STUDENT LIFE

It's about this peanut butter candy...

We Stand United

A boy, a girl...and an intruding pledge!

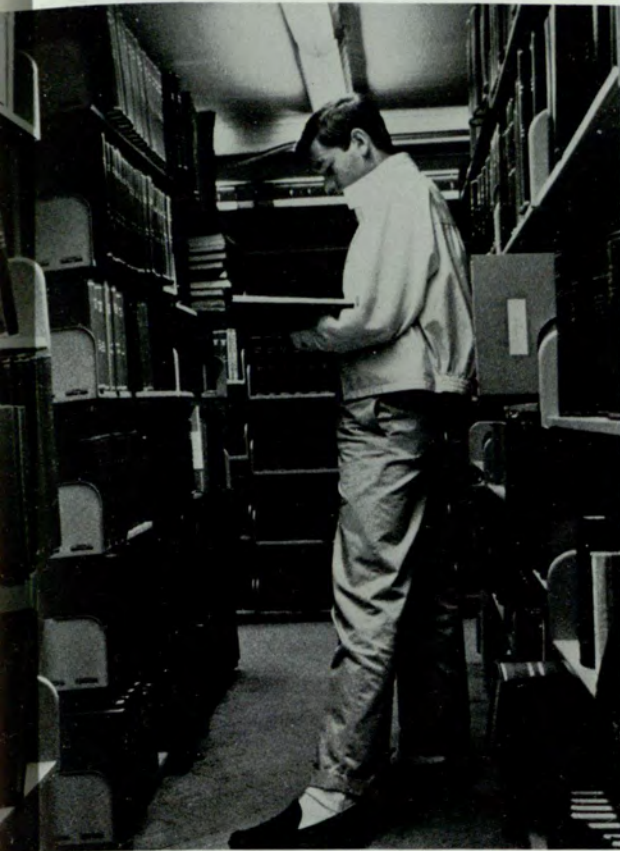

What does he look at second?

In a Nucleus of Diversity

Students bring to college with them many different hopes, dreams, and aspirations. They create a nucleus of diversified interests. Each person has his own ideas and ideals; each has his own goal. For some, this goal will someday become reality; for others it will never quite be realized. College causes vast changes in the scope of thought, deed, and action. Things become more real, education more meaningful, friendships more genuine. While in college, a person's life is transformed, for it is here that he passes from adolescence to manhood. These college years are truly the greatest years of our lives.

Alone at last—with Playboy.

Lab work—takes the worry out of being close.

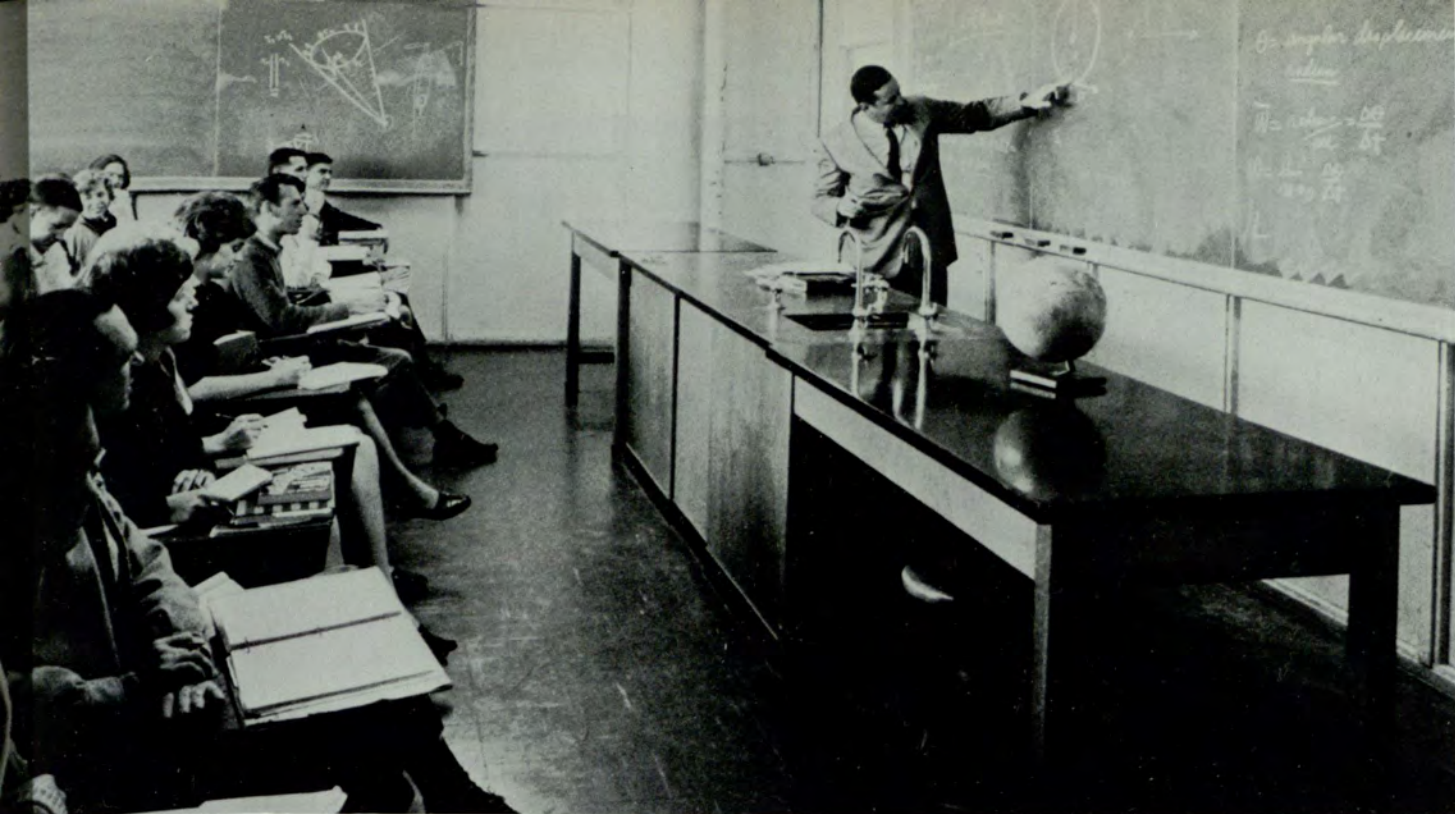

Some prefer that quiet spot for study...

Each With

... others gain more from group discussion, debate, and conference;

but regardless of method or place, each person is serious about study.

Who knows, some day one of these students may conquer cancer, find the key to space travel . . . or perhaps realize what Dr. Jenkins is trying to say.

An Interest of His Own

College is a world of understanding and is understandably a world of diversity, for it is made of people who view life from many points. Some of us will live in a world consisting primarily of test tubes and laboratories, doing research in an effort to learn more about the complexities of life and of the universe. Others will live in a world of typewriters and stencils, recording and making human history.

Some think our survival will depend on an increased knowledge in the various fields of medicine, while others view the world as dependent upon the technologies of communication and transportation, a world whose future lies in today's diplomacy. To each, the universe is something different, yet there is one common goal in all of us—the attainment of the educational tools with which to build a better nation and a more abundant life.

How should I know what the darn thing is?

Dating . . .

Dating, an established component of the student's experiences, has various connotations. To some it means companionship, while to others it is simply a social convenience. Whatever the case, it can be a source of excitement, anxiety, discussion, or agitation; whatever its scope, serious or affable, dating cannot be denied its significance in college life.

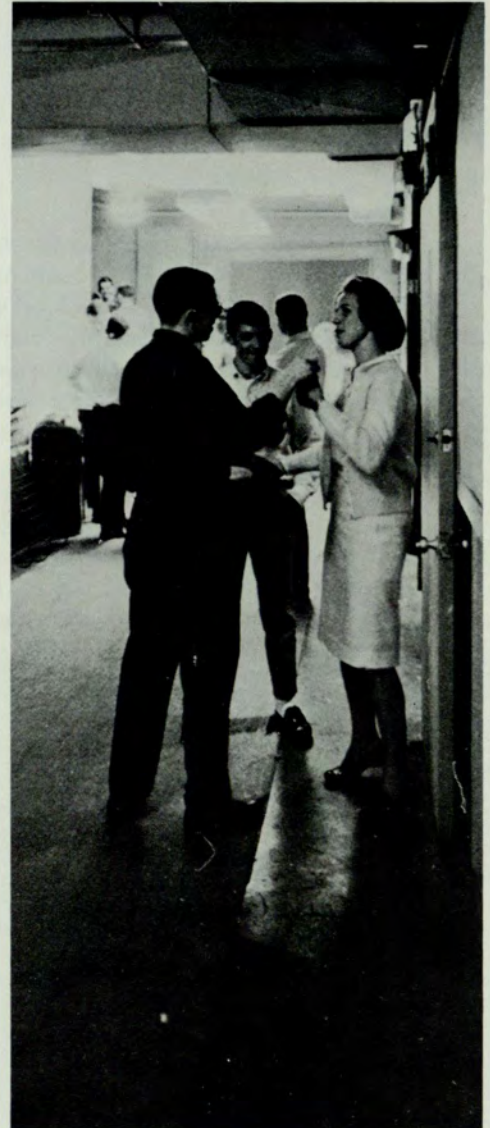

Parties offer a chance for relief from the tasks of the weeks of study.

...and then there was the House Party.

Watch those opaque containers.

An indoor snow scene.

Getting to know people is an integral part of life.

A Part of College Life

Parties give all a chance to express themselves.

Interaction between students teaches many lessons which can not be learned in the classroom.

Billie, get me the psycho ward!

Emotions . . .

Every human experience creates some kind of emotion. The observant eye can catch a multitude of expressions reflecting excitement, surprise, anticipation, fear, and depression; yet, to the individual expressing these emotions, the mood is distinct and sincere.

...anticipation...

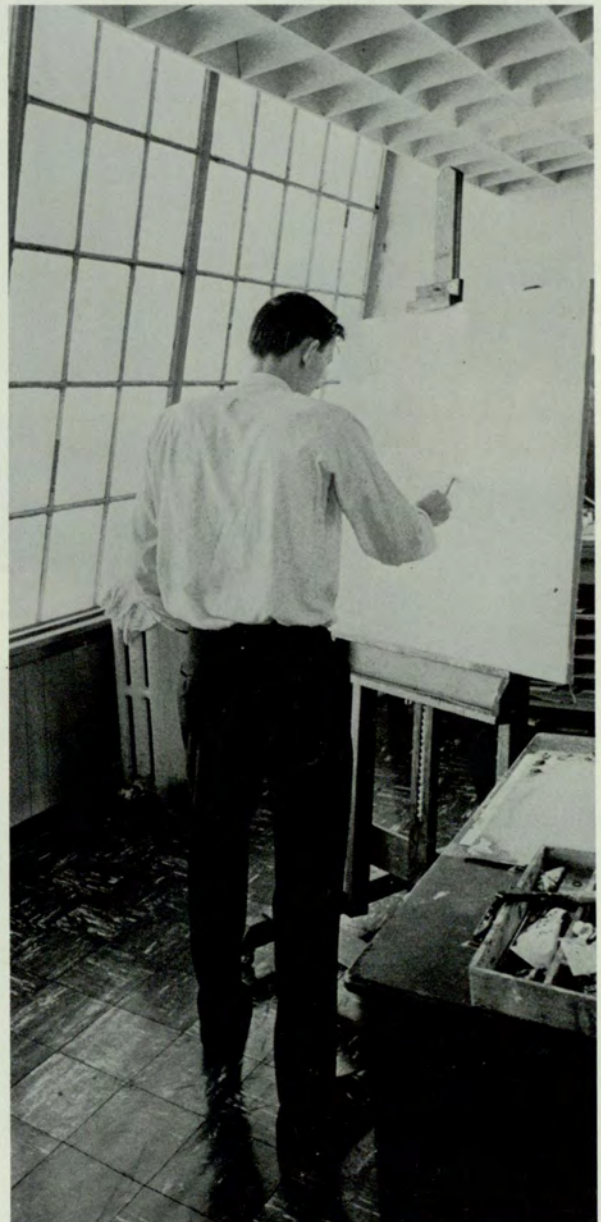

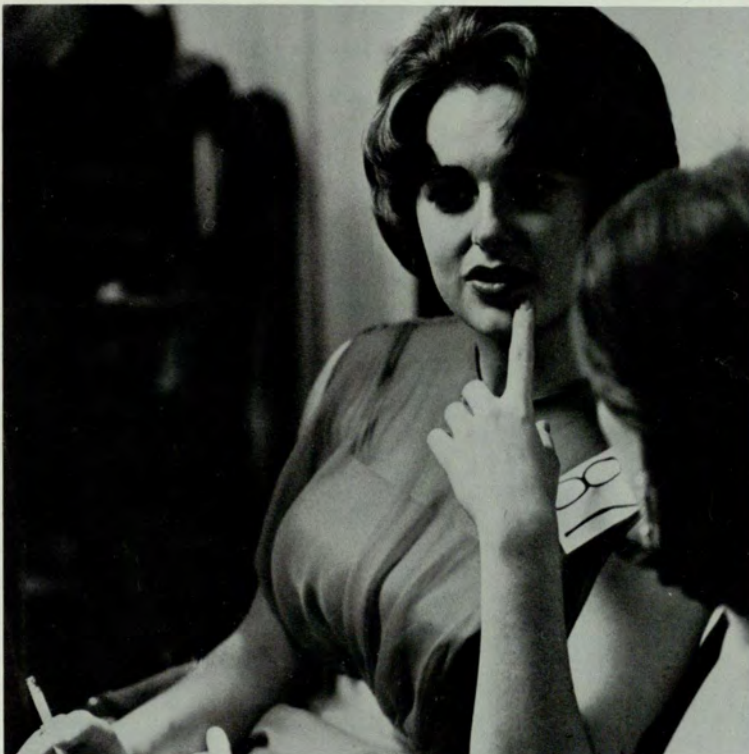

The hands! Look at the hands!

Really—it was that long!

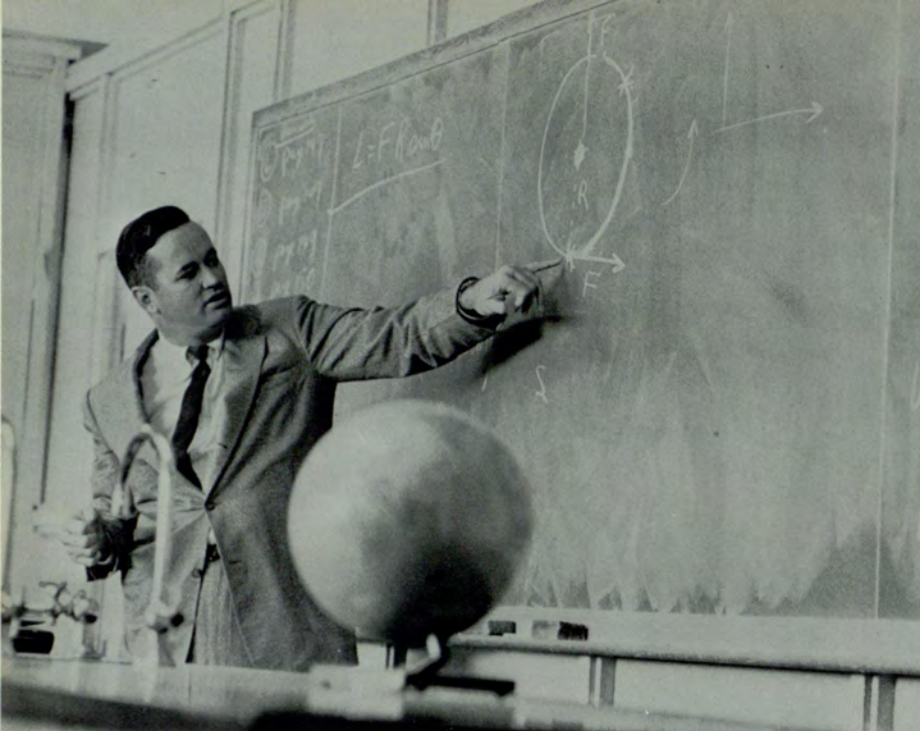

Creativity — self-expression

The waiting is the hardest of all!

Study . . .

The backbone of our college life, studying is enjoyable for some, a tiring and endless process for others. The emotions it creates are those of exhaustion, exasperation, anxiety—and occasionally self-pity.

..and it therefore logically follows that..

Creative thought comes from individual study

Some take the easy way out.

Time's running out...

I know I saw him move!

. . . Not Just to Gain Knowledge,

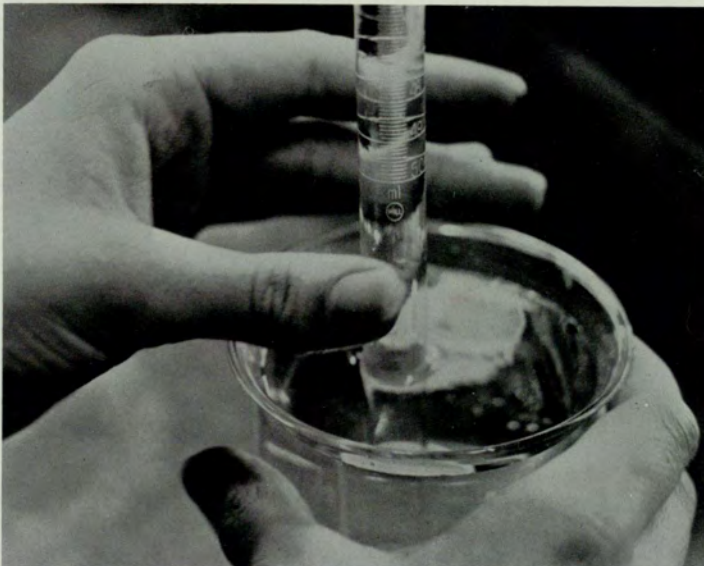

Do you know what I found out?

. . . But to Learn to Use It Correctly

Knowledge is knowing where to find the answers and how to apply them.

Interpretation and use of data is important

Leisure Is . . .

the student's right to let off steam, it is the mood of the weekend, and leisure is the state between a grade and an ulcer.

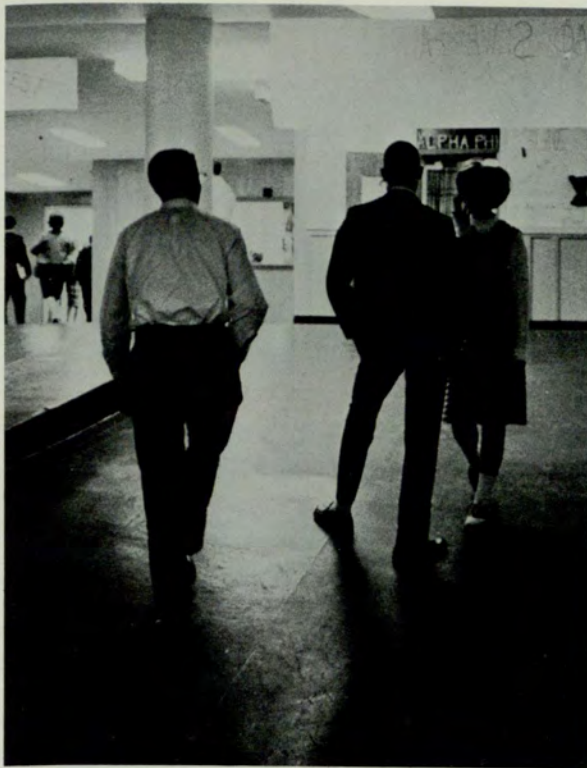

Exactly what are your candidate's qualifications?

To go or not to go . . .

. . . to the Assembly.

Leisure is a talk with that someone.

Its forms vary with the moods of the students, and leisure hours offer the pause that refreshes.

... a Need to Get Away

Student life is wrapped up in the associations and thoughts of the students.

Sorority skits add interest to rush.

Everything from lions to kittens parade before the rushee.

Fraternity and Sorority Rush Introduce Students to a New Life

Students rush Fraternities and Sororities, and the organizations rush the students. Tension and anxiety run high as students wonder if they will get their choice. Some succeed in wading through the forced smiles and party atmosphere and find lasting friendships. For others it is a trying time, but in the end the organizations are strengthened, and each individual is given a wider outlook and a nobler existence.

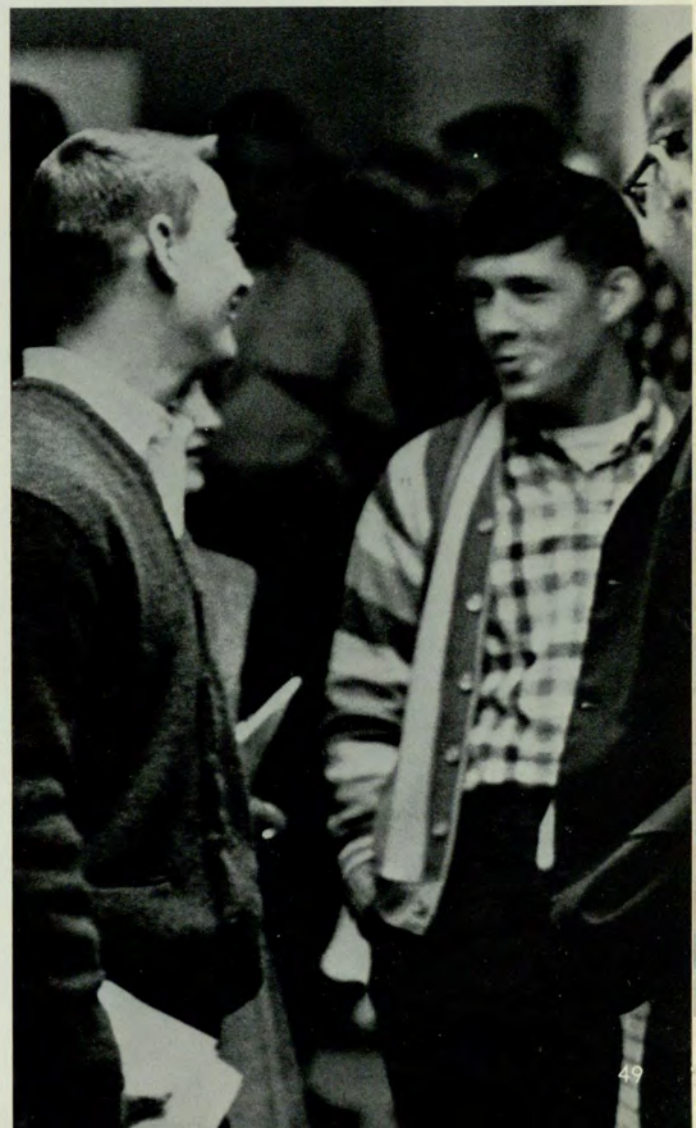

Rushees get a first look at Fraternity row and begin to choose friends and comrades.

Anxiety Runs High, and Decisions Are Many

Valuable lessons in understanding others are learned by fraternity men and rushees as decision draws near.

Tension runs high until pledging is over, then the real work begins.

Everyone gathers for the milking contest, and the farm girls await their chance.

Where is the faucet on this gal?
and he enjoyed every minute of it.

Jim Fletcher sets new record on obstacle course.

Oh, these  $\Sigma N$  sweepstakes are fun.

Some people were more at home than others at the mud hole, but everyone was willing to help.

The mud puddle was the center of attraction. It is hard to say who enjoyed it the most.

On your mark, get set, Eat Jello!

Golly, that was good grape jello.

The greased pig chase gave the girls a chance to match their wits.

The fish and egg break ended an afternoon of fun.

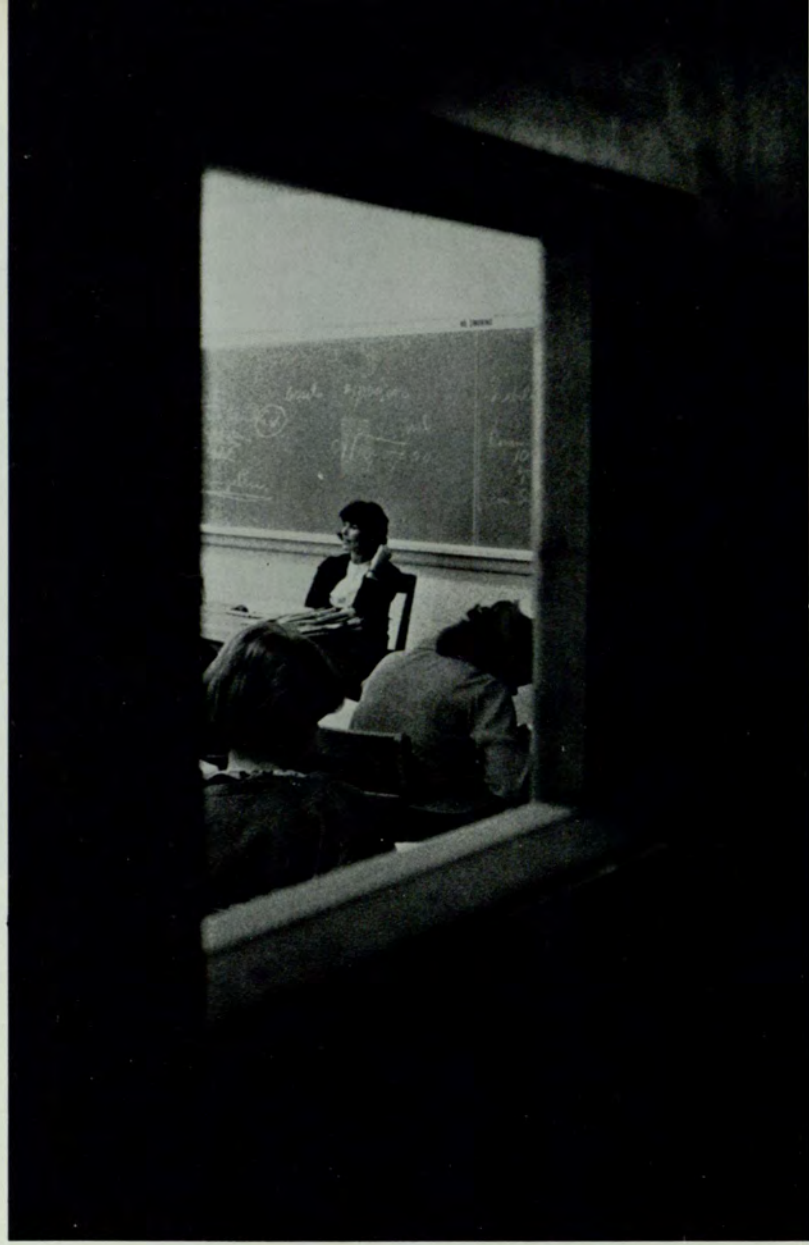

The measurement was close, but the milk sots won.

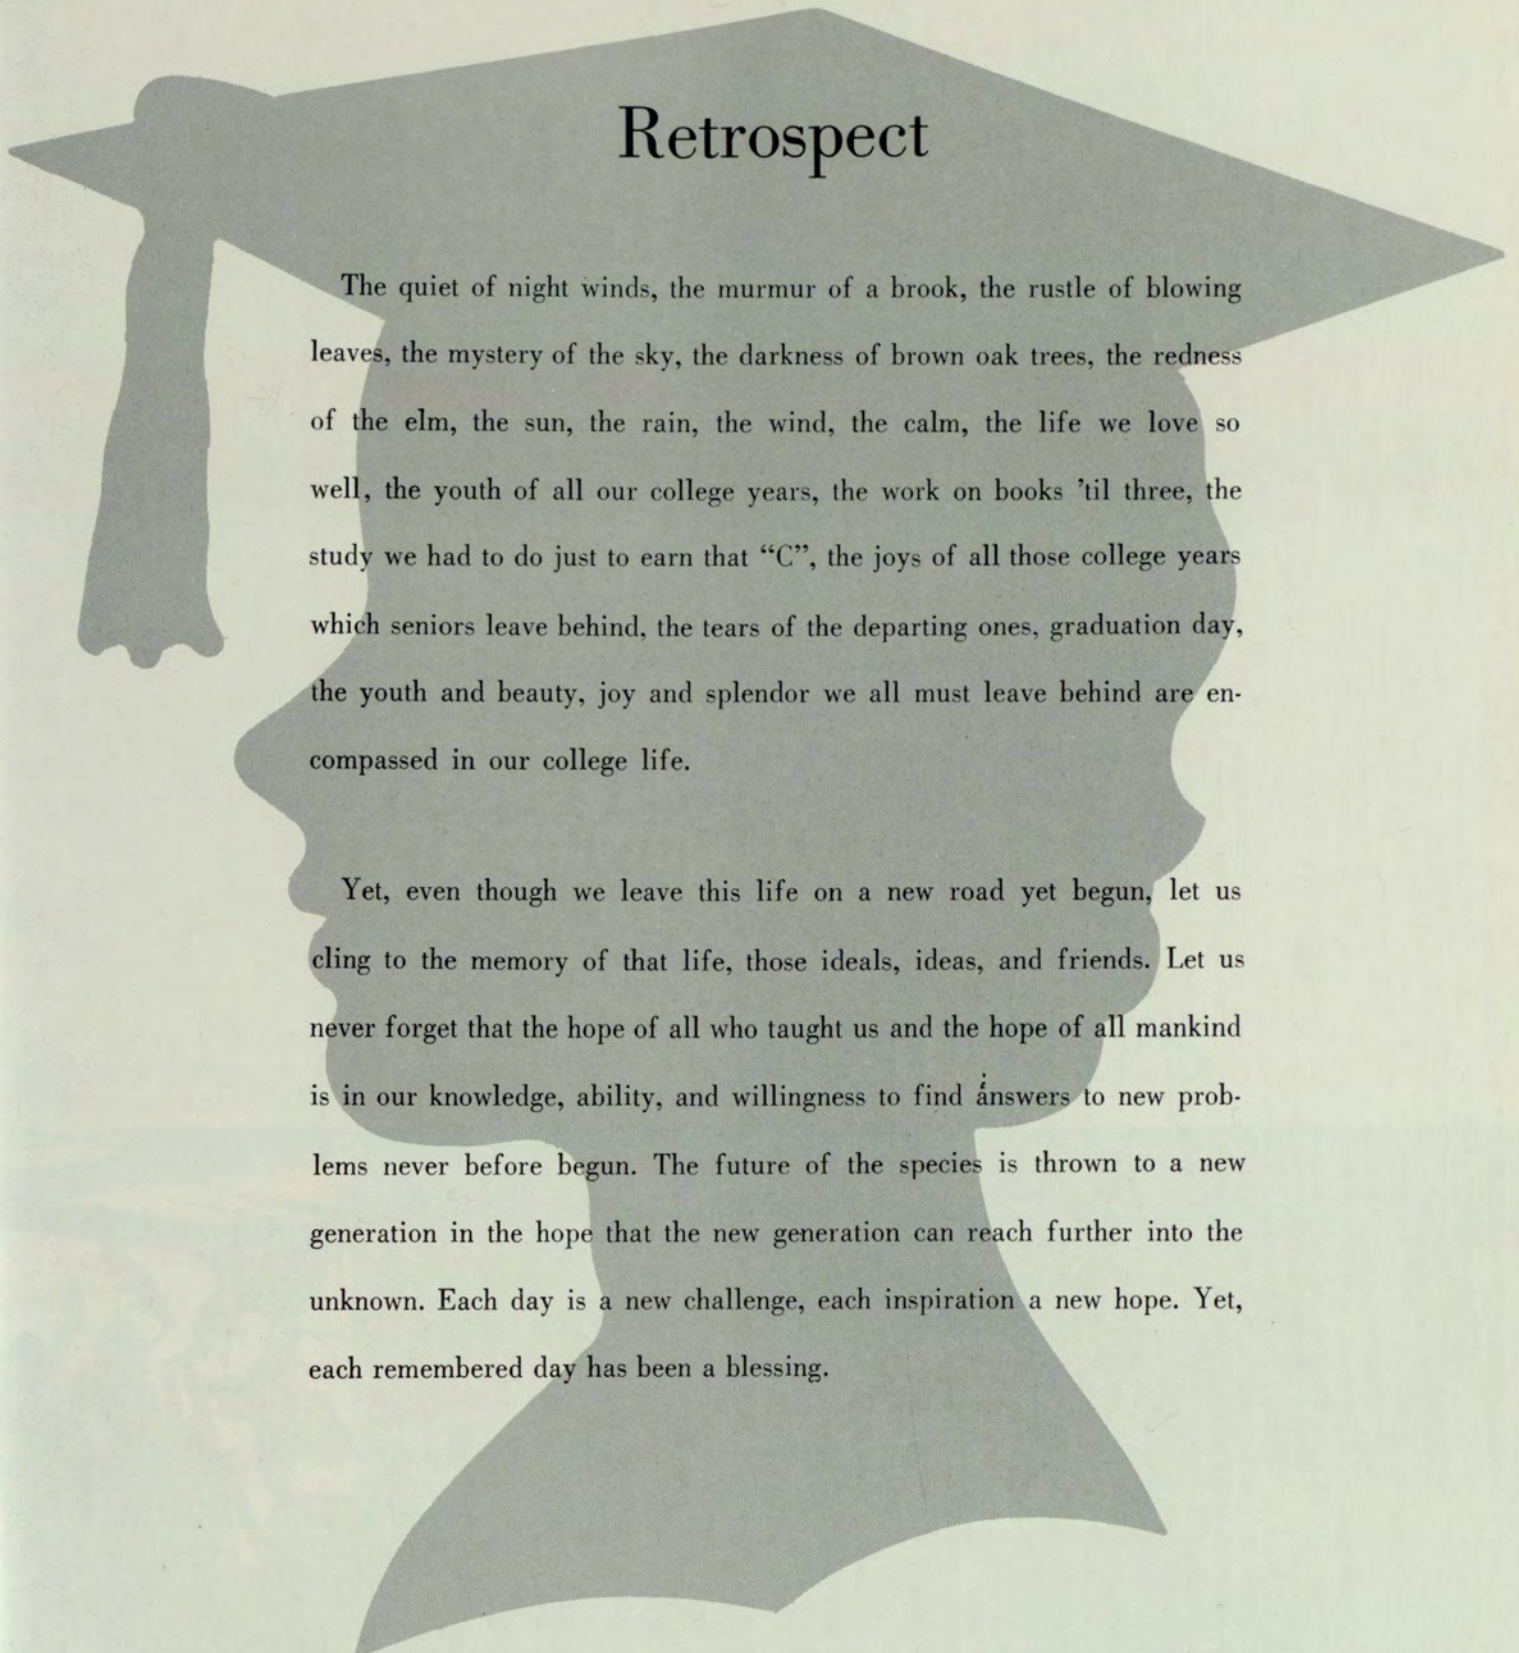

Everything was carefully timed and measured to insure fairness.

The bottle feed sorority girls had a wonderful time and all had fun.

Retrospect

The quiet of night winds, the murmur of a brook, the rustle of blowing leaves, the mystery of the sky, the darkness of brown oak trees, the redness of the elm, the sun, the rain, the wind, the calm, the life we love so well, the youth of all our college years, the work on books 'til three, the study we had to do just to earn that "C", the joys of all those college years which seniors leave behind, the tears of the departing ones, graduation day, the youth and beauty, joy and splendor we all must leave behind are encompassed in our college life.

Yet, even though we leave this life on a new road yet begun, let us cling to the memory of that life, those ideals, ideas, and friends. Let us never forget that the hope of all who taught us and the hope of all mankind is in our knowledge, ability, and willingness to find answers to new problems never before begun. The future of the species is thrown to a new generation in the hope that the new generation can reach further into the unknown. Each day is a new challenge, each inspiration a new hope. Yet, each remembered day has been a blessing.

Students vs Alumni

When all was over the alumni had won in probably the most exciting student-alumni basketball game ever played at Georgia State. The game ended in a tie and was forced into an overtime. When this ended in a tie, it was decided to have a sudden death play off. The Alumni were the first to score and the game ended 66-68. Dean England coached the students, and the alumni were headed by Jimmy Woodall.

The Players

The Players' last season was the most challenging and the most widely divergent presented in a number of years. Winter quarter saw Look Back In Anger by John Osborne, followed by F. Hugh Herbert's The Moon Is Blue spring quarter. The Father by August Strindberg was produced fall quarter.

The purpose of the Players is to teach and learn through experience in theatre, in the hopes that an even wider program in the performing arts will be forthcoming for Georgia State College. All students are eligible for membership.

This season is the seventh for the Players under the very capable direction of James E. Sligh, who is well known among theatre-goers at Georgia State.

Fall 1964

The Georgia State cross country team, coached by Dr. Kenneth England, had a two and two record this year against four strong teams. They won their opener against West Georgia by a large margin and then traveled to Georgia Tech to lose by only nine points. Their next meet was with undefeated Furman University. After the meet Furman was still undefeated, but our boys came back strong at the next meet to defeat Sewanee and finish the season. In an open meet at Callaway Gardens our team placed ninth out of sixteen teams.

K.A.E. and πKA Tie

Kappa Alpha Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha shared the Interfraternity Softball Trophy with 5 wins and 1 loss apiece. The grand old man Ken Massingale provided strength on the mound for KAE, while the Pikes relied on the slow pitching of Howard Nichols and a solid fielding team. Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma challenged the winners during the season, but were not successful in their attempt due to weakness in their pitching.

Interfraternity Football

ΣΝ Takes Football

With the completion of fall rush, the Georgia State Greeks gather at Piedmont Park "Dust Bowl," to prepare their teams for the upcoming I.F.C. Football games. The game at Georgia State is known as "rag-tag," and the competition between fraternities is intense. This season was characterized by an unusual event: the dethroning of a perennial football power, K.A.E. Sigma Nu, with no defeats and one tie, took the Interfraternity Football Championship. The season was very close, and the outcome was not to be decided until the next to last week of play, when Sigma Nu beat an up-surging Pi Kappa Phi team 19 to 7.

Sunday, October 11 witnessed the kickoff of the 1964 I.F.C. Football Season. It was a beautiful Sunday afternoon, sunny and bright, but it was even sunnier and brighter for Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Pi Kappa Phi, as they posted impressive victories over Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Epsilon Pi.

The second week of I.F.C. Football saw Sigma Phi Epsilon post its only victory of the season with a 13 to 7 victory over Alpha Epsilon Pi. The second game of the afternoon proved less than pleasant for Kappa Alpha Epsilon. Sigma Nu tied Kappa Alpha Epsilon 13 to 13, which was the first blemish on their score card in many years. In the last game of the afternoon, Kappa Sigma knocked off Pi Kappa Alpha 12 to 0.

The third week of play witnessed Kappa Sig staying in contention by trouncing AEPi 40 to 0. Pi Kappa Phi gave notice of their intentions as Paul Jenkins led his team past SPE 53 to 0. In the last game of the afternoon, PiKA knocked on the touchdown door several times, but had to yield to a stronger KAE team 12 to 0.

Look, Mom!

No. 3. He makes the catch.

No. 4. He's in his way.

Roger Axelson turns corner.

By the fourth week of IFC Football competition the league had been narrowed to three serious contenders for the IFC Football crown: KAE, Pi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Nu. All three of the contenders posted victories on this Sunday afternoon. Sigma Nu beat PiKA 18 to 0. Pi Kappa Phi was almost upset by Kappa Sigma but won going away by the score of 21 to 20. KAE trounced AEPi 31 to 0.

In the fifth week of competition Pi Kappa Phi knocked KAE out of contention with a 7 to 0 victory. This was the first loss for KAE in many years. Sigma Nu sweated out a close 14 to 0 victory over AEPi and Kappa Sigma squeezed by SPE 18 to 7.

The sixth week of competition was a crucial one. KAE coasted by SPE 28 to 0 and PiKA trounced AEPi 26 to 0. The last game of the afternoon was the crucial game of the season and one of the best played in IFC history as Pi Kappa Phi met Sigma Nu. Sigma Nu won a hard fought contest from Pi Kappa Phi 19 to 7 and the Snakes were assured of a tie for first place.

This picture isn't blurred. Paul Jenkins looked like this to all his opponents this year.

What's happening?

The final week of IFC Football was characterized by two upsets, and the clinching of the IFC Football Crown by Sigma Nu. In the first game of the afternoon, PiKA upset Pi Kappa Phi 13 to 12. In the second contest, Kappa Sigma shocked the spectators with an impressive 20 to 0 victory over KAE. In the final game of the season, Sigma Nu gained sole possession of the IFC Crown by walloping SPE 41 to 6.

ΣΝ Takes Crown

As is characteristic of all IFC sports, competition is rigorous and stiff. This year's competition was marked by a two way race between Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma, with Pi Kappa Alpha coming in a close third. Sigma Nu, the pre-season favorite and aiming for its third undefeated season and IFC Basketball Championship, met stiff competition from Kappa Sigma. The Championship was decided in the fifth week of competition as Sigma Nu downed Kappa Sigma 65 to 60 in overtime for their third straight IFC Basketball Championship.

Mel Burton out jumps Ronnie Haliburton.

The fifth week of competition saw Sigma Nu and Kappa Sig stage what was probably the most exciting game in IFC Basketball History. At the end of regulation play, the score was tied at 58 all. Jim Copeland netted 7 points in overtime as Sigma Nu beat Kappa Sigma 65 to 60 in overtime. KAE walloped AEPi 55 to 27 and Pi Kappa Phi beat SPE 51 to 33.

Terry Feldman put one in.

And the referee calls a jump ball!

The crowds were large and very enthusiastic.

In the next to last week of play, the Snakes breezed by AEPi 90 to 38, PiKA up-ended Pi Kappa Phi 69 to 44 and Kappa Sigma beat competitive KAE team 94 to 63.

The last week of competition opened with a 74 to 44 victory for Kappa Sig over Pi Kappa Phi. Sigma Nu closed its third straight undefeated season with a heavy 102 to 39 victory over SPE and KAE surprised the Pikes 61 to 54 in the season's final game.

ORGANIZATIONS

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity sponsors and participates in many activities during the school year. Every summer before school starts, several representatives attend one of the three conventions held by the national fraternity in alternate years. Then there is Formal Rush followed shortly thereafter with the Annual Apple Polishing Party given for the faculty members at GSC. Then there are the annual house parties in fall and spring. The Alpha Xi Deltas award a silver bowl to the girl in any of the greek organizations who has maintained a B average during her scholastic career at GSC and who has also been active in at least two organizations. Spring brings three main events. The first is our annual Spring Formal, highlighted by the tapping of new officers. Then April 17th marks our celebration of our founding in 1893. And last but not least is the scholarship dinner where those girls in the fraternity who have maintained high scholastic averages during the last school year are treated to steak, the rest of the members get hot dogs and beans. In between these main events Alpha Xi Deltas are busy participating in first and foremost their classes and studies, then everything else fun at GSC—Homecoming, Mardi Gras, Greek Week, they are members of the Signal and Rampway staffs, and participants in the various beauty contests, members of SGA, GSC Players, and various other organizations in school.

The total effect of participation in the fraternity and other activities on the members of Alpha Xi Delta is the increase in spirit and friendship within the fraternity and a greater allegiance to Georgia State College.

In 1897, four girls dedicated to loyalty and friendship founded Alpha Omicron Pi nationally at Barnard College of Columbia University. Founded at Georgia State College in 1956, Gamma Sigma Chapter is characterized by campus leadership, scholarship, social activities, and service.

In scholarship, the AOII's have members in Crimson Key, Phi Chi Theta, Beta Gamma Sigma, and Alpha Lambda Delta. Several AOII's were elected to Who's Who and others are active in the General Council, Student Government Association, the SIGNAL and the RAMPWAY. The Kappa Sig's chose an AOII for their sweetheart last Spring.

As for beauty, the AOII's are well represented. AOII is the home of the 1963 May Queen, the 1964 Greek Goddess, 1st runner-up to the 1964 May Queen, the 1964 Homecoming Queen, and the second runner-up to the 1964 Homecoming Queen. AOII's won every Homecoming event last Fall which included, in addition to the 1964 Homecoming Queen, winning the flat contest for the second year in a row, sponsoring the winning candidate for the Ugly Man Contest, and winning the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes.

Gamma Sigma always finds time for fun. Annually the pledges give a "Crying Towel" party for the pledges of all other sororities. The biggest social event of the AOII year is the annual Rose Ball weekend, consisting of an informal party and a formal ball, at which the trophy for the Most Outstanding Fraternity is awarded.

Alpha Omicron Pi takes pride in its close sisterhood, lasting friendships, and being awarded the Kappa Sigma trophy.

Alpha Phi was founded on October 10, 1872, at Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York. Throughout our long history Alpha Phi has maintained a well earned prestige and continued leadership in the fraternity world. Since its founding in 1956 Gamma Mu chapter has devoted itself to the development of the highest ideals of character, culture, and conduct.

Alpha Phi's have always been active in campus affairs. This year Alpha Phi's have served as President of Crimson Key, as secretary and as treasurer of Alpha Lambda Delta, as treasurer of the General Council, as members of the Student Government Association, and as participants in other campus organizations. An Alpha Phi was the recipient of the Panhellenic Award and the Alpha Xi Delta Cup. Other members have served as chairmen for the Homecoming, Greek Week, Mardi Gras, and Spring Festival committees. Alpha Phi can also claim one of State's cheerleaders, a member of the Sigma Nu Sweetheart Court, and Pledge Sweetheart of Pi Kappa Phi.

Among Alpha Phi's many social events are the Fall and Summer Retreats, a Spring Weekend of parties, an Alumni Christmas Party, our Founder's Day Tea, and our annual Heart Dance. All proceeds from the Heart Dance go to Alpha Phi's national philanthropy Cardiac Aid.

The Delta Delta Chapter of Delta Zeta is not only one of the most outstanding sororities at Georgia State, but it is also the leading chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority in the nation. Delta Delta has been chosen for the past four years as the number one Delta Zeta chapter in the nation.

During the past year Delta Zeta's have held the titles of May Queen, Miss Georgia State College, Battle Group Queen, Miss Rampway, six members of the Rampway court, Miss Freshman, and second runner-up to the Greek Goddess. Delta Zeta's are Sweethearts of Sigma Nu, Pershing Rifles, and Beta Theta Pi. Seven of the eight Georgia State Cheerleaders are Delta Zetas.

Many Delta Zetas serve on the Student Council, in Crimson Key, in Phi Chi Theta, and as editors on the Rampway and the Signal. Three Delta Zetas were named to Who's Who. A Delta Zeta holds the position of Alpha Lambda Delta president.

The annual events are the Pledge party, Founder's Day, the Spring Dinner Dance, and the Silver Tree Ball, at which Tony Claxton of Kappa Sigma was named Delta Zeta Man of the Year.

Delta Delta Chapter was honored this year by receiving the Scholarship trophy for maintaining the highest scholastic average among the sororities. At the national convention this summer, Delta Delta received the Council award for excellence in all fields; the awards for scholarship, membership, Mother's Club, and activities.

Delta Zeta is founded on the ideals of friendship and sisterhood. Through the interest and participation of Delta Zetas, first place in the Greek Week Sing has been won by the chapter for the past three years.

Mu Rho Sigma

Mu Rho Sigma Sorority was founded at Georgia State College in 1955, the only campus organization whose membership is limited to married women students. The purpose of the sorority is to promote friendship, scholarship and service for the college, in an atmosphere of mutual interests and understanding.

Mu Rho Sigma numbers among its members several who have achieved scholastic recognition by election to Alpha Lambda Delta, Crimson Key, Who's Who, Dean's List and Deans' Key. The sorority was the recipient of the Scholarship Award on two occasions.

Mu Rho Sigma encourages its members to take an active part in campus life and to give service and cooperation to the college and to other organizations. The sorority holds teas and informal coke parties in connection with its rush activities each quarter. Its "family" party in the spring is becoming a sorority tradition.

The purpose of Phi Chi Theta is to promote the cause of higher business education and training for all women; to foster high ideals for women in business careers; to encourage fraternity and cooperation among women preparing for such careers; and to stimulate the spirit of sacrifice and unselfish devotion to the attainment of such ends.

Business meetings are conducted once a month; and each March, Phi Chi Theta holds a Founders' Day Breakfast. On Honors Day each spring, an outstanding member is awarded the Phi Chi Theta National Key Award based on scholarship, activities, and leadership.

Officers for 1964-65 are: Pirena Francis, President; Carol Lackland, Vice-President; Annette Wade, Recording Secretary; Rita Puckett, Corresponding Secretary; and Susan Christopher, Treasurer.

Zeta Tau Alpha believes that fraternity membership gives those participating very definite and real values, a design by which each member may benefit. Although the membership has more than doubled in the last two years, quality has remained the keynote of Zeta sisterhood.

Zetas have emphasized the ideals of friendship, scholarship and activities by holding such honors as Mardi Gras Queen, Queen of Hearts, Pi Kappa Phi Sweethearts, Pi Kappa Alpha Dreamgirl, Homecoming Court, Miss G.S.A.C. Court, Battalion Sweethearts and finalist for Miss Freshman.

Delta Lambda Chapter was honored at the National Convention in Miami by being presented the National Achievement award for outstanding growth in scholarship, membership and activities since the last National Convention.

Zetas hold scholarship high, as is shown by such honors as Who's Who, Crimson Key, and Alpha Lambda Delta, as well as holding class and S.G.A. offices.

The social aspect of sorority life is never overlooked by Zetas; a major social function is held each quarter besides the many get-togethers for slumber parties, Christmas Caroling, and Pot-luck suppers.

Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity was formed in 1898, Delta Lambda Chapter was installed at Georgia State in 1961.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma Fraternity, the largest social organization at Georgia State, seeks to promote scholarship, leadership and brotherhood. The fraternity seeks to augment the college curriculum by providing a well rounded social life for its members. As evidence of its success in these endeavors, Kappa Sigma was awarded the Alpha Omicron Pi Outstanding Fraternity trophy for the year 1963-64.

Kappa Sigma has grown with Georgia State and continues to build as does our college. The purchase of a seven acre tract of land will provide a site for the fraternity lodge to be built in the near future.

Kappa Sigma's record for leadership speaks for itself enrolling the names of top men in business, education and politics on the national and local levels. At Georgia State the names of over thirty Kappa Sigs appear on the rolls of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and brothers hold offices in every phase of student government.

However, a fraternity is basically a social organization. Kappa Sigma is a leader in this field also. Weekly informal parties, formal events and even welfare projects illustrate the intangible ideal called brotherhood for which this fraternity is recognized.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Russell Gladding
PRESIDENT

Sydney Biggers
SWEETHEART

"For the establishment of friendship on a firmer and more lasting basis," begins the preamble of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. This ideal has been followed by many men since it was written on March 1, 1868. Today Pi Kappa Alpha ranks among the top fraternities in the nation and has one hundred and twenty-nine chapters across the United States.

Epsilon Nu Chapter was founded on February 25, 1960 at Georgia State, and since that time has grown in size and quality. PiKA stresses scholarship and has continued to improve its scholastic standing at Georgia State since its founding.

Along with producing good students, Pi Kappa Alpha develops leadership. Many positions in the Student Government Association have been held by Pikes. Currently, both the President and Treasurer of the Day S.G.A. are Pikes. Positions of Junior Senator and Evening Freshman President are held by Pi Kappa Alphas also. PiKA always makes a good showing in Interfraternity sports.

In 1964 the Pikes placed third in Basketball and were co-champions of Softball. The spirit of the Pikes is an outstanding feature during any season, win, lose, or draw.

This spirit carries over into many community projects. One such project, the annual Christmas drive for needy people, sponsored by PiKA, is well supported by all the Greeks at Georgia State.

In the line of social events the Pikes are second to none. Starting with its Garnet and Gold Rush in the Fall; continuing through the year with the annual Barn Party, Pledge Christmas Party, New Year's Eve Party; and ending in the Spring with the Dream Girl Ball and the famous Beachcomber Party, The Pikes have a full calendar of social events.

Thus through scholarship, leadership, athletics, service projects, and social events Pi Kappa Alpha continues to meet the needs of college men.

Pi Kappa Phi

Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity was chartered at Georgia State College in September, 1954, as the first national social fraternity on the campus. Pi Kappa Phi was founded nationally in Charleston, South Carolina, on December 10, 1904. The fraternity now contains over ninety chapters and twenty thousand brothers.

The aims of Pi Kappa Phi are to develop within men fraternal friendship, social responsibility, leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship, democracy, and valuable experiences.

Some of the many social events of the year are the Annual Rose Ball, the Jungle Party, the traditional Founders Day Banquet, and the New Year's Eve Party. Beta Kappa chapter is also an active participant in the many school sponsored activities as well as the Inter-Fraternity Council athletic program.

Through this wide association with men from all walks of life, the brothers and pledges are made more aware of their responsibilities as good citizens.

Sigma Nu

Since its founding at Lexington, Virginia, in 1869, the Sigma Nu Fraternity has initiated well over 85,000 men.

Sigma Nu seeks to build character, promote brotherhood, and share its accomplishments with all mankind. This is symbolic of our fundamental beliefs:

- To Believe in the Life of Love,
- To Walk in the Way of Honor,
- To Serve in the Light of Truth.

Eta Gamma Chapter participates in many activities throughout the school year. Those of primary significance are sponsorship of the Ugly Man Contest, which is held each year with the proceeds going to the Suttles' Scholarship Fund, and the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes, an inter-sorority field meet, held annually prior to Homecoming. Many of our members hold responsible positions on campus as class officers, president of the I.F.C., and editor of the Rampway. Also eight brothers were elected to Who's Who among American Colleges and Universities.

Sigma Nu is a FRATERNITY, not a club, for MEN, not boys, living by HONOR, not expediency.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

PRESIDENT
Wilmot Phillips

We of Sigma Phi Epsilon believe that a man will be made better for having been a member of our fraternity.

The Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon strive to be scholars, athletes, and campus leaders. But first of all we want to be good fraternity men, in all that the sacred words, Brothers in Sigma Phi Epsilon, mean.

We believe that the ideal fraternity group is the one in which is represented the scholar, the athlete, and the gentleman, and that the development of worthy college manhood is dependent upon a reasonable balance of types. By himself the athlete cannot make a fraternity. Nor can the scholar.

The brothers work hard to achieve the goals established by our founders at Richmond College in 1901.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Wiley Adkins
PRESIDENT

Lorna Linhart
SWEETHEART

The aims of Alpha Kappa Psi are to "further the individual welfare of its members; to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts, and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein; and to promote and advance in institutions of college rank courses leading to degrees in business administration."

Pi chapter, in service to the school, provides a group of student leaders, which the activities and publications of the fraternity encourage and develop, to perform tasks and services for the school of business, which can best be accomplished by a student group.

The 1964-65 school year proved to be extremely successful for Pi chapter. Twenty-one new brothers were initiated in the Spring Quarter of 1964 and a large group was initiated in the Fall Quarter.

Activities were particularly successful. Professional Dinners have been well attended by Brothers, Faculty Brothers, and Alumni. Social activities have been enjoyed by all, especially wives and dates. Plant tours to the Atlanta Times, the Carling Brewing Company and other industries were educational, interesting and enjoyable. Alpha Kappa Psi was also victorious over Delta Sigma Pi in the annual football classic by a score of seven to nothing thus adding another touch to a great year. Fund raising projects held during the year paid for the furniture in the new room in the new Student Activities Building. All of these events form a well-rounded program for the brothers and pledges of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Delta Sigma Pi

Tom Rankin
PRESIDENT

Julia Perry
SWFETHEART

Delta Sigma Pi is now well into its forty-third thriving year at Georgia State College. From its birth as a national organization at New York University, November 7, 1907, to its beginning at Georgia State College on March 12, 1921, and at present, the purposes and high ideals of the Fraternity have remained consistent. Its purpose is to provide students preparing for business careers with well rounded backgrounds of social activity, academic study, and personal contact with the commercial world of the future.

Delta Sigs have traditionally shown outstanding achievements in the fields of scholarship and leadership. The Fraternity has won the Intramural Key Scholarship Award for the eighth time out of the last nine years. In addition, the Fraternity graduated the two male students holding the highest averages in the School of Business for which the fraternity regained the Delta Sig Scholarship Key. In the field of leadership, the Fraternity can also be equally proud holding such coveted positions as President of SGA Evening, Vice President SGA Day, President of Blue Key, and others.

In regard to social activities, the Fraternity continuously strives for a well rounded program. This incorporates such activities as rush parties, professional dinners, professional tours, the Rose Ball held each Spring, and more recently co-sponsored functions with other organizations on campus.

Kappa Alpha Epsilon

Kappa Alpha Epsilon is the only local fraternity at Georgia State College. KAE is very unique in that the membership has only been between fifteen and twenty members since the founding in 1959. KAE is highly selective in its pledging procedures and this is reflected in the high academic and athletic standings of the fraternity.

Last year KAE consistently ranked higher academically than any of the other six social fraternities. Add this to their intra-mural athletic achievements, winning the All-Sports trophy four years consecutively, and the results are impressive for such a small but active group.

A new program has been installed this year to increase the membership of Kappa Alpha Epsilon. If this program can be accomplished, and at the same time the fraternity can maintain its high standards at Georgia State College, KAE has plans to petition Kappa Alpha National Fraternity for a national charter in the near future.

Beta Alpha Psi

Wiley Adkins
PRESIDENT

Beta Alpha Psi is a National Honorary and professional fraternity for students majoring in the field of accounting.

This organization was founded in 1919 at the University of Illinois and now has chapters at most of the major universities and colleges in the country. Beta Mu Chapter was founded at Georgia State College in 1961 and thus is one of the newest additions to the fraternity. Our chapter has the distinction of being the first chapter of Beta Alpha Psi in the state of Georgia.

As for its objectives, Beta Alpha Psi stresses scholarship and leadership in its program to prepare students better for their future careers in the accounting profession. Through his association with members of the profession, the accounting student acquires greater insight into his chosen field.

Beta Alpha Psi also emphasizes six principles of conduct that are fundamental to the profession. These are intellectual integrity, loyal service, respect for confidence, professional bearing, irreproachable associates and care for appearances.

It has been through these high standards that this organization has attained such widespread recognition within the accounting profession.

The Student Government Association-Day is the official governing body of all the students who are enrolled in day school at Georgia State. Its main purposes are to foster the spirit of loyalty to the College, to express the will and desires of the students, to strive toward a more active co-operation between the students and faculty and to work for the betterment of the school as a whole.

The Association is comprised of two divisions, the Senate and the Judicial Board. The President of the Student Government officiates over the Senate, which consists of the elected class officers, and the Chief Justice officiates over the Judicial Board, which is made up of six appointed Associate Justices.

Credo

Bob Knowles, Editor

CREDO 1965 acts to fill a vacuum in the accurate "coverage" of the students of Georgia State College. The activities of young men and women pursuing their divergent courses in leadership at the College are recorded in the weekly student newspaper. Their pictures are recorded in this yearbook. CREDO attempts to portray something more nebulous than basketball scores or pictures. It wants to give student thoughts and hopes a springboard, and place to be written. It is possible to attend Georgia State (or any other college) for four years, without an original idea fighting its way into a student brain. Thank God this is improbable, however. For it is these ideas, this conscious desire to create, that appear to the 1965 CREDO staff to be the finest fruits of college years.

The dreams of a college class of not so long ago are today the blueprints that that class, as leaders, are trying to follow. What will the blueprint of the college man and woman of today be like when New Frontiers and Great Societies hand down the reins? In some small way, the staff of CREDO 1965 hopes to show this.

School of Arts and Sciences

The primary purpose of the School of Arts and Sciences is to afford the student a liberal education, which by its nature is broad rather than narrow, devoted to intellectual development and discipline rather than to the acquisition of technical skills. It should give the student some knowledge of the achievements of the human mind, with special reference to the Western civilization of which both the ancient world and contemporary America are parts; of the historical and cultural backgrounds essential to a true understanding of our world; above all, of orderly thinking processes and of a scale of values by which he can distinguish the permanent from the trivial, the substantial from the pretentious, the good from the bad. To that end he will need some familiarity with historical and political studies, the sciences, and the arts. As a human being and as a citizen he will find this training of lasting significance. As a member of a profession he will find here desirable backgrounds—for scholarship and teaching in all fields of knowledge; for law and medicine, which stress increasingly the value of broad intellectual training; for journalism, and government service, and diplomacy. The curricula require a number of courses deemed essential, individually and as a group, to the intellectual competence at which the liberal education aims; in addition to these, the student has electives which he may use to further his general knowledge or to specialize in certain fields.

On the undergraduate level, the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts degree, the Bachelor of Science degree, and the Bachelor of Music degree. Students enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences may also prepare and become certified to teach on the elementary and secondary levels through programs which meet the requirements of the State Department of Education of Georgia. Through its Division of Graduate Studies the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Master of Arts degree in economics, English, history, mathematics, and political science; the Master of Science degree in biology and mathematics; the Master of Arts for Teachers degree; and the Sixth Year Program for Teachers. It has recently been authorized to grant the Bachelor of Science in Education degree and the Master of Education degree, both in the area of Special Education.

Music is an essential part of any education

A Professor is always willing to talk over any problem or question to help his students learn.

Learn about all the world not just your own part of it.

Practice no matter how tired you are or how late it gets practice until we get it right!

President Langdale points out plans for expansion of the College.

Art Department

About one hundred and fifty art majors are studying drawing, painting, advertising design, ceramics and crafts, art education, art history, and a host of other art courses on an undergraduate level at Georgia State College. The degree program is aimed toward preparation for graduate work in art and development of basic skills and knowledge that is directed toward professional excellence.

The Department occupies the seventh floor and part of the sixth floor of Kell Hall. A program of exhibition is presented each year in the Art Gallery, which is located on the first floor of Kell Hall. Here students may study original examples of art in a variety of media and styles. Too, Atlanta with its galleries, museums, advertising agencies, art studios and printing houses further enrich the general art climate for students of art at Georgia State.

Within the next two or three years a Center for the Arts is expected to be completed which will permit richer and broader programs in the arts.

ROBERT J. REIBER, B.S., M.S. (University of Georgia), Professor of Biology and Head of the Department of Biology.

Biology Department

Knowledge and understanding of the world in which man lives is the goal of the Department of Biology. Areas of study include biology or a study of the biological principles of animals and plants; botany or an extensive study of the plant sciences; bacteriology or an extensive study of micro-organisms; and zoology or an extensive study of the animal sciences. Work in the laboratory is a large part of any field of biology and the labs are maintained and taught as a part of every course in the Department of Biology. Students may elect to pursue a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology or in Medical Technology; or pre-professional courses in pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, and pre-pharmacy.

Chemistry Department

The courses in general chemistry attempt to combine the cultural aspects of the subject with the laying of a foundation of basic training for those who will continue with more advanced work in preparation for careers in chemistry, medicine, chemical engineering, pharmacy, and so forth.

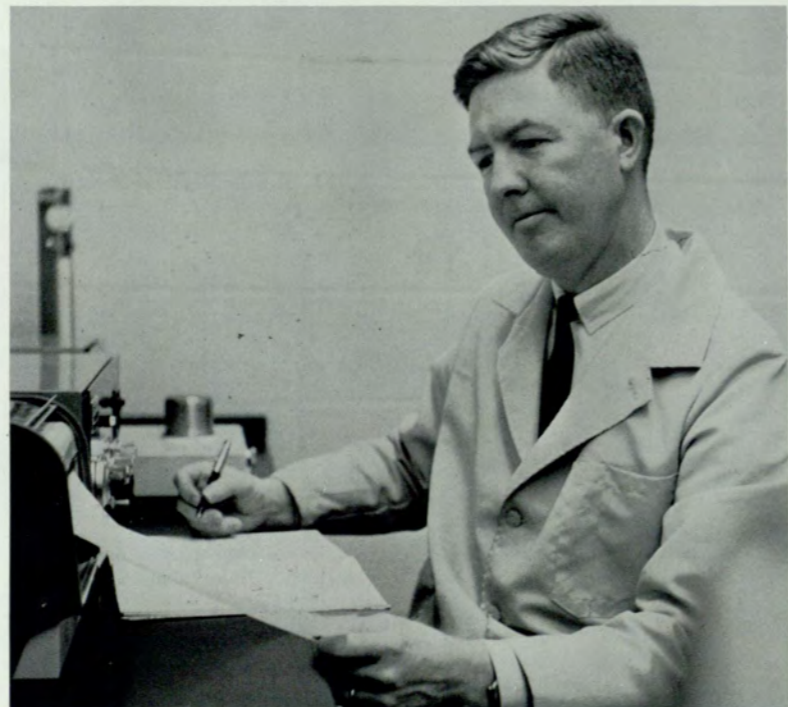

The cultural value of elementary chemistry lies chiefly in showing how a measure of order and meaning can be obtained from our otherwise bewildering observations in the world of matter. In the development of these unifying concepts, the study affords splendid illustrations of the methods of scientific logic.

Advanced courses are not without their cultural value, but there is more emphasis on the development of technical knowledge and experience which is necessary in chemistry and related fields. Georgia State's undergraduate program trains the student for work in research, control, and testing laboratories as well as for executive positions requiring a chemical background.

The Department of Chemistry at Georgia State College has enlarged its facilities for laboratory work. It has purchased a large amount of experimental equipment to enhance the opportunities for a graduate with a degree in chemistry from Georgia State.

Education Department

The Department of Education provides for professional preparation of elementary and secondary teachers. The course offerings include the foundations of education, the study of the learner and learning process, and the curriculum and teaching procedures of the public schools, the basic education courses and also desirable electives for the general education of parents and responsible citizens.

PAUL G. BLOUNT, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., (Cornell University), Professor of English and Head of the Department of English

English Department

Introductory courses in English are designed to improve the student's ability to analyze and to organize ideas, to write effective expository prose, and to read various types of literature with appreciative understanding.

Advanced courses offer opportunities to develop skill in critical and creative writing, to gain knowledge of the structure and evolution of the English language, to trace the history of English and American literature, to examine and apply theories of criticism, and to study intensively the works of major authors.

Literature, broadly defined, presents the best that has been thought and said in the world. The literatures of England and America are not only extremely rich but are also readily accessible. Through their study one may expect to enlarge and to discipline both the imagination and the emotions, to increase the understanding of human problems and character, and to gain aesthetic satisfaction through a participation in the ordered experience which the artist presents. The companion study of language sharpens the powers of observation, gives insight into the functions of language in human society, proposes problems of meaning and expression, and encourages the objective analysis of methods of communication.

Many of those who concentrate in English find a close relationship between its disciplines and their vocational aims. Business and industry, as well as the professions, put increasing stress upon the importance of clear writing and speaking, and offer opportunities for employment to persons who have specialized in the techniques of communication. In recognition of this, English courses are regularly included in pre-professional programs of all kinds.

Dr. Blount must constantly recruit new faculty to meet the growing needs of the college.

Foreign Language Department

The Department of Foreign Languages at Georgia State College currently offers a field of concentration in either the German, French, or Spanish languages. Elementary and intermediate courses are also offered in Latin and Italian. It is expected that elementary and intermediate courses in Russian will be offered starting in September, 1965. Prospective teachers for the elementary and secondary schools have the opportunity to prepare for a teaching career in any of the languages in which a major is offered. The latest in language laboratory equipment supplements all levels of classroom instruction.

It is increasingly evident that foreign language study is an opportunity for the student to obtain an understanding and appreciation of the character and significance of foreign culture and civilization. This can best be achieved by emphasizing both the active, communicative side of a language and the written, historical record of its literature. A successful language program—the goal of the College—will also attempt to integrate this conception of language study into the patterns of modern life and society.

Department of Geology, Geography and Anthropology

Geology is the science of the earth and is concerned with the study of rocks and their structures, and with earth history as disclosed by rock formations and fossils. Graduate geologists are found today in mining, petroleum, mineral exploration, research, teaching, ground water and surface water studies, soil analyses, and engineering.

The general objective of geographic study is an understanding of the various parts of the world, their inhabitants, and their resources. Such broad knowledge is a valuable adjunct for the appreciation of world problems and of intelligent citizenship. Professional careers in geography may be followed by teaching on various levels, in public service, and in business.

Anthropology is the science which deals with the evolution of man as a biological organism; with the origin, development, and integration of the customs, techniques, and beliefs that make up the ways of life of human social groups; and with the interrelationship of these biological and cultural factors in human behavior.

CHESTER R. SMITH, B.A., M.S. (Louisiana State University) Associate Professor of Geology and Head of the Department of Geology, Geography, and Anthropology

SANFORD HAROLD BEDERMAN, B.A., M.A. (Louisiana State University), Assistant Professor of Geography

DAVID E. OGREN, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (Northwestern University), Assistant Professor of Geology

History Department

The field of history embraces all that can be known about the activity of man in society from the earliest times to the present. It includes the study of the political experiences, economic developments, religious expressions, social institutions, intellectual creations, and history provides not only an excellent foundation for many related fields of study, but also a background for a better appreciation of our cultural heritage along with a much needed understanding of the world in which we live.

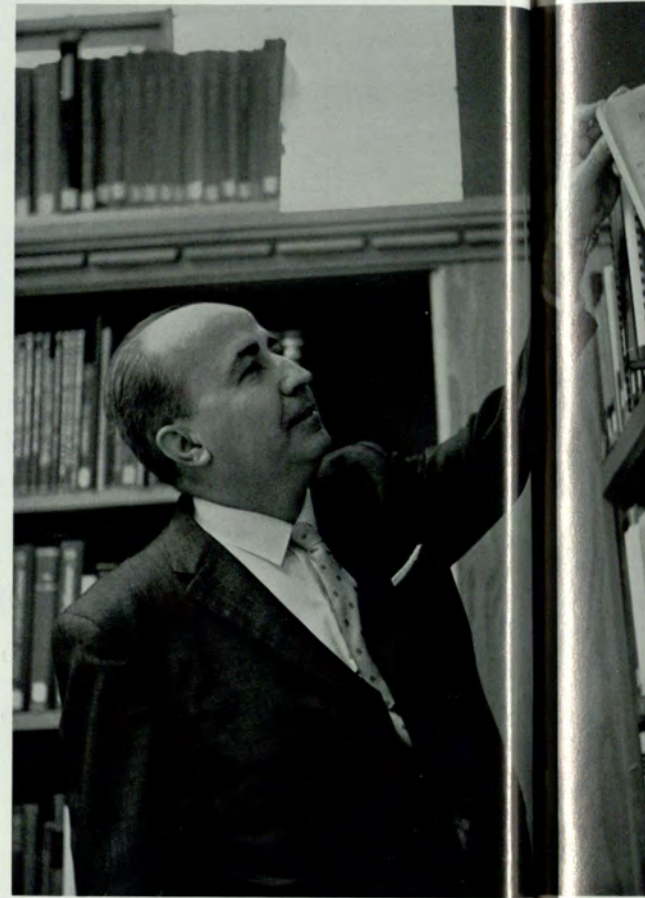

The survey courses, both in European and American history, are especially designed with the above view in mind. The advanced courses are treated with sufficient depth and are intended to provide a thorough grasp of a particular area or period of history.

The philosophy which guides the instruction in the Department rests on a healthy respect for factual evidence and the objective handling of this evidence. The attempt is being constantly made to stimulate the student's interest in the subject and to train him in the analysis of cause and effect as well as in the synthesis of historical thinking.

Journalism Department

The Department of Journalism at Georgia State College offers a major which prepares students for newspaper, radio, television, magazine, or public relations careers. Also, some of the Journalism courses are designed so that a non-Journalism student may take them as general education courses.

The College was authorized by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia in December, 1963, to offer a Journalism major within the Bachelor of Arts degree program. (Only nine months later, by the Fall Quarter of 1964, there were 69 Journalism majors at the College.) Thus Georgia State became the second educational institution in Georgia offering a major in journalism.

The Department's objective is to turn out good writers and editors with a strong liberal arts-social sciences background. To supplement classroom instruction, the Department uses the metropolitan area of Atlanta, with the help and facilities of the news media, as a "living laboratory" for its students. Journalism students gain practical experience on the Georgia State Signal and on the WPLO-FM radio station, which is programmed by students.

In August of 1964, the College was voted to membership in the American Society of Journalism School Administration—even before the College had graduated its first Journalism major.

GARNET LOUIS TILLER, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky) Professor of Mathematics and Head of the Department of Mathematics.

Mathematics Department

The mathematics department teaches the mathematics courses leading to five degrees with a major in mathematics. These degrees are the two undergraduate degrees, bachelor of arts and bachelor of science; and the three graduate degrees, master of arts, master of science, and master of arts for teachers. In addition to this function the mathematics department is a service department to the students in the School of Business Administration, and students in the sciences of the School of Arts and Sciences. The department also teaches the courses which impart essential knowledge of mathematics to all students of the college.

Music Department

The educational purpose of the Department of Music is directed toward assisting the individual student to the fullest possible development of his innate musical gifts and helping him to make the musical arts a constructive cultural asset in his own life and that of his fellow man, to the extent that this will be compatible with his own interests and happiness and that of the community in which he will live. The Department furthermore aims to provide opportunities to the greatest possible number of students to share in the heritage of the music culture of the human race and in turn to contribute to this culture.

Philosophy Department

Philosophy studies the basic presuppositions of human belief, thought and action critically examining all that is taken for granted when men claim to know what they are talking about and to be sure of what they are doing. Philosophical scrutiny ranges from an examination of the presuppositions of everyday affairs to those of scientist, artist, prophet, and priest. Hence philosophy is an appropriate study for those wishing a thoughtfully broad education, and it is invaluable for those anticipating careers of guidance and leadership in all policy-making and policy-executing professions.

RALF F. MUNSTER, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (Duke University), Professor of Philosophy and Head of the Department of Philosophy

Physical Education Department

The Department of Physical Education is severely handicapped in attempting to fulfill its objectives since no facilities are available on campus for this purpose. However, we are anticipating approval by the Board of Regents and the acceptance by the College Administration of an adequate physical education facility to be located at the corner of Decatur Street and Piedmont Avenue. This facility will provide for sound programs in Basic Physical Education, Intramural Sports, Teacher-Training, and Intercollegiate Sports.

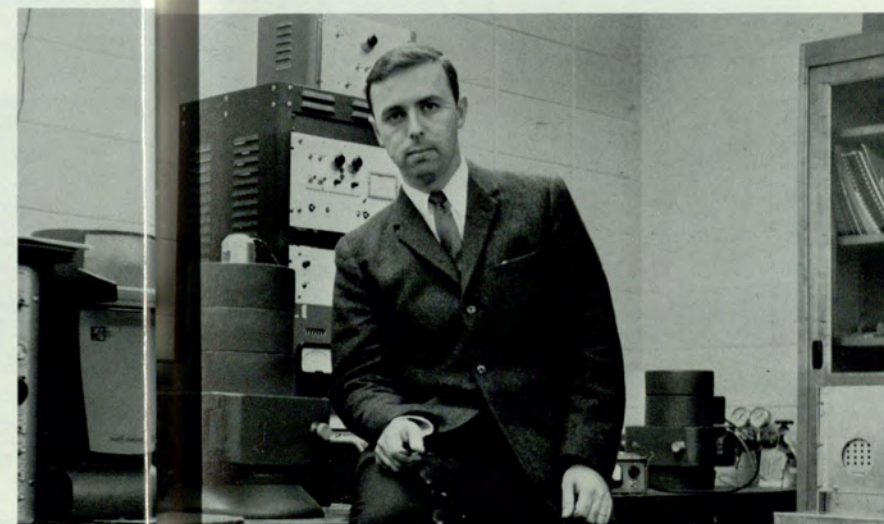

The Department was fortunate in securing the services of two part-time specialists to work in the areas of dance and the military arts. This allows the student a wider selection of courses in fulfilling the six quarter physical education requirement.

HERBERT BURGESS, B.S. Ed. (University of Georgia). Instructor in Physical Education and Military Property Custodian

RICHARD WEHR, B.S., M.Ed., Ed.D., (Florida State University). Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Physical Education.

J. H. HADLEY JR., B.S., M.S., Ph.D., (Duke University) Professor of Physics and Head of Department of Physics

Physics Department

The Georgia State College Department of Physics offers a comprehensive major program leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. A wide range of both lecture and laboratory courses are offered.

The past year has been a year of transition for the Department of Physics. Many changes have taken place giving Georgia State College a top-quality physics program. The Physics Department's facilities on the fifth floor of Kell Science Hall have been completely renovated. New classrooms, teaching laboratories, offices, instrument shops, and research laboratories have been provided.

Georgia State has purchased a great deal of instructional and research equipment during the past year. The new apparatus, the new departmental quarters, greatly improved library holdings, and an enlarged staff are evidence that Georgia State recognizes the importance of a dynamic physics department.

Students in Physics lab verify Hooke's law by performing simple experimental measurements.

Political Science Department

Whatever else Georgia State graduates may be or may do, be they doctors, lawyers, teachers, scientists, business men and women, nurses, or housewives, they will be citizens. As college graduates they will hold positions of leadership and influence in their professions and their communities. It is vitally important that they be prepared not only to understand the political issues that confront society but that they be motivated to participate intelligently and effectively in the political process. It is one of the duties of the Department of Political Science to equip and to motivate our students to be effective citizens in the communities in which they live. Beyond the preparation for citizenship, however, the study of political science can make a significant contribution to one's liberal education. It might very well be claimed that a liberal education is not complete without some understanding of our western political heritage, the non-western political systems and the totalitarian political systems. The Department of Political Science has well qualified teachers and sufficient course offerings to fulfill its responsibilities in all of the areas named above.

BASCOM OSBORNE QUILLIAN, JR., B.S., LL.B., M.A., (University of Georgia), Assistant Professor of Political Science and Assistant Dean of Students

GEORGE GERHARD THIELMAN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (Western Reserve University), Associate Professor of Political Science

WILLIAM MCKINLEY GRUBBS, A.B., M.A. (University of North Carolina), Professor of Political Science and Head of the Department of Political Science.

BAILEY M. WADE, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., (George Peabody College), Professor of Psychology and Head of the Department of Psychology

Psychology Department

The general objective of instruction in psychology is to give the student a scientific attitude toward, and an understanding of, human behavior. He is given an opportunity to learn what research has shown about how we perceive, learn, and think; how individuals differ from one another; how the personality develops from infancy to maturity; and how interpersonal factors affect human relations in the home, on the job, and in the community.

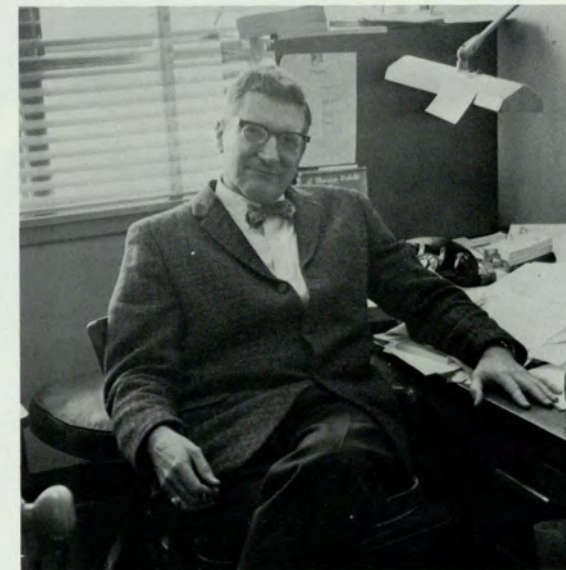

GRANVILLE B. JOHNSON, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Colorado), Professor of Psychology

W. GREGG LANIER, A.B., M.A., (Kent State University), Instructor in Psychology

Sociology Department

Courses in sociology are designed to provide the student with an understanding of the social character of human life, and of the impact of varying forms of social organization on human affairs. Department offerings include courses in contemporary social problems, juvenile delinquency, collective behavior, rural-urban sociology, marriage and the family, criminology, and methods of sociological research. And undergraduate training in sociology is relevant to employment in the teaching of the social sciences, research in public and private agencies, community and regional planning, social work, personnel management, and the administration of various kinds of institutions.

ROBERT E. GARREN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (University of North Carolina) Professor of Sociology and Head of the Department of Sociology

DR. BARBARA PITTARD, B.S., M.A., Ph.D. (Emory University) Assistant Professor of Sociology

DR. WILLIAM D. AMIS, A.B., Ph.D., (University of North Carolina), Associate Professor of Sociology

HILDA G. DYCHES, B.S., (University of Georgia) Special Lecturer, Department of Speech and Drama

Speech Department

Courses in speech are intended to provide the basic instruction for general students in the fundamentals of speech or for the students who anticipate professional careers as speakers and actors or who intend to teach speech or drama. The courses offered by the Department of Speech and Drama will be of cultural and practical value to students of both the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration by increasing personal effectiveness in public speaking, conversation, and the everyday concerns of life.

School of Business Administration

Curricula in the School of Business Administration are designed to give broad experience in the liberal arts and applied sciences as preparation for productive living and progress toward executive responsibilities. The student will find his studies spread over diverse disciplines throughout his four years so that he may maximize his opportunities to apply concepts, wide-range facts, opinions, and techniques to the art of decision making. Whether a student's objective be that of proprietor or partner in a firm, executive in a private institution, or officer in a public or quasi-public institution, the core work presented is basic to the appreciation and practice of the administrative function.

The School of Business Administration is organized into seven departments, a Bureau of Business and Economic Research, and the Computing and Data Processing Center. The Computing and Data Processing Center was established in the School of Business Administration in 1959. The Center has the dual purpose of offering instruction to the students and faculty of the college in the use of computer facilities and of assisting faculty and students with research activities. In the accomplishment of its objectives the Center will acquaint the students with one of the newest instruments of science and industry, the electronic computer.

The Bureau of Business and Economic Research was organized in 1950 to conduct research in business and economics. Its basic policy is to increase both basic and applied knowledge in the areas of general economics, business operations, and regional economic development. The Bureau publishes each month a periodical, The Atlanta Economic Review, which includes information on business trends and articles of business and economics.

The degrees offered by the School of Business Administration, which is a full member of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, are the Bachelor of Business Administration, Master of Business Administration, Master of Acturial Science, Master of Professional Accountancy, Master of Business Education, Master of Hospital Administration, Doctor of Business Administration, and Doctor of Philosophy.

Dr. W. R. Knight heads the Bureau of Business and Economic Research within the School of Business Administration.

Charles McDonald and Ed Cloud confer after class with their professor, Dr. Brown of the Real Estate Department.

Dr. Eli Zubay is the Advisor for students in Actuarial Science.

Dr. Chapman teaches in the Department of Management.

Accounting Department

The Accounting program is developed to provide education for public accounting and executive positions in industry, government, and institutions. The field of accounting is broad and challenging, and the student at Georgia State College gains the ability to apply this knowledge in managerial, financial, economic, and general business situations. A student with an aptitude in accounting will find unlimited opportunities for professional recognition, financial reward, and public services.

CATHRINE E. MILES, B.S., M.S., LL.B., Ph.D., (University of Alabama), Professor of Accounting and Head of the Department of Accounting.

Business Education Department

Business Education is offered to students in Business Administration at Georgia State in order to prepare them for teaching and secretarial work. A sound background in knowledge and skills, as well as leadership education, are important objectives for teachers and office personnel.

JAMES F. CRAWFORD . . . B.A., M.A., Ph.D., University of Wisconsin) Professor of Economics and Chairman, Department of Economics.

Department of Economics

Modern man is faced with a host of economic problems, personal and public, and almost every social problem has economic aspects. Consequently, broad understanding of the modern world requires some knowledge of the functioning of the economic system; and the individual's intelligent participation in the solution of problems in our society will be aided by an understanding of the point of view and the techniques of analysis developed by economists. The introductory courses in economics are designed for this purpose, as well as to lay the groundwork for further courses in economics for those students who may wish to pursue the subject more intensively.

In the School of Business Administration, the department of Economics offers the B.B.A. degree with a major in economics or statistics, and the M.B.A., D.B.A., and the Ph.D. in economics. Students in the School of Arts and Sciences may work toward the A.B. and M.A. degrees with a major in economics. The programs stress quantitative analysis and are designed to provide preparation for careers in a broad range of fields.

JACK BLICKSILVER B.A., M.A., Ph.D., Northwestern University Professor of Economics.

LORAINÉ DONALDSON B.A., M.A., University of Florida Assistant Professor of Economics

JAN MIZE B.S., M.B.A., (Emory University) Instructor of Economics

HENRY C. PEPPER A.B., M.A., Ph.D. State Univ of Iowa Professor of Economics

Finance Department

The Department of Finance offers a program designed to prepare students for careers in any one of several fields concerned with the management of money and funds. Students planning careers in commercial banking are given a thorough grounding in the principles and practices of money and banking. Students interested in becoming financial officers of business corporations are trained in the theory and practice of corporate and business finance. Finance majors are educated in the principles and practices of investment analysis, portfolio management and investment banking, mortgage banking, consumer finance, and public finance. Special attention is given to the relation of financial policies and operations to the economic system as a whole. A wide range of opportunities is available in the fields of domestic and international finance for students who complete the program of the Department.

ALBERT H. CLARK . . . B.B.A., M.B.A., Ph.D. (University of Pennsylvania), Professor of Finance and the Department Chairman.

HOWARD S. GORDMAN B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Michigan), Professor of Finance

Insurance Department

The purpose of the courses offered in the Department of Insurance is to provide the student with an education that will satisfy professional needs. There are three areas of concentration in the Department of Insurance. The area of risk and insurance seeks to provide each student with an understanding of the pervasive nature of risk in our economic and social life, and to give him a fundamental understanding of insurance as a device for dealing with risk in business. In the United States the insurance industry is the second largest employer, hence the opportunities for careers in insurance are surprisingly favorable.

The area of Actuarial Science seeks to educate students who wish a professional career in the insurance industry in the capacity of a specialist whose function it is to make the mathematical calculations necessary to maintain the insurance business on a sound financial basis. The actuarial science program of the Department is recognized as the center for actuarial education in this part of the United States.

The academic goal of the law area is to acquaint the prospective businessman with substantive principles of law governing commercial transactions and their proper relationship with the social and economic objectives of business. Another important function of the professors in the law area is to counsel with students interested in careers in law.

ELI ZUBAY B. S., M. A., Ph.D. (Iowa State University) Professor of Actuarial Science and Mathematics.

Management Department

The basic objectives of the Management Department are reflected in a program designed to provide professional education and to develop students for careers in the management of organizations. Operating from the belief that there is a basic need for professional managers, the department offerings are so geared that they are relevant to all types of organizations whether industrial, commercial, financial, social or governmental. Further, it is the desire of the Department of Management to prepare students to assume positions of managerial significance in business, economics, philanthropic, religious, and social institutions.

Recognizing the importance of implementation in the learning process, the faculty of the Management Department is made up of dedicated educators who have been able to combine effectively academic training with direct consultative involvement in a whole range of business and economic activities. In addition, these professors have been actively engaged in both research and writing which have resulted in the publication of widely read and utilized books and articles.

Marketing Department

One of the oldest departments at Georgia State College is the Marketing Department. Over a thousand students have received a B.B.A. degree with a major in Marketing in the last two decades alone from Georgia State.

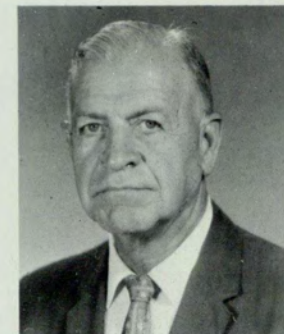

Our Marketing Department is the only one in the Southeast where a student can receive four different degrees: 1) B.B.A. Degree—major in Marketing, 2) B.B.A. Degree—major in Art-Advertising, 3) M.B.A. Degree in Marketing and 4) D.B.A. Degree in Marketing.

All full-time faculty members of the Marketing Department possess doctoral degrees plus practical business experience.

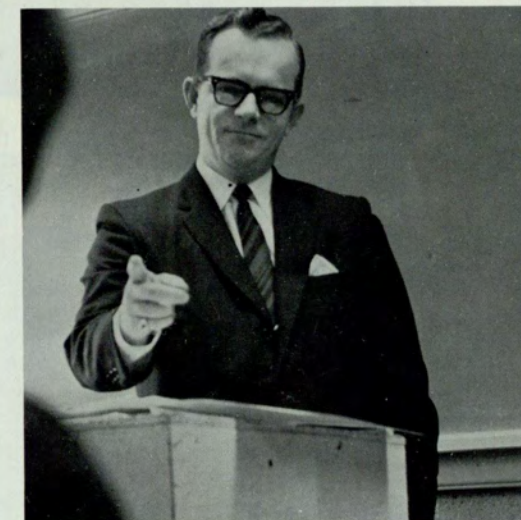

Students majoring in marketing can concentrate in five main areas: 1) Sales and Sales Management, 2) Research, 3) Physical Distribution and/or Transportation, 4) Advertising and/or Art, and 5) Retailing. The Placement Office at Georgia State indicates there are now more job openings in Marketing than any other area.

Real Estate Department

Courses in the Department of Real Estate are designed for students who are interested in the many fields of business and government where real estate is of significance. Such fields include real estate brokerage, appraising, taxation, law, property management, real estate development, mortgage banking, construction, government loan guarantees and insurance. In the city of Atlanta no student could go wrong in such a field. The real estate area is one which is vital to the progress of Atlanta, Georgia, and the South.

Guidance Office

Academic advisement for students is offered by the Guidance Office of the School of Business Administration and by the Office of the Assistant Dean in the School of Arts and Sciences. The purposes and functions of these offices are to assist students in (1) planning programs of study in accordance with their particular interests and abilities, (2) evaluating previous academic work and earned credits, (3) defining educational objectives and outlining procedures of attainment, (4) assessing potentialities for intellectual growth and development, (5) discovering sources of scholastic difficulties and outlining needed remedial work, (6) selecting course work commensurate with the student's abilities and aspirations, and (7) efficiently scheduling classes.

Before and during registration, members of the faculty are available to the students for assistance in the selection of course work and in the scheduling of classes. Information concerning degree requirements and college regulations is provided and topics of general academic interest may be discussed.

LEJEUNE P. BRADLEY A.B.J., M.S., Ed. D. (Indiana University) Associate Professor and Director of Guidance, School of Business Administration.

Bureau of Business and Economic Research

Organized in 1950, the Bureau of Business And Economic Research in business and economics. Its basic policy is to increase both basic and applied knowledge in the areas of general economics, business operations, and regional development.

The Bureau's program for carrying out its research with the faculty, is an aid to individual faculty members interested in working on research of their own.

In addition to its research activities, the Bureau has a program for publication. The Atlanta Economic Review, which includes information on business trends and articles on business and economics, is published monthly; and special studies by faculty members are published from time to time.

Contracts for research projects are made with industry and government. The Bureau is a member of the Associated University Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

JERE ATCHISON BBA, M.B.A., (Ga. State College) Instructor and Research Assistant

MARY BOWDOIN A.B., M.A., (University of Georgia) Assistant Professor and Editor of Publications

WILLYS R. KNIGHT B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Maryland) Professor and Director, Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Computer Center

The School of Business Administration has installed in the Computer Center a modern solid-state electronic computer, the IBM 1620 Model II. The Computer Center offers to the faculty and the students of both schools an opportunity to learn to use this new tool. Courses in its use are scheduled regularly, and students and faculty are encouraged to make use of the facilities in their research and teaching.

In tomorrow's world, much that is today's drudgery will be accomplished by machines. In the day-to-day operation of businesses, the electronic computer has already made great and far-reaching changes in both the handling of business data and the manager's approach to his problems. Mathematics, once the tool of the scientist and the engineer, is today an indispensable part of the knowledge of the modern accountant, sales manager, economist and company president. The computer, to such enlightened leaders is far more than a gigantic accounting machine; it is a means for insight never before available.

To natural and social scientists and mathematicians, the computer has opened doors to problem areas which, because of the massive volume of computations required, could not previously be investigated. It has also presented new methods for the solution of old problems and has become an area of research in its own right.

WILLIAM H. WELLS . . . B.B.A., M.B.A., (University of Georgia), Assistant Professor and Director of the Computing and Data Processing Center.

BETTY J. CILSICK
B.B.A., (University of Georgia) Instructor in Electronic Data Processing

Hospital Administration

The Hospital Administration program at Georgia State College is structured in three major ways. First, students may enter the college in the regular manner and take the first three years' requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration and in their senior year take the nine credit courses in Hospital Administration and receive a Bachelor of Business Administration degree. Second, those who already have a degree may take the nine courses in Hospital Administration and receive a certificate. Finally, the Graduate School of Business offers a graduate program in Hospital Administration which leads to a Master of Hospital Administration degree.

The Hospital Administration program is offered as a result of the need for trained administrators for the rapidly increasing number of hospitals. The hospitals in the area cooperate to provide facilities and opportunity for required hospital experience. Dr. E. T. Eggers is director of the Hospital Administration program.

E. T. EGGERS, B.S., M.S., D.B.A., (Indiana University), Professor of Management and Director of the Hospital Administration Program.

Institute of International Business

The Institute of International Business is an integral part of the School of Business Administration at Georgia State College. The primary mission of the Institute is to prepare graduate business students who choose to major in the field for careers in the international phases of business life. The Institute's program is administered through the Graduate Division of the School of Business Administration.

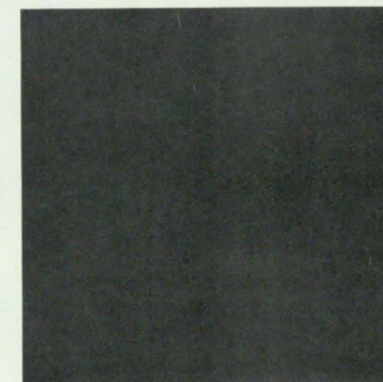

By emphasizing a broadly structured program, the Institute seeks to develop the proper levels of understanding and the constructive attitudes required by American business if it is to successfully compete in international markets.

In addition, the program will assist the business student in developing a sensitivity to the requirements of doing business in foreign markets. Emphasis is placed on the problems relating to environment, political, economic and the cultural aspects, which differ significantly from those encountered in the domestic market.

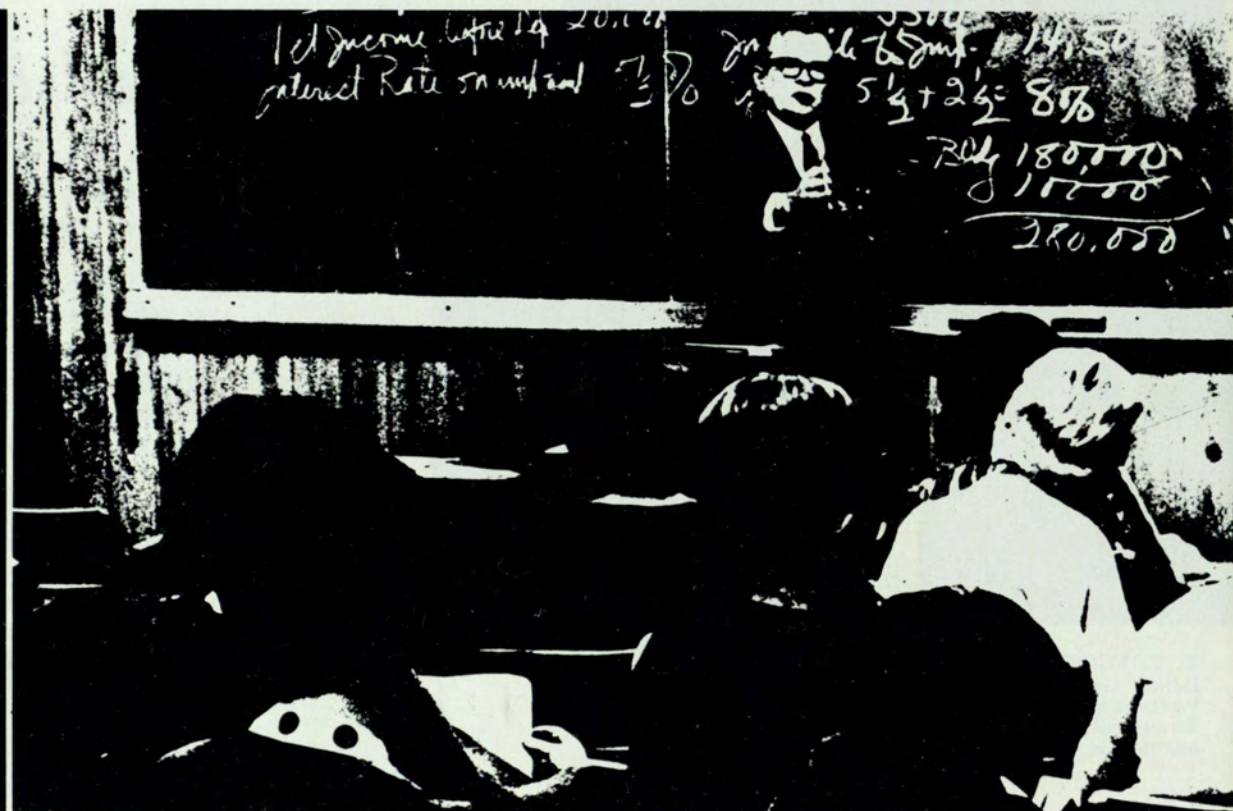

E. WILLIAM OGRAM, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Illinois) Professor of Economics and Head of the Institute of International Business.

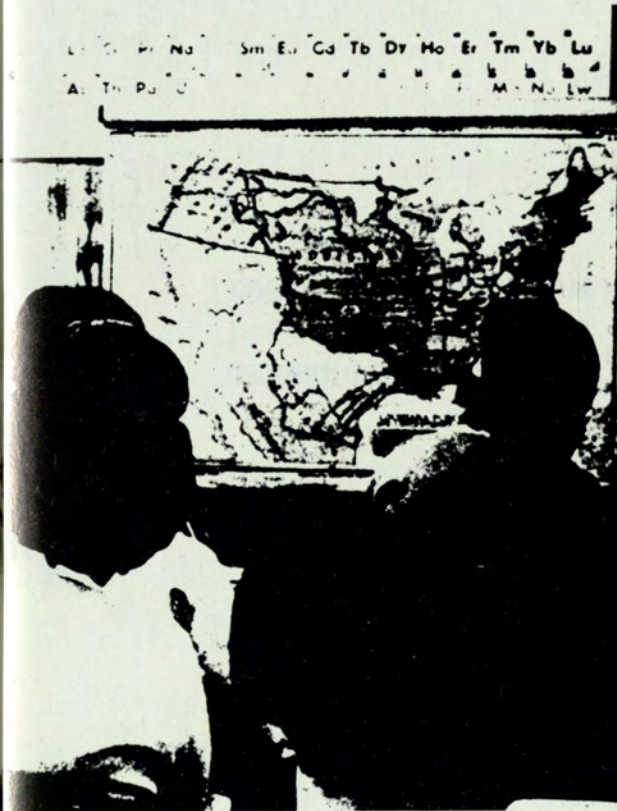

Those concerned with this program at Georgia State College feel that Atlanta, the distribution and financial center of the Southeast, will play an increasingly important role in the promotion of international markets. There is, therefore, a genuine need for the college and the community to devote appropriate educational energies toward a program designed to strengthen and promote international business.

When an Editor of a yearbook comes to the final countdown, he feels thankful, but also remorseful. The many things that arise during a year create a challenge to one's intestinal fortitude. Without a dependable and conscientious staff, this challenge can be overwhelming. But as usual, amidst the confusion, planning, and hard work, a large and enthusiastic staff has dwindled down to a few dedicated workers. To these few—Thanks. To the others who also contributed in their own way—Thanks.

Special thanks are due Noel Davis for his work on the introduction section; Bill Diehl, for his superb work on the beauty section; and Mrs. Loula Cantrell for designing the seal on the cover. A very special and warm-hearted thanks to Dr. England for helping me in many problems, and for listening to infinite and unlimited gripes and troubles. To the many people whose names should be here, but space will not allow—Thanks.

In this year's Rampway, we have drawn talent from many fields, and have tried to create a yearbook unlike any Rampway in the past. We, the staff, hope you will approve, and like, the changes. The beauty section was done with more informality, Student Life was added, and as you look through the book you will see other changes.

We realize that it is not possible to please everyone with a publication. There are always those who will be dissatisfied. Some of the complaints will be valid, some will not. But we cannot worry about either, and will make no apologies for our year's work. We worked hard at the job, and feel that we did our best.
