other honor societies, and received the Outstanding Student Award in 1941 from the Panhellenic Council. There he played football four years and was on the victorious Cotton Bowl team that same year, 1941. After being graduated he served as assistant to the athletic coach while doing graduate work in law school, but in 1942, he went into the Navy. Having had ROTC in college, in Coast Artillery training, he became an ensign. He went through a V-5 program at the University of North Carolina, and was sent to the University of Georgia as an instructor in Naval Subjects.

He served actively in the Navy during the war. At the war's end he was officer in charge of NATS in Manila. He left the Navy not long after the war's end; entered Harvard University Law School. After graduation with an LL.B. in 1948, he attended Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration where he earned the M.B.A. degree. In 1959, after two years as President of Georgia State College, the University of Alabama awarded him the honorary LL.D.

He has done much in his seven years as President of Georgia State College. First, he made a plan, which he is implementing with permission of the Regents, in acquiring the large residue of business property not owned already by the College in the two city blocks bounded by Gilmer, Ivy, Decatur streets and Piedmont Avenue. Second, he has strengthened the faculty and programs of college as the College now offers: Doctor of Busines Administration, Master of Business Administration, Master of Business Education, Master of Actuarial Science, and Master of Professional Accountancy. The Arts and Science programs have been expanded to Bachelor Degrees and Master Degrees. Also he has carried to many parts of the Nation and even to European Countries information and knowledge of Georgia State College.

This man then, as solid and massive in his vision as in the frame work of his body, can be relied upon as a "Modern Ajax" to bear with buoyance the future of Georgia State College.

HIOMIES...

1931-1938, 223 Walton St.—First Owned Building

Nine sites housed the College from its beginning to the mid-century mark of its history. The first classes were held in the basement of the old Chemistry Building on the Campus of Georgia School of Technology.

Rented locations at the following sites were the next four quarters.

1913-1917: Three rooms in the Walton Building

1917-1921: Four Rooms, Arcade Building

1921-1926: Third floor attic of five rooms, 18 Auburn Avenue.

1926-1931: Six rooms, 921/2 Forsyth St.

Old "Sheltering Arms" Home Remodeled for Tech Evening School.

During the last years before 1931, overflow students were housed by Ivan Allen, Sr., in his empty Spring St. Building, and Fred Moore in empty offices in the new Rhodes-Haverty Building, free of charge.

Detail of Entrance to 223 Walton Street Building.

Nineteen rooms with a roof garden, coffee shop, laboratories, classrooms, school office and lounge area was the gift of Robert R. Johnson, President, Campbell Coal Company, who headed the Building Committee. His Atlanta business friends donated materials to remodel the old "Sheltering Arms" home.

1938-1946 162 Luckie Street Building

The old square U-shaped Georgia Baptist Hospital, on the corner of Luckie and Techwood, was purchased in 1938 for the mounting enrollments of day and evening classes. Its fifty rooms, remodeled into classrooms, chemistry and other laboratories, library, assembly room, clinic, penthouse for the Art Department of that day and student recreation areas also used for indoor sports, wiped out all traces of the former hospital. Its court-yard, enclosed with brick wall and lighted grillwork gate, was used not only for an approach to the terrace at the entrance, and for sunning on warm, clear days, but furnished the setting for formal occasions such as the Junior College graduation, and was used by classes in Physical Education. The W.P.A., courtesy of the late Governor Eugene Talmadge, helped in the remodeling processes, and student labor excavated the left wing ground floor area into a recreation center, small refectory, and rifle range added during World War II.

Purchased in 1945, and in use presently, this six-story combination office and garage building originally contained 187,700 square feet. The sixth floor was extended and a seventh story added later. Of brick and reinforced concrete, the back was constructed in eleven levels connected with double patented ramps. An elevator and stairway connected the six main floors.

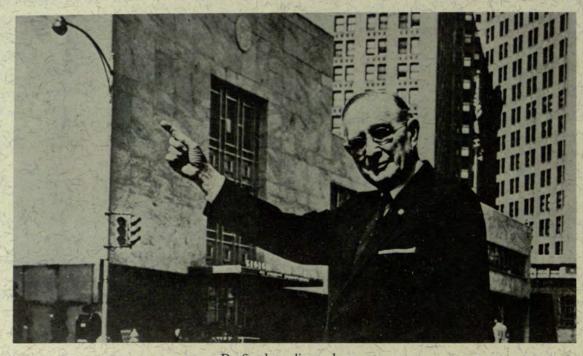

To finance the purchase of the building, Dr. Sparks borrowed $600,000 in unrestricted trust funds from the State Auditor at four per cent, with the Regents' permission, who also authorized the purchase of the garage office building. To complete the transaction legally they authorized the organization of three corporations with Dr. Sparks as President of each; one to liquidate the assets of the garage, one to operate the office building, and one to take over the other two corporations.

The first classroom finished was on the first immediate level (space now occupied by Alpha Phi and Zeta Tau Alpha Sororities) and was occupied several weeks before others by a class in Mathematics taught by W. C. Cantrell.

Dr. Sparks realizes a dream

1955-present—33 Gilmer Street Building renamed: Sparks Hall

Students, faculty, and many friends dreamed along together with Dr. Sparks in the plan of a completely new building for the College. First, the dream was envisioned as a fourteen-story H-shaped building with bell-tower. But the reality, at last put on the drawing boards, and approved by the Regents, became the multi-purpose College building, on the corner of Gilmer and Courtland St.; four stories housing an executive suite, deans' and other offices, a clinic, cafeteria, student lounge, conference room, bookstore, classrooms and library. Called at first 33 Gilmer Street Building, it was renamed "Sparks Hall" by action of the Board of Regents, June 8, 1960, and a bronze tablet placed near the entrance lobby speaks of the commemoration.

Dr. Sparks had to fight to obtain the land on which to build the 33 Gilmer Street Building. The City had earmarked this property for the Fire Signal Station. With much maneuvering and diplomacy Dr. Sparks obtained the property for the Regents, and the Fire Signal Station was erected across the street.

In 1953, Governor Herman E. Talmadge broke the ground for the new building, but it was not until 1955 that the building was ready for occupancy. Since then both the 24 Ivy Street and the 33 Gilmer Street Building have been in use.

Class in Sparks Hall

Student Lounge in the late '50's

A country campus of around twenty acres was purchased as a recreational area in the late '30's when the College was located at 162 Luckie Street; many classes and organizations have enjoyed outings there—square dances, weiner roasts; picnics; swimming or tennis.

Miss Julia Sparks, Dr. Sparks' sister, served as hostess for many years without compensation.

The property was bought with profits from students' purchases in the refectory, and donations from classes improved the premises. In recent years several families have hosted the Lodge, including the Jack Stone family, the Herbert Burgess family, and the Bob Pattillo family.

Indian Creek Lodge

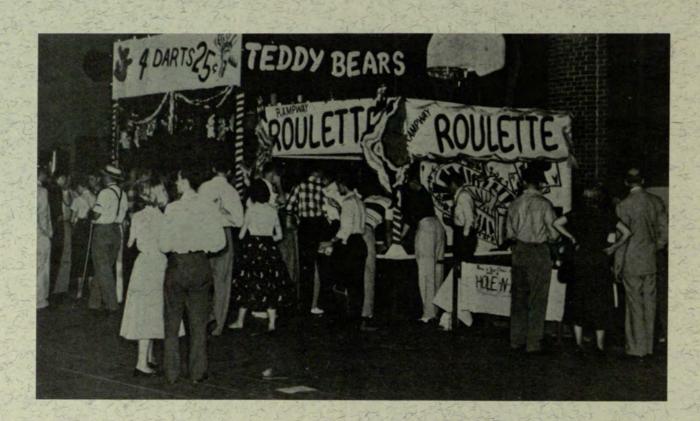

President's Home

This spacious home at 3807 Tuxedo Road, N.W., was purchased by the Regents for the President's use following the appointment of Noah N. Langdale, Jr., to that position in 1957.

Faculty and students gather here for receptions and other social occasions presided over by Dr. Langdale and his gracious wife.

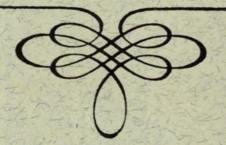

Homecoming, first referred to as such in the writings about the College, had its beginning in the annual banquets and dinners held since 1916, but with more formality after 1928.

The first Homecoming was held in the Georgia Baptist Church dining hall. To this, Alumni were invited. Other Homecomings through the years were held at Davison's Tearoom, Georgian Terrace Hotel, Atlanta Athletic Club, Shrine Mosque, and in the 1940's, after the College Auditorium-Gymnasium was built, in it. After the 33 Gilmer Street Building was equipped with the spacious Student Lounge, Homecoming has been held therein, with the dignitaries, alumni and faculty, students and friends attending the gala fall affair.

Mardi Gras, first held in 1951, is an outgrowth of carnivals held during the late '40's. The Midway transformed corridors and ramps and refectory with teddy bear target shooting and candied apples.

Spring festivals began in the late 1930's when the Atlanta Junior College functioned for day students. This May Day, usually held at Indian Creek Lodge, featured outdoor games, a picnic lunch, with the climax of a program centering around the crowning of the Queen, who with her Court presided over the more formal aspects of the program.

addition, evening student teams from various organizations played basketball and other sports, competing with each other. Soon the program expanded to competition with other teams in Atlanta. Wrestling, boxing, and bowling were taught, but tennis also had a place as a major interest. Don Floyd, a crack tennis player, was a student and a coach and he brought recognition to the program.

When Herbert Burgess came as Instructor in Health and Physical Education in the early '50's, he organized the program of intramural sports so well he soon developed the first Intercollegiate Basketball Team. The Program was conducted at that time in the Auditorium-Gymnasium with its maple floors marked for basketball and tennis.

Called first the "Ramblers" by Mr. Burgess, the boys' basketball team now is known as the "Panthers"; the girls' team using the name "Pantherettes."

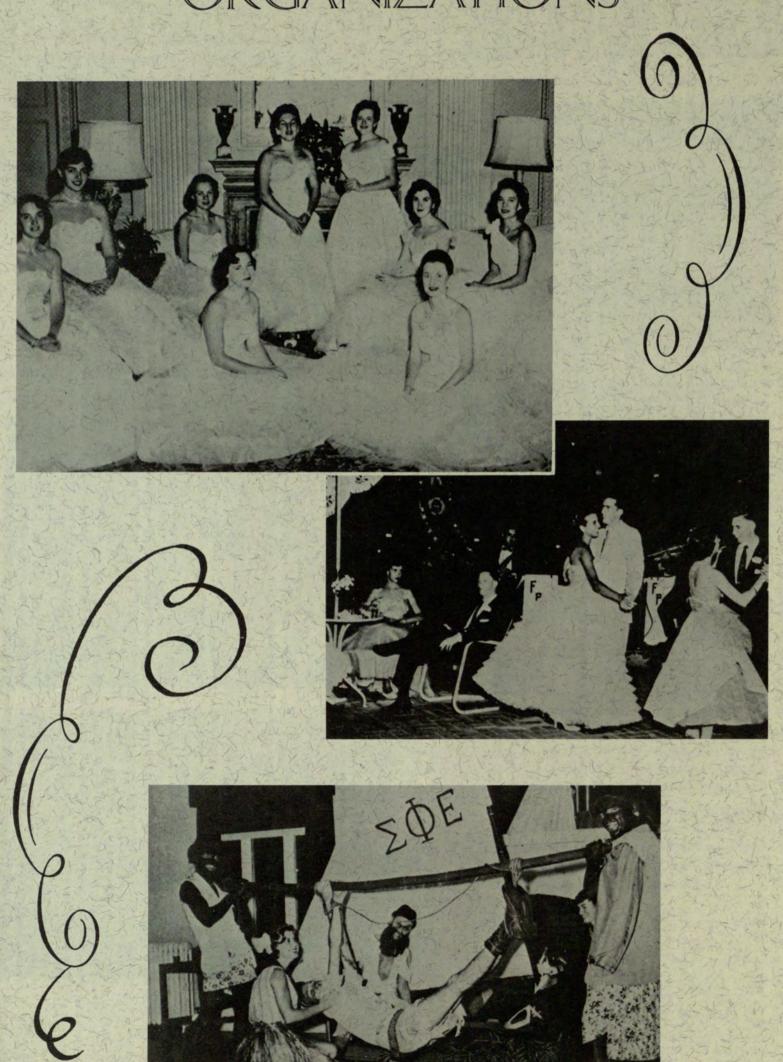

The Physical Education Department, with B. Jane I, Hart as head, carries on a full program of activities, using Atlanta area facilities in lieu of the demolished Auditorium-Gymnasium. Included are team sports such as basketball and volleyball; individual sports, such as, badminton, tennis and aquatics.

Each student is given the opportunity to develop skills and interest, mental and physical health, social and ethical values.

ORGANIZATIONS

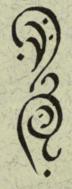

Typical of student festivities and perhaps most imaginative of all frolics, was the Buttermilk Ball of the Venetians.

Several weeks prior to the date for the ball each lucky recipient received her invitation in the form of a pint of buttermilk, presented to her at dawn by her perspective Venetian escort.

Costumes were the featured dress and a panel of judges chose the winners. "Man in a Shower-bath" was one winner chosen at

The Venetians, founded in the Evening School in 1926, had as its purpose "to create a better social, educational, and civil relationship among Evening School students." It continued its activities through 1952, twenty-six of the first fifty-year period of the College, according to Rampway records.

Due to unfriendly weather the 1963 May Day Festival had to be held inside, but nevertheless it was held in a gay atmosphere. The student lounge was transformed into broadway scenes and attendants with flowered arches and beautiful dresses brought a touch of spring and sunshine inside.

During the festival, Linda Jane Satterfield, the 1962 Queen, crowned Mary Linda Dillion Georgia State's 1963 May Day Queen. Mary Linda is a pretty, dark haired, intelligent beauty, a very friendly and active girl in student activities.

Two other dark haired beauties were announced as her first and second Maids of Honor. These beauties were Sandy Summerville and Kathleen Watkins. The other members of her court were Elaine Ogletree, Joan McGahey and Ann Tucker.

Georgia State Players

The Little Theatre, home of the Players, is slated for a major face-lifting sometime during the '63-64 season and will enhance even more the performances given here. This season marks the sixth under the very capable direction of Mr. James E. Sligh, who needs no introduction among theatre-goers at Georgia State.

Three productions are given by the Players per school year. "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde (Winter '63) filled the Little Theatre to over-flowing as it broke all attendance records. "Cue for Passion," by Elmer Rice (Spring '63) was a new high, dramatically speaking, for the Players. James Thurber's "A Thunder Carnival," (Fall '63) was a hilarious success.

The purpose of the Players is to teach and learn through theatre, in the hopes that an even wider program in all the Arts will be forthcoming in the near future at Georgia State. All interested students are invited to inquire about membership.

SOFTBALL-SPRING,

Between-inning refreshments in the bleachers of Piedmont Stadium.

Kappa Alpha Epsilon, with the expert pitching of "old man" Ken Masengale, captured the Interfraternity Softball Trophy with a spotless record of 5 wins and 0 losses. Kappa Sigma and pitcher Pete Poulos ran a close second, losing only to KAE.

Pitching has usually proven to be the deciding factor in Interfraternity competition, and Massengale and Poulos are certainly two of the finest in the league.

McCrary strikes out in Sigma Nu-Kappa Alpha Epsilon game.

KAE Off to a Good Start . . .

The 1963 Softball season began on April 21 with Sigma Nu playing Sigma Phi Epsilon in the first game. Defending champion Sigma Nu, ruined by graduation, went down in defeat 13-6. In the second game of the day, KAE established themselves as the team to beat by trouncing Pi Kappa Alpha 19-5. Kappa Sigma swept by Pi Kappa Phi 14-2 in the nightcap.

Joe Hudson "speeds" around third in the Kappa Sigma-SPE game.

Builds Up Steam . . .

In the second week of softball, Sigma Phi Epsilon's dreams of a champion-ship were shattered as they fell to Kappa Alpha Epsilon 10-1. Sig Ep simply couldn't solve the pitching puzzle of Ken Massengale, while Ken's teammates had a good day at the plate. The second game of the day featured the old rivals, Kappa Sigma and Sigma Nu. It was a real thriller, with Kappa Sig coming out ahead 8-6. The Pete Poulos fireball proved to be the difference. In the last game, Pi Kappa Alpha outlasted Pi Kappa Phi 11-7.

Ellis Ayers jokes with his KAE teammates before going to bat.

SPE supporters don't appear too concerned with the game.

Headed for a Title . . .

By the third week, everyone knew that KAE was headed for a championship. Sigma Nu and SPE had already lost a game; this left only Kappa Sigma to stop Massengale's gang. KAE rolled over hapless Pi Kappa Phi 14-4 that third week, with Sigma Nu defeating Pi Kappa Alpha 16-10 in a slugging duel and Kappa Sigma falling to Sig Ep 11-1.

Defeats Defending Champs . . .

May 12, the fourth week of the softball season, found KAE assured of at least a tie for first place. Kappa Sigma, the only other undefeated team, had been tripped by SPE the week before. In their fourth contest KAE rolled over Sigma Nu with no trouble, 12-4. Kappa Sigma kept their hopes alive by defeating PiKA 10-7. SPE stayed in contention technically, beating Pi Kappa Phi 10-7.

Ends Season Undefeated . . .

KAE was well ahead of Kappa Sigma in the season's final game when rain forced all participants to race for the nearest shelter. Although the game was never completed, the Interfraternity Council decided that KAE was the softball champion for 1963. There is little doubt that KAE was the superior team. In other final week action Sigma Nu defeated Pi Kappa Phi 15-11 in a contest of home runs. The game between Sig Ep and PiKA was called off because of rain.

Interfraternity Football

Fall - 1964

Competition between the fraternities at Georgia State is especially keen during the football season. "Rag-Tag," the Georgia State version of football, is no game for sissies. This year, as usual, Kappa Alpha Epsilon won the championship without too much trouble. The battle for second place and third place was a different story. Pi Kappa Phi, the big surprise of the year, fought right down to the wire with Sigma Nu for the first runner up spot. These two teams met on the final day of the season. Each had lost only one game, that being to Kappa Alpha Epsilon. The winner would be runner up to the top position, the loser would have to be content with third place. It was a real battle, with Sigma Nu putting on a spectacular defensive show to win 6-0. Kappa Sigma took fourth place, Pi Kappa Alpha fifth, and Sigma Phi Epsilon was in last place, disappointing for a team usually in the running.

The season's opener found Kappa Sigma falling to arch-rival Sigma Nu 12-7. Other first day action included a Pi Kappa Alpha victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon and a Kappa Alpha Epsilon triumph over Pi Kappa Phi. In this latter contest, Pi Kap gave future opponents a preview of trouble, holding mighty KAE to only 12 points. This game was much closer than the score indicates.

The third week proved that Pi Kappa Phi was making an honest bid as a football power among Georgia State fraternities. All former doubts were erased when Pi Kap trounced perennially strong Kappa Sigma 19-0. In other action, big Tom Law gave Sigma Nu a slim victory over Pi Kappa Alpha with a last minute safety. Kappa Alpha Epsilon emptied their four man bench in an attempt to hold down the score on Sigma Phi Epsilon. KAE won in a breeze, 35-0.

Rayburn blocks for Pi Kappa Phi.

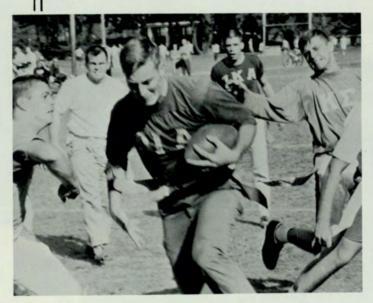

Wheeler receives halftime instructions.

By the fourth round of football games it became evident that KAE, behind such stars as Jimmy Woodall, Don McNew, and Chick Jennings, was headed for another trophy. Attention focused on second place; Pi Kappa Phi and Sigma Nu had both lost one game. All leaders rolled to easy victories on this fourth Sunday with KAE defeating Kappa Sigma 14-0, Pi Kap besting PiKA 32-12, and Sigma Nu downing hapless Sig Ep 13-0.

Three yards from paydirt-

The final week of the season saw KAE beat PiKA 14-0 to clinch the championship for the second straight year. Kappa Sigma finished their season with a 6-0 victory over winless SPE. The best game of the year was probably the Pi Kappa Phi-Sigma Nu thriller which saw an unusual and risky Sigma Nu defense stop the feared Jenkins-Voyles combination while the "snake" offense managed to push across one touchdown to give Sigma Nu a 6-0 win and second place. Pi Kappa Phi is to be congratulated for a successful season and for not allowing victory to dampen their traditionally superb sportsmanship.

Burton gets a tip-off.

AEPi has ball surrounded.

I.F.C. Basketball began early in the winter quarter at South Park Gym. The entrance of Alpha Epsilon Pi gave the league seven teams, forcing the season to be extended to seven weeks with each team having a byeweek. Defending champion Sigma Nu was a pre-season favorite to take top honors again.

WINTER 1964

Time out plans for Sigma Nu.

The first week saw Sigma Nu trounce AEPi 66 to 17. Co-favorite KAE found that PiKA was a strong contender, but age won out in the end; KAE 47-PIKA 45. In the final game, Kappa Sigma took advantage of Sig Ep's skimpy bench, winning by a score of 68-49. Pi Kappa Phi drew a first round bye.

While SPE sat out with a bye in the second round, Kappa Sigma fell to Pi Kappa Alpha in one of the best games in I.F.C. history. Neither team made many mistakes and the outcome was still in doubt with five seconds left. Final score was PiKA 55, Kappa Sig 54. In other action KAE rolled over AEPi 66-26, and Sigma Nu defeated Pi Kappa Phi 71-35.

In the third week of I.F.C. Basketball, Sigma Nu scored a rousing victory over SPE in its first real test, 86-41. Kappa Sig had a bad day, falling to KAE 71-46. Pi Kap and AEPi fought to a close 28-20, AEPi being the loser. PiKA had their bye this week.

Don McNew eyes the basket for KAE.

Keep your eye on the ball, Major.

Fourth week action saw Sigma Nu defeat a tough Kappa Sigma team 68 to 31. Pi Kappa Alpha got by improved Pi Kappa Phi 58 to 39. Kappa Alpha Epsilon took Sigma Phi Epsilon by a score of 61-47 with Jim Woodall and Don McNew leading the way.

In the fifth week of IFC Basketball, SPE took an impressive victory, defeating Pi Kappa Phi 75-37. Pi Kappa Alpha rolled over Alpha Epsilon Pi 69 to 43. In the contest of the day, Sigma Nu defeated Kappa Alpha Epsilon by a surprising score of 56 to 36. This left the Sigma Nu five one victory away from the title.

In the sixth week of basketball KAE kept their hopes alive by trouncing Pi Kappa Phi 46-36. AEPi lost a close one to Kappa Sigma by a score of 48-44. Pi Kappa Alpha thought they had a chance for the title as they got by Sig Ep 75-64. Defending champs Sigma Nu had a bye this week. They were to meet PiKA the next Sunday, a win would mean the championship and another undefeated season for the snakes.

The final week rolled around at last. In the first game SPE downed AEPi 64-51. In the last game, Kappa Sigma beat Pi Kappa Phi 39-31. But the game of the day was the 3:00 contest between Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha. Looking back on it all, the Pikes were never in the game as Mel Burton, Tom Law, Major Morgan, Richard McCrary, John Everett, and Frank Copeland got together to beat the young PiKA team 57-42 for the title.

Ronnie Woods wonders how to guard big Mel Burton.

Sororities . . .

The bases for sororities are much like those found today in the forming of neighborhood clubs, or high school organizations or professional groups. They became friends; they enjoyed a club to promote association. The girls in these groups wanted pins, colors, secrets and programs. When all these were attained, the sorority was practically created. Similar beginnings are found for almost every one of the groups at Georgia State College.

Sororities play an important part in our college life. Through the closer association of a small group within a large college, individuals learn to live with and understand others. They develop leadership abilities and social graces for more well-rounded lives after college.

Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity was founded April 17, 1893, at Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois; the Delta Xi Chapter was established on the Georgia State campus in March, 1963.

The major project of all chapters of the Fraternity is to combat juvenile delinquency, each chapter working within its own area for this cause. Each year the Delta Xi Chapter sponsors a scholarship for a foreign student studying at Georgia State. The Alpha Xi Delta Cup is awarded each year on Honors Day to an outstanding woman student. Combined with other fraternal organizations and projects within the Chapter are an important part of the social life of Alpha Xi Delta, while the spring formal is the highlight of the year with the tapping of the new officers and the presentation of inter-sorority awards. The Alpha Xi's actively participate in promoting activities on the campus and have made outstanding contributions to the school's program.

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded nationally at Barnard College of Columbia University in 1897 by four girls who were dedicated to loyalty and friendship. Since its founding at Georgia State in 1956, Gamma Sigma Chapter has strived to achieve the high goals of character, scholarship, service and fellowship.

AOPi's hold many titles on campus. Among those held are the 1963 May Queen, 1st Runner Up in the 1963 Homecoming Queen Contest, 1st Runner Up in the 1963 Greek Goddess Contest, and Rampway Court member. In addition to beauty, the girls possess leadership abilities. They hold the titles of Sweetheart of Pi Kappa Alpha, Sweetheart of Sigma Nu, and Secretary of SGA. Members of AOPi are active in General Council, the Student Government Association, the Signal and the Rampway. Several of the girls were elected to Who's Who, and the scholastic organizations at Georgia State boast of AOPi's. We currently have members in Alpha Lambda Delta, Crimson Key, Psi Chi, and Phi Chi Theta.

AOPi's know how to party! The most outstanding sorority social events are the Pledge-Active Party in the fall quarter and the Annual Rose Ball in the spring quarter, at which time the "Most Outstanding Fraternity" trophy is awarded.

Alpha Omicron Pi signifies beauty, scholarship, and leadership, but most of all AOPi stands for sisterhood.

Alpha Phi, one of the oldest national sororities on the Georgia State campus, was founded October 10, 1872, at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Among Alpha Phi's social events are the Fall and Summer retreats, a Spring weekend of parties, a Christmas Alumnae party and the annual Heart Dance. All proceeds from the Heart Dance go to Alpha Phi's national philanthropy, Cardiac Aid.

Positions held in Alpha Lambda Delta by Alpha Phi's include the past and present President, the present Vice-President, and Secretary. Offices have been held in Panhellenic including the present President. Alpha Phi's have served as chairmen of committees of such school functions as Freshman Orientation and Greek Week.

Within the sisterhood of Alpha Phi are five members of Who's Who, members of Crimson Key, the recipient of the 1963 "Outstanding Woman of the Year" award and the recipient of the "Freshman English" award. The sweetheart of Pi Kappa Phi is an Alpha Phi. Alpha Phi also has officers in General Council and Student Government.

Our motto "Union-Hand-in-Hand" is shared by chapters throughout the United States. The most treasured tradition of Gamma Mu Chapter is Inspiration Week during which time the new sisters are introduced to the deeper meanings of Alpha Phi's goals and ideals. The bond of sisterhood that binds Alpha Phi's produces a close relationship and a deep devotion within the sorority.

The Great Pumpkin!

The Delta Delta Chapter of Delta Zeta was the first national sorority founded at Georgia State in 1955. Delta Zeta is the largest national sorority with 154 chapters and our chapter ranks at the top.

This year Delta Zeta's hold the titles of Homecoming Queen, 2nd Runner Up Homecoming Queen, Miss Rampway Queen and six court members, Alumni Queen and 2nd Runner Up Alumni Queen. The sweethearts of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Pershing Rifles and five of G.S.C.'s cheerleaders are Delta Zeta's.

Seven Delta Zeta's serve as Student Government officers. Also, organizations such as Alpha Lambda Delta, Crimson Key, Phi Chi Theta, Psi Chi and Who's Who have Delta Zeta's as members. Positions of Mardi Gras Chairman, President and Vice-President of Sigma Tau Iota, President of Wesley Foundation, and editors on the Rampway and Signal Staffs are held by Delta Zeta's.

The annual events of the year are the Pledge Party, Founder's Day, Spring Dinner Dance and the Silver Tree Ball, this year at which Roger Axelson, SPE, was named Man of the Year. This year the Wash-Board Band added a new sound to many sorority functions.

Delta Delta of Delta Zeta has maintained the leading position among the G.S.C. sororities by receiving the Kappa Sigma "Outstanding Sorority of the Year" trophy every year it has been given. Built on loyalty to God, to the College, and to each other, the sisters of Delta Zeta strive to uphold the traditions of a "DZ Girl."

Mu Rho Sigma was founded at Georgia State in 1955 for the purpose of promoting friendship, scholarship and service for the college among married women students.

In 1956 and 1958, the sorority received the Scholarship Award for the highest over-all average among its members and in 1957, the sorority received the Sparks Scholarship Award for Advanced Study.

The Mu Rho Sigma Sorority sponsors a service project which is the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Free Cancer Home.

Regularly during every quarter Mu Rho Sigma holds teas and socials in order to extend invitations to the married women students on campus to join our organization of sisterhood.

On November 26, 1913, Phi Sigma Sigma was founded at Hunter College. Beta Phi is the newest of Phi Sig's twenty-seven active chapters throughout the United States. It is also the most recent addition to the Georgia State College Greek family.

Beta Phi can boast of Southern hospitality with an international spice with girls from Cuba and Israel. Our Jewish sorority will always welcome new friends as well as members.

Activities of Phi Sigma Sigma have included participation in Greek Week, Panhellenic, and General Council. We are also represented in Alpha Lambda Delta honorary sorority. We have had many parties with our Atlanta Alumnae Association. Beta Phi also acted as hostesses at a party for foreign students on campus.

Zeta Tau Alpha believes that fraternity membership gives those participating very definite and real values, a design by which each member may develop a fuller and richer life. Although the membership has more than doubled in the last two years, quality has remained the keynote of Zeta sisterhood.

Along with quality, Zeta also stresses scholarship as shown in the last year's average which was higher than the over-all campus woman's average.

Delta Lambda Zeta's have emphasized the ideals of friendship, scholarship, and activities by holding such honors as Miss Freshman, Kappa Sigma Sweetheart, Class officers, Class Senators, Crimson Key, Cheerleader, Rampway Court, Homecoming finalists, and Who's Who.

The social aspect of sorority life is never forgotten by the Zeta's who hold a major social function each quarter, besides the many gettogethers for slumber parties, Christmas Caroling, and pot-luck suppers.

The Nationl Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity was founded in 1898, Delta Lambda Chapter being installed at Georgia State College in 1961. Each year the Chapter presents a trophy to the Most Outstanding Woman student on campus.

Kappa Sigma, the largest social organization at Georgia State, exemplifies scholarship, leadership and above all, brotherhood.

Scholastically, Kappa Sig's average has ranked in the top two fraternities constantly. Kappa Sigma was awarded the I.F.C. scholarship trophy for last year and the fraternity average surpassed the school's all men's average for the third quarter.

The fraternity's record of leadership speaks for itself. This year key positions such as: Student Government president, Inter-fraternity Council president, General Council Vice-President, and Student Government Chief Justice were all held by Kappa Sigmas. Since the chapter was founded in 1958, twenty brothers have been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Kappa Sigma practices brotherhood in other facets of life as well as college activities. Each year the fraternity participates in the Empty Stocking Fund and March of Dimes drives.

Epsilon Nu Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was chartered at Georgia State College in 1960, having as one of our primary purposes the establishment of friendship on a firmer and more lasting basis.

In addition to various service projects, such as an Annual Christmas Party at the Scottish Rite Children's Hospital, Pikes enjoy many social activities during the year. These include the fall quarter Buccaneer Party, the Halloween Barn Party, the New Year's Eve Party, and the winter quarter Founders' Day Banquet and dance with other Georgia chapters. In the past year, Epsilon Nu chapter was rated second in its district. Spring quarter brings the Dream Girl Banquet and Annual Beachcomber. Pikes are also hosts to "open" monthly parties.

Pi Kappa Alpha members with positions in Student Government include junior class president, sophomore class president, and sophomore class senator. Pikes also hold offices on the Interfraternity Council and the Rampway staff, with several members with rank in the advanced ROTC program.

Our faculty advisor, Dr. Paul G. Blount, is head of the English Department and District President of Pi Kappa Alpha. Our Dream Girl, Miss Mary Linda Dillion, not only holds several beauty titles, but also is a member of Crimson Key Honor Society.

Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi was installed at Georgia State in September of 1954. Harmonious accord and unfaltering loyalty to the College and its administration and an enrichment of life through the everlasting bonds of brotherhood are the desires of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Some of the many social events of the year are the annual Rose Ball, the annual Jungle Party, the annual Founders Day Banquet, and the New Year's Eve Party.

Pi Kappa Phi was founded in Charleston, South Carolina, on December 10, 1904, of Southern origin. We have expanded until now we are represented geographically over the entire nation. Pi Kappa Phi was one of the first Fraternities to have a National scholarship program with a National Scholarship Committee. As some of the aims of the Fraternity, Pi Kappa Phi develops within men fraternal friendship, social responsibility, leadership, scholarship, democracy, and valuable experience.

Through this wide association of men from all walks of life, a fact made possible by membership in Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, the members are made more aware of their fellow man and more inclined to be good citizens.

Sigma Nu Fraternity was founded on January 1, 1869, at Virginia Military Institute. Today our fraternity is represented by over 150 chapters in 47 states and Canada, with a membership totaling over 85,000. Sigma Nu ranks among the top five fraternities in the United States and is today one of the leaders in the fraternal system—international in scope and progressive in both outlook and development. Eta Gamma Chapter was installed at Georgia State College on May 17, 1959.

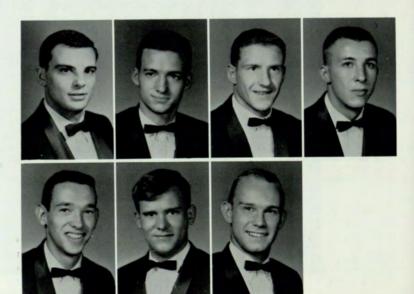

Sigma Nus are athletes, scholars, and leaders. Active in schoolwide activities, brothers hold editorships on the Rampway: Vice-President and other offices of the Student Government Association. Five brothers were named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for the year 1963-1964. In annual Greek Week competition, Sigma Nu won first place in Sing Night.

Alpha Kappa Psi, the first professional fraternity in business, was founded on October 5, 1904. It was incorporated in New York on May 20, 1905, and it is a charter member of the Professional Interfraternity Conference.

The fraternity is made up of 131 collegiate chapters and 40 alumni chapters. Each chapter conducts a definite program of professional activity each year. Such activity includes speakers on economic, business and educational topics; industrial tours, research projects and service to the school. In addition, the conduct of a reasonable number of social and fraternal activities is encouraged.

WESTMINSTER

FELLOWSHIP

The Westminster Fellowship is a body of Christian people who have expressed their faith through the Presbyterian church and who wish to do their share on campus for the glory of God and the honor of man. Although the Westminster Fellowship is, at present, small, it hopes to bring into its membership those who are, or will be counted members of the Universal Church of Christ. This will be done with socials bringing people and ideas together, with discussions and talks ranging from the mysteries and precepts of Christianity to the problems wrought on man by man in this, the Creator's world and with projects beneficial to the Church and Georgia State College.

The Westminster Fellowship was reorganized in the winter quarter of 1963 under the advisement of Miss Glenda Brisco, then a chaplain intern at Georgia Baptist Hospital. Since the beginning of the fall, 1963, term, it has been under the advisement of Dr. William J. Donaldson, Jr., an associate professor of education at Georgia State College and an ordained Presbyterian minister. It has had such speakers as an assistant attorney-general for the state of Georgia leading a discussion on capital punishment, a college administrator speaking on spiritual healing and a college professor warning of the threat of communism.

The Westminster Fellowship has the aid of Campus Christian Life of the Georgia Synod, but except for the active participation of faculty and students alike, it will soon be no more at Georgia State College. The Westminster Fellowship extends to all a cordial invitation to participate in all its functions. It hopes that through the communion with its members one is able to find a proper relation to God and to man.

The College Chorus has existed on the Georgia State Campus since the beginning of the Department of Music, in 1947. Contrary to prevalent belief, the chorus is open to all students of Georgia State interested in choral music.

The musical ability and cultural quality of the chorus is attested to by performances given in the past, such as the "Manzoni Requiem" by Giuseppi Verdi, the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Pietro Mascagni, the well known opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" by Gian-Carlo Mascagni, the orators "King David" by Arthur Honnegger, and Mozart's "Requiem."

In recent years the annual presentation of the Christmas sections of G. H. Handel's "Messiah" has become a tradition, the performance of the '63-'64 school year having been given at St. Phillip's Cathedral in Atlanta.

The versatility of the Chorus is illustrated by the fact that classical music gives way to traditional Southern music, such as that written by Stephen Foster, and contemporary music, the former having become the trademark of the group.

For the past two years the Chorus has been invited to perform before the Atlanta Rotary Club and the Coastal Area Arts Festival in Savannah. In addition to these performances, the chorus numbers among its yearly activities a tour of Atlanta area high schools, serving as entertainment for the high school students as well as good-will and recruitment purposes for Georgia State.

Beta Alpha Psi is a National Honorary and professional fraternity for students majoring in the field of accounting.

This organization was founded in 1919 at the University of Illinois and now has chapters at most of the major universities and colleges in the country. Beta Mu Chapter was founded at Georgia State College in 1961 and thus is one of the newest additions to the fraternity. Our chapter has the distinction of being the first chapter of Beta Alpha Psi in the state of Georgia.

As for its objectives, Beta Alpha Psi stresses scholarship and leadership in its program to prepare students better for their future careers in the accounting profession. Through his association with members of the profession, the accounting student acquires greater insight into his chosen field.

Beta Alpha Psi also emphasizes six principles of conduct that are fundamental to the profession. These are intellectual integrity, loyal service, respect for confidence, professional bearing, irreproachable associates and care for appearances.

It has been through these high standards that this organization has attained such widespread recognition within the accounting profession.

Students for Private Enterprise was founded on January 23, 1963. This unique club was organized for the purpose of promoting a better understanding of our private enterprise system. By talking to other high school and college groups, by educating its members, and by promoting the idea of such groups at other universities, Students for Private Enterprise hopes to accomplish its mission.

Last fall the unique organization undertook an unusual task. The members began two pilot teaching classes at one of the Atlanta Boy's clubs to try to teach these boys something fundamentally practical about the system in which they live. Not only were the boys interested, but the student-teachers learned a great deal about our American private enterprise system. Another improved program of this type is planned for this summer.

This busy group has great plans of expansion—in its promotion and education—in the future. It must be kept in mind that the goal of the American private enterprise tradition must always be recognized.

Alpha Lambda Delta, a national honor society for freshman women, was founded at Georgia State in 1956. Today it is one of one-hundred and sixteen chapters. There are nineteen members in the local chapter.

In order to be eligible for membership, a freshman woman student must have a B-plus average for her first thirty hours of work.

Alpha Lambda Delta strives to promote scholar-ship among its members, to recognize scholastic achievement, and to aid in school endeavors. Among its activities are a scholarship tea in January and a banquet for the initiates in the spring. Alpha Lambda Delta also recognizes scholastic achievement by the presentation of the Senior Book Award to the senior with the highest average. Alpha Lambda Delta is also a co-sponsor of the William M. Suttles Scholarship Fund.

Crimson Key Honor Society, founded at Georgia State in 1934, is both an honor and a service organization. Membership is by invitation only to those junior and senior women who have a "B" average or better and have exhibited leadership ability by making a contribution to the college through extracurricular activities.

The purpose of Crimson Key is to promote a closer understanding between the Administration and the students and to cooperate with the faculty and other organizations of the college to the end that there may be fostered and maintained the highest standards of scholarship, social activities, and moral ideals among the women students.

The projects during the year include assistance with orientation, co-sponsorship of the Senior Breakfast and Career Day, presentation of citation awards to outstanding women graduates, and presentation of a special senior award annually.

Meetings are held at School and in various restaurants. Programs this year include guest speakers from various vocations, honorary members, Christmas project for needy children co-sponsored by Blue Key, and an Alumni

S.E.A. is the college level of the Future Teachers of America and The National Education Association. Georgia State College Chartered the J. I. Allman chapter on February 13, 1951. This local chapter took as its purposes those of the national Student N.E.A. and the Student Georgia Education Association. The purposes are to provide opportunities for personal and professional growth, development of leadership skills, understanding of the history, ethics, and programs at state and national levels, and participation in professional activities at local, state, and national levels. The Student Education Association at Georgia State endeavors to deepen the interests of capable students in teaching as a career and to contribute to a reasonable balance in teacher supply and demand. Any student who is enrolled in a teacher education program may become a student member of N.E.A. at Georgia State.

When General John J. Pershing founded a drill unit at the University of Nebraska, he gave all Pershing Rifle units a proud heritage. Company T-4 shares such a heritage, nationally, with her sister units. This year, 1963-64, Company Tango celebrates her Tenth Anniversary as a unit at Georgia State.

In addition to participating in Regimental Drill competition, Company T-4 is active at Georgia State's official drill team. Tango's "Duty" not only includes a quarterly FTX, local and state parades; but an annual invasion of New Orleans during Mardi Gras.

Pi Sigma Epsilon, National Sales and Marketing Fraternity, was founded at Georgia State College on May 12, 1952. The Fraternity was founded for the purpose of creating a collegiate brotherhood of academically qualified students interested in the field of Sales and Marketing; promoting the study of Marketing; encouraging colleges and universities throughout the country to include Marketing Courses in their curriculum; stimulating improved methods and techniques in the Sales Field; and instilling in our members the highest ethical standards of the profession. Since 1952 thirty-five additional chapters have been installed throughout the continental United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Activities of Alpha Chapter include monthly dinner meetings, sales projects, Founders Day Dinner-Dance, Summer Outing and a Christmas Dance. An outstanding speaker from the Field of Marketing is provided for each of our Dinner Meetings by the Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Atlanta, sponsor for Alpha Chapter.

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, founded in 1924, is both an honor and a service organization. Membership is by invitation only to those junior and senior men who excel in scholarship, possess leadership qualities, and have demonstrated a willingness to be of service to Georgia State.

The local chapter, which was established in 1951, has as its primary responsibility the operation of a Book Exchange, the profits of which are donated to the school for various student loan funds and other projects. Members also serve as ushers for graduation, co-sponsor the Senior Breakfast, and co-serve as the Information Committee for Freshman Orientation.

The chapter awards, annually, a gold key to the male Sophomore with the highest point average in his class.

We consider our membership in Blue Key to be a cherished and singular honor, and stand ready to be of any service to Georgia State College.

The Wesley Foundation was founded by Members of the Georgia Methodist Student Movement at Georgia State College in 1952 to promote the spiritual hope and belief of Christ like living, fellowship, and intellectual development. The group responds especially to the development of the Methodist Church under John Wesley in its Aldersgate Street-Oxford University Student days, and holds the same basis of belief, especially those messages found in Saint Paul's Letter to the Romans, Chapter 8. Membership is open to any student at Georgia State, and average active membership was about 25 this year.

Many of the students at Georgia State College were heard offering comments about the tragic historical events in our Nation's news this year. Wesley Foundation members also held fellowship on the subject, as well as on Christian Social and Sexual Ethics, Interfaith Marriage, and the Christian Outreach concerns of Christian Identity and Christian Social Concerns.

Nursing Education Club This organization was formed to provide a foundation from which those interested in computing and computing machinery may venture into any of the many fields available to them in the area of information processing. Its twofold mission is the advancement of the science of computing and dissemination of knowledge to its members so that they may become proficient in the practical applications of the computers in both the commercial and scientific fields. It strives to provide an increased knowledge of the science, design, development, construction and languages of modern computation machinery as well as a means of communication between students and professional persons interested in computing machinery.

Membership into Psi Chi is by invitation only. To be eligible a candidate must be majoring or minoring in psychology and must have demonstrated high scholastic achievement in the arts and sciences as well as in psychology.

Psi Chi activities include frequent lectures by outstanding professionals in the field, social events for the recreation of members and guests, and sponsorship of the Psi Chi Scholarship, presented each spring to an outstanding member.

These are some of the ways we of the Georgia State Chapter strived to achieve the Psi Chi purpose: "to advance the science of psychology; and to encourage, stimulate, and maintain scholarship of the members in all fields, particularly in psychology."

School of Arts and Sciences

The primary purpose of the School of Arts and Sciences is to afford the student a liberal education, which by its nature is broad rather than narrow, devoted to intellectual development and discipline rather than to the acquisition of technical skills. It should give the student some knowledge of the achievements of the human mind, with special reference to the Western civilization of which both the ancient world and contemporary America are parts; of the historical and cultural backgrounds essential to a true understanding of our world; above all, of orderly thinking processes and of a scale of values by which he can distinguish the permanent from the trivial, the substantial from the pretentious, the good from the bad. To that end he will need some familiarity with historical and political studies, the sciences, and the arts. As a human being and as a citizen he will find this training of lasting significance. As a member of a profession he will find here desirable backgrounds —for scholarship and teaching in all fields of knowledge; for law and medicine, which stress increasingly the value of broad intellectual training; for journalism, and government service, and diplomacy. The curricula require a number of courses deemed essential, individually and as a group, to the intellectual competence at which the liberal education aims; in addition to these, the student has electives which he may use to further his general knowledge or to specialize in certain fields.

On the undergraduate level, the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts degree, the Bachelor of Science degree, and the Bachelor of Music degree. Students enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences may also prepare and become certified to teach on the elementary and secondary levels through programs which meet the requirements of the State Department of Education of Georgia. Through its Division of Graduate Studies, the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Master of Arts degree, with majors in English, history, and political science, and the Master of Arts for Teachers degree.

Art Department

The study of art has two aspects: the history of art and the practice of art. The aims of the Department of Art of Georgia State College are to provide a sound basis, within the framework of a liberal arts education, for experiences in the visual arts which are directed toward professional excellence; to offer, with the Department of Marketing within the structure of the School of Business Administration, a sound program in Advertising and Art; to offer service courses in the visual arts which are in keeping with the objectives of the college. The Department of Art offers courses for general students which provide an opportunity to study art for its value in the general field of humanistic studies. A program of exhibitions is presented each year in the Georgia State College Art Gallery where students may study original examples of art in a variety of media and styles.

Biology Department

Knowledge and understanding of the world in which man lives is the goal of the Department of Biology. Areas of study include biology or a study of the biological principles of animals and plants; botany or an extensive study of the plant sciences; bacteriology or an extensive study of micro-organisms; and zoology or an extensive study of the animal sciences. Work in the laboratory is a large part of any field of biology and the labs are maintained and taught as a part of every course in the Department of Biology. Students may elect to pursue a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology; a Bachelor of Science degree in Medical Technology; or pre-professional courses of study in pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, and pre-pharmacy.

Chemistry Department

The courses in general chemistry attempt to combine the cultural aspects of the subject with the laying of a foundation of basic training for those who will continue with more advanced work in preparation for careers in chemistry, medicine, chemical engineering, pharmacy, and so forth.

The cultural value of elementary chemistry for the general student as well as for the specialist lies chiefly in showing how a measure of order and meaning can be obtained from our otherwise bewildering observations in the world of matter. In the development of these unifying concepts, the study affords splendid illustrations of the methods of scientific logic.

The courses beyond the level of elementary courses are not without their cultural value, but there is more emphasis on the development of technical knowledge and experience which is necessary in chemistry and related fields. The undergraduate program offered at Georgia State gives the student a training which fits him for work in research, control, and testing laboratories as well as for executive positions in which a chemical background is necessary.

In order to make this training even more intensive, the Department of Chemistry at Georgia State College has attempted to enlarge its facilities for laboratory work. A large amount of experimental equipment has been purchased by the Department of Chemistry to enhance the opportunities for a graduate with a degree in chemistry from Georgia State.

English Department

Introductory courses in English are designed to improve the student's ability to analyze and to organize ideas, to write effective expository prose, and to read various types of literature with appreciative understanding.

Advanced courses offer opportunities to develop skill in critical and creative writing, to gain knowledge of the structure and evolution of the English language, to trace the history of English and American literature, to examine and apply theories of criticism, and to study intensively the works of major authors.

Literature, broadly defined, presents the best that has been thought and said in the world. The literatures of England and America are not only extremely rich but are also readily accessible. Through their study one may expect to enlarge and to discipline both the imagination and the emotions, to increase the understanding of human problems and character, and to gain aesthetic satisfaction through a participation in the ordered experience which the artist presents. The companion study of language sharpens the powers of observation, gives insight into the functions of language in human society, proposes problems of meaning and expression, and encourages the objective analysis of methods of communication.

Many of those who concentrate in English find a close relationship between its disciplines and their vocational aims. Business and industry, as well as the professions, put increasing stress upon the importance of clear writing and speaking, and offer opportunities for employment to persons who have specialized in the techniques of communication. In recognition of this, English courses are regularly included in preprofessional programs of all kinds.

Foreign Language Department

The basic objectives in the study of a foreign language and literature are the cultural development of the personality and the attainment of a broad and deep understanding of the traditions, problems, and aspirations of a foreign nation as expressed in speech and print; and the development of a facility for speaking the language in order to be able to communicate easily with the people of the foreign nation. Such an understanding and such an ability is demanded by the new role of the United States in the

In the program of the Department of Foreign Languages the introductory courses as well as courses in conversation and composition are aimed at the acquisition of a reading and a speaking knowledge of the foreign language. The higher courses are designed to acquaint the student with outstanding works of the literary heritage of the foreign nation. Culturally, the study of foreign languages widens the outlook of the educated citizen and broadens his interests. Language study, by providing an insight into the material, intellectual and psychic life of other peoples, fosters humanistic attitudes and cultivates a spirit of tolerance and understanding.

In addition to his classwork, the student may supplement his training by making use of the facilities of a supervised language laboratory for auraloral training.

Geology is the science of the earth and is concerned with the study of rocks and their structures, and with earth history as disclosed by rock formations and fossils. Graduate geologists are found today in mining, petroleum, mineral exploration, research, teaching, ground water and surface water studies, soil analysis, and engineering.

The general objective of geographic study is an understanding of the various parts of the world, their inhabitants, and their resources. Such broad knowledge is a valuable adjunct for the appreciation of world problems and of intelligent citizenship. Professional careers in geography may be followed by teaching on various levels, in public service, and in business. Ratings of "Geographer" may be obtained in all Civil Service grades, and geographers are employed by many agencies of the government.

The objective of the Department of Journalism is to prepare students for newspaper, radio, television, or magazine careers. In addition, journalism is included as part of the teaching field for English teachers. The field of historical study embraces all recorded expressions of human activity. History includes the record of the political experience of a people in its internal and external phases, and it also surveys the social and economic aspects of life, artistic expressions, intellectual achievements, scientific progress, and religious beliefs. Because of its broad scope, history provides an excellent approach to all studies that deal with the activities of man.

The Department of History at Georgia State Collège offers graduate courses in addition to its regular undergraduate program. Dr. John A. Alexander, Head of the Department of History, has recently published his first book, POTIDAEA: ITS HISTORY AND REMAINS; and Dr. Henry T. Philosophy Department

Philosophy seeks to understand man, his world, their relations. It involves use of logical and scientific methods, appreciation of all values, the history of ideas, and philosophical systems. Philosophy is an appropriate major for students wishing a broad education; and those preparing for careers as writers (whether journalistic or literary), lawyers, ministers, teachers, in various types of political and government service, and in non-technical positions in business and industry.

Political Science Department

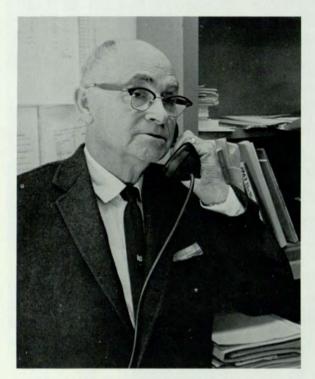

Political Science is the systematic study of constitutional and governmental structure, processes, functions, and policies, in theory and practice, within individual states or within the framework of international relations. The study may involve historical, institutional, legal, behavioral, or philosophical analysis. It may be conducted on either a single unit or a comparative basis. Like the other social sciences, political science attempts to orient its study in the direction of solutions to present-day problems. The study of political science lies within the broad objective of the liberal arts program. As a general educational and social objective political science seeks to prepare the student either for the role of an active participant or leader in government or for the equally significant role of an informed, understanding citizen.

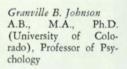

H. B. JENKINS A.B., M.S., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky), Assistant Professor of Physics

Psychology Department

The general objective of instruction in psychology is to give the student a scientific attitude toward, and an understanding of, human behavior. He is given an opportunity to learn what research has shown about how we perceive, learn, and think; how individuals differ from one another; how the personality develops from infancy to maturity; and how interpersonal factors affect human relations in the home, on the job, and in the community.

Sociology Department

Courses in sociology are designed to provide the student with an understanding of the social character of human life, and of the impact of varying forms of social organization on human affairs. Departmental offerings include courses in contemporary social problems, juvenile delinquency, collective behavior, rural-urban sociology, marriage and the family, criminology, and methods of sociological research. And undergraduate training in sociology is relevant to employment in the teaching of social sciences, research in public and private agencies, community and regional planning, social work, personnel management, and the administration of various kinds of institutions.

Speech Department

Courses in speech are intended to provide the basic instruction for general students in the fundamentals of speech or for students who anticipate professional careers as speakers and actors or who intend to teach speech and drama. The courses offered by the Department of Speech and Drama will be of cultural and practical value to students of both the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration by increasing personal effectiveness in public speaking, conversation, and the everyday concerns of life.

School of Business Administration

Curricula in the School of Business Administration are designed to give broad experience in the liberal arts and applied sciences as preparation for productive living and progress toward executive responsibilities. The student will find his studies spread over diverse discipline throughout his four years that he may maximize his opportunities to apply wide-ranging facts, opinions, and techniques to the art of decision-making. Whether a student's objective be that of proprietor or partner in a firm, executive in a private corporation, or officer in a public or quasi-public institution, the core work presented is basic to the appreciation and practice of the administrative function.

The School of Business Administration is organized into seven academic departments, a Bureau of Business and Economic Research, and the Computing and Data Processing Center. The Computing and Data Processing Center. The Computing and Data Processing Center was established in the School of Business Administration in 1959. The Center has the dual purpose of offering instruction to the students and faculty of the college in the use of computer facilities and of assisting faculty and students with research activities. In the accomplishment of its objectives the Center will acquaint the students with one of the newest instruments of science and industry, the electronic computer.

The Bureau of Business and Economic Research was organized in 1950 to conduct research in business and economics. Its basic policy is to increase both basic and applied knowledge in the areas of general economics, business operations, and regional economic development. The Bureau publishes each month a periodical, THE ATLANTA ECONOMIC REVIEW, which includes information on business trends and articles on business and economics.

The degrees offered by the School of Business Administration, which is a full member of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, are the Bachelor of Business Administration, Master of Business Administration, Master of Actuarial Science, Master of Business Administration, and doctor of Business Administration.

Barbara Stewart works full-time in the Management Department for Dr. Mescon.

The Real Estate Department exhibits bulletins for students' information.

Accounting Department

The accounting program is developed to provide education for public accounting and executive positions in industry, government, and institutions. The field of accounting is broad and challenging, and the student at Georgia State gains the ability to apply his knowledge in managerial, financial, economic, and general business situations. A student with an aptitude in accounting will find unlimited opportunities for professional recognition, financial reward, and public service.

Economics Department

Economics problems are among the more important ones of modern society, and almost every social problem has economic aspects. Consequently, broad understanding of the modern world requires some knowledge of the functioning of the economic system; and the individual's intelligent participation in the solution of problems in our society will be aided by an understanding of the point of view and the techniques of analysis developed by economists. The introductory courses in economics are designed for this purpose, as well as to lay the groundwork for further courses in economics for those students who may wish to pursue the subject more intensively. Concentration in economics will not only give, for the ordinary citizen, a more detailed understanding of the modern economic world, but will provide especially useful background for those desiring to pursue careers in such fields as law, business, government, journalism, and teaching. Opportunities for employment of economists in research work have been constantly expanding in government, in large business firms, in organizations such as trade associations and labor unions and in academic and private research organization.

Insurance Department

The purpose of the courses offered in the Department of Insurance is to provide the student with an education that will satisfy professional needs. There are three divisions in the Department of Insurance. The area of risk and insurance seeks to provide each student with an understanding of the pervasive nature of risk in our economic and social life, and to provide a fundamental understanding of insurance as a device for dealing with risk in our society. The area of Actuarial Science seeks to train students who wish to join an insurance company in the capacity of a person whose function it is to make the mathematical calculations necessary to maintain the insurance business on a sound financial basis. The area of Business Law seeks to prepare those students who wish to enter a law school.

Management Department

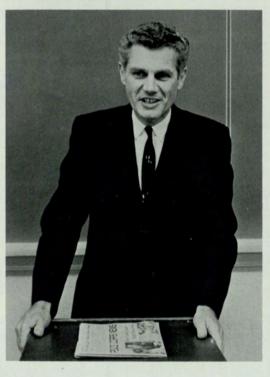

The program of the Department of Management is designed to provide professional education and to develop the competence of students for careers in the management of business and economic affairs. The vital importance of the management function in our complex society is recognized as well as is the value of formal education as preparation for efficient performance as a manager. Management is essential to every enterprise, no matter how large or small, and no matter whether it be industrial, commercial, financial, social, or governmental. The uses of management is fundamental and the demand for qualified managers is great. Because of this demand, the study of management ranks as one of the most important in the business world.

Dr. Chapman, who has contributed several articles on Management, confers in his office.

Marketing Department

C. W. EHLERS B.B.A., M.B.A., D.B.A. (Indiana University), Professor of Marketing and Chairman, Department of Marketing

The marketing program affords an opportunity for the student to receive a fundamental preparation in general marketing. In addition to a major in marketing, a combined major is offered in art-advertising. The marketing function in the economy includes the areas of selling, advertising research, retailing, and industrial marketing. The great range of these activities, which involve a great deal of the total employed, create almost unlimited career opportunities.

Dr. Ehlers confers with Don Mitcham in his office.

ROBERT KEVIN BROWN B.S., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Pittsburgh), The Ben J. Massell Professor of Real Estate and Chairman of the Department of Real Estate

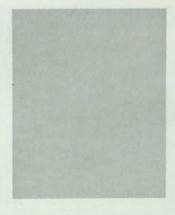

Real Estate Department

Courses in the Department of Real Estate are designed for students who are interested in the many fields of business and government where real estate is of significance. Such fields include real estate brokerage, appraising, taxation, law, property management, real estate development, mortgage lending and mortgage banking, construction, government loan guarantees and insurance. In the city of Atlanta no student could go wrong in such a field. The real estate area is one which is vital to the progress of Atlanta, Georgia, and the South.

EPILOGUE

The list of people who have aided me with willing contributions of their time and energies is long.

Two, in particular, are due especial thanks.

To Dr. Kenneth M. England, Dean of Students,—who is to me and to all students at the College, the warm combination of ally, counsellor and friend—I extend my sincere gratitude.

To Mrs. Loula N. Cantrell, for her generous contribution of talent and energy in compiling the Fiftieth Anniversary Section in the Introduction, I offer an especially heartfelt "Thank You."
