EACH STUDENT . . . individual and apart

The student entering college finds himself alone in the rush and confusion of registration—
Until his loneliness becomes transformed into solitude, college is a strange and alien place.

. . . yet he is the sum of the entire group

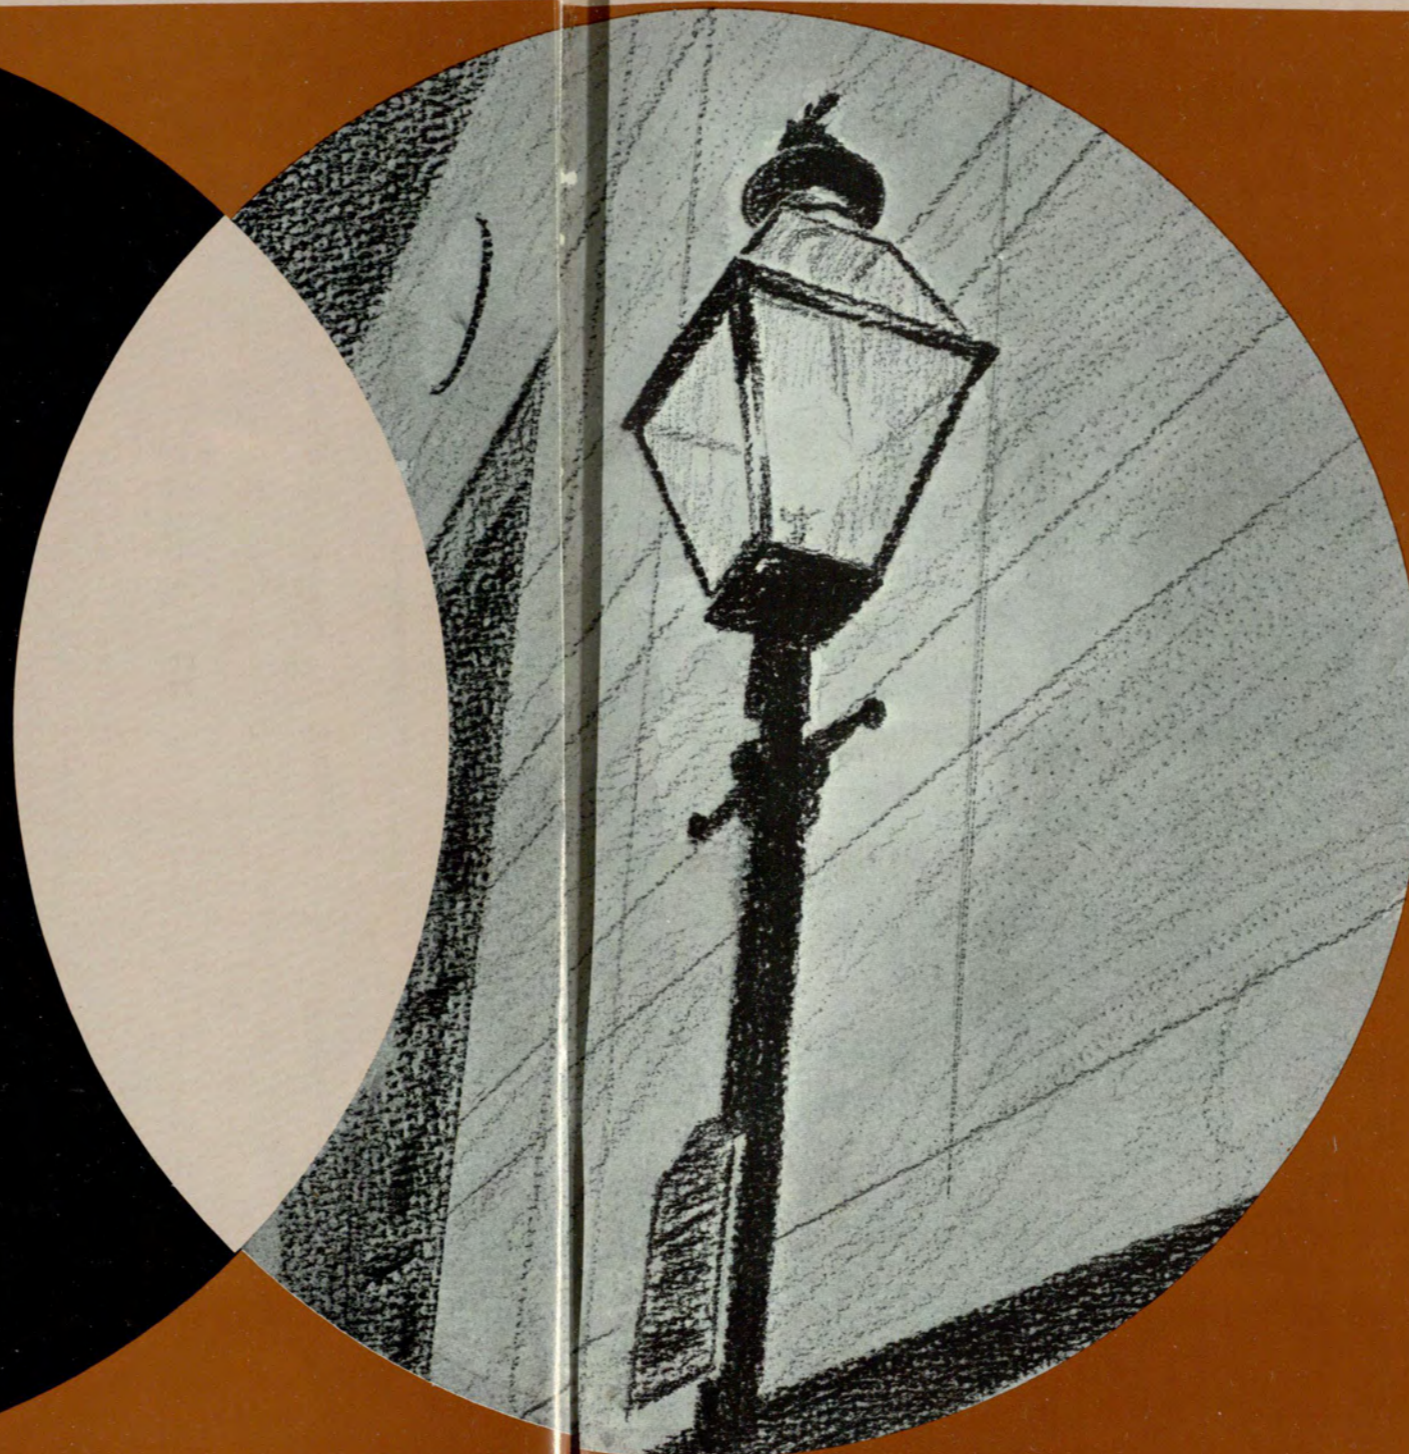

As quarters pass, he gradually becomes a part of the student body, and as an integral part of this unit he begins to reflect its influence.

ONE YEAR . . . a separate unit in time

Every year holds its own joys, surprises and disappointments. From "sophomore slump" to senior week, each period leaves its mark on the scholar.

. . . though it belongs to all years past . . .

and those to come

Growing is a continuing process, and even though college has the greatest influence on a student's development, growth does not stop there.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS . . .

formed in a few short years

Those aspects of college—parties, friends, professors and books—will last as memories until one remembers no more.

ACTIVITIES

Spring Festival

Georgia State observed its annual festivities as the students welcomed the advent of spring. These include a reception at the President's home, musical selections by the Music Department and a precision drill by the Pershing Rifles. The festival is held in Hurt Park. The May Queen and her two attendants chosen by professional judges preside over the Festival. Thanks are to be extended to the Spring Festival Committee and the Faculty Committee for their time and efforts.

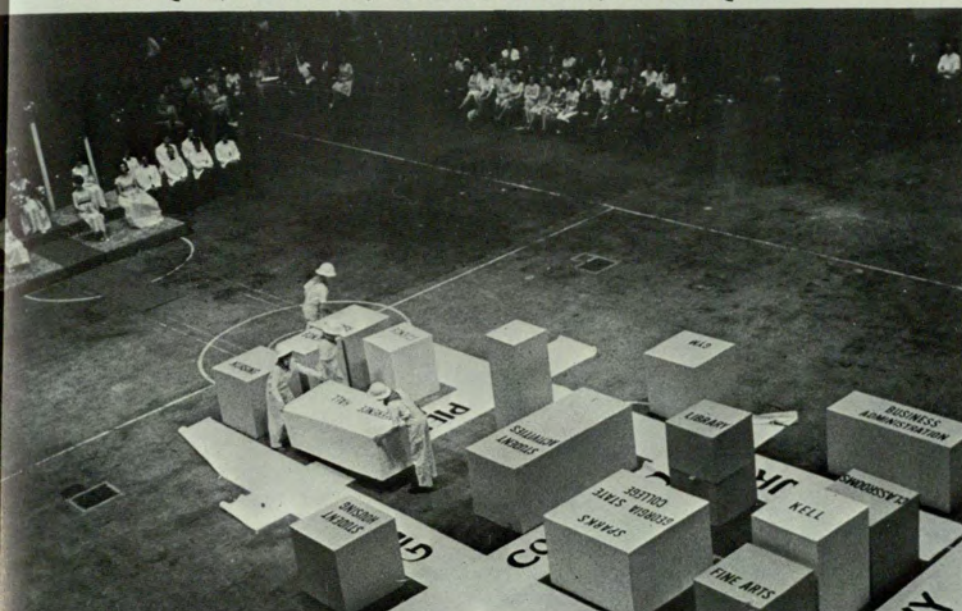

Miss Fields, the 1966 May Queen, is escorted by Mr. Wayne Rogers.

The 1965 Queen, Linda Purcell, crowns Heather Fields, the 1966 Queen.

The annual reception was held at President Langdale's home.

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow was the 1966 theme for Spring Festival.

Miss Georgia State College

The "Miss Georgia State College" contest is sponsored by the National Alumni Association of Georgia State College, Inc. Basis of selection is beauty, poise, figure, personality, and appearance. The winner is presented a loving cup and a one quarter scholarship from the Alumni Association. In addition, she is a guest of the Association at various College and Alumni activities during the school year.

The 1966-67 "Miss Georgia State College" is MISS HEATHER FIELDS.

The new library was finally opened for student use during summer quarter, 1966.

The official dedication of the library was on January 6, 1967, during the ten o'clock break. Chancellor Simpson presided in the absence of Governor Sanders.

Mr. Gary Claxton of 1965 presents the Mr. Freshman of 1966 Trophy to Elmore Hauch.

The 1966 Freshman Orientation introduced new freshmen to college life at Georgia State. The program included the Freshman Conclave at Rock Eagle during August, and a week of orientating the freshmen to the academic and social phases of Georgia State. The week of orientation was concluded with the Freshman Dance where the choices of Mr. and Miss Freshman were announced.

Dick Deberry, President of Night SGA; Mike Evenson, President of General Council; Mike Hines, President of Day SGA, address freshmen.

Homecoming 1966

This year Homecoming was filled with the excitement of parades, floats, flats (displays), Ugly Man Contest, banquets, and the crowning of the Queen.

The week began with the selection of the Queen and her court. An all school float carried the finalists to the front of Hurt Park where Miss Bobbie Brinkman was crowned Queen and the finalists were Miss Donna Anderson, first runner up, and Miss Maureen Smoot, second runner up.

The theme for Homecoming was "Vista; A View Into State's Total Achievement." Fraternities and sororities worked on displays which were judged and the top three selected were displayed at the Dinkler Hotel. The winners were Sigma Phi Epsilon for best fraternity display and Alpha Phi tying with Alpha Omicron Pi for best sorority display.

Enthusiasm initiated at the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes lasted throughout the week of Homecoming.

Miss Bobbie Brinkman was crowned the 1966 Homecoming Queen.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Flat wins first place in fraternity competition.

Ugliest Man On Campus awarded to Buster Bledsoe and Alpha Omicron Pi by Harry Hammond.

Mrs. Laura Ruth McNeil is awarded by Mrs. Mary Cunningham as Alumna of the Year.

Thoben Elrod receives the Alumnus of the Year Award, presented by Harry Hammond.

Edward C. Hammond is awarded by Ronald K. Hill the Distinguished Service Award for service as chairman of the college's Advisory Council during this past year.

The Outstanding Civilian Service Medal is presented to Dr. Noah Langdale by Lt. General Louis W. Truman, Commanding General of the Third Army.

The Distinguished Service Award for outstanding service to the college in improving community relations is presented to Jack Thrift by Pat Sartain and James R. Henderson.

Homecoming ended with a banquet held at the Dinkler Hotel where awards and recognitions were given; James R. Henderson presided. After the banquet, a coffee was given with entertainment provided by the Brandywine Singers. At the coffee Governor Sanders and Dr. Noah Langdale were recognized. Following the coffee was the Homecoming Dance featuring the "Markeys" and Roy Hamilton.

This wound up the week of Homecoming, which was considered one of the most exciting ever at Georgia State College.

Greek Week

First place for Sorority Skit is taken by Alpha Phi.

Greek Week was received with varying degrees of enthusiasm.

Sigma Nu takes first honors in Fraternity Sing.

Under the capable direction of co-chairmen Jane Eley and Harry Hammond, Greek Week '67 was held during the week of January 27. Sing Night competition was won by Zeta Tau Alpha and Sigma Nu, with Delta Zeta and Pi Kappa Phi placing second. Alpha Phi and Alpha Epsilon Pi captured first place in Skit Night. Second place trophies went to Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Kappa Phi, while Brenda Cody and David Johnson walked away with Best Actress and Best Actor honors.

Alpha Epsilon Pi's skit takes first place in the fraternity division.

Zeta Tau Alpha sings its way to first place.

Greek Week was climaxed by a dance at the Biltmore Hotel, where entertainment was provided by the Isley Brothers and Ben E. King. At intermission, the winners of the Greek Week competition were announced, and the highlight of the evening came as co-chairman Jane Eley crowned the 1967 Greek Goddess, Miss Regina Klug. Mary Katherine Chandler and Carol Knauth were first and second runners-up, respectively.

Ben E. King sings "Stand By Me."

The Nursing Education Club won first place in the non-Greek division.

SPORTS

Panther Racqueteers

The Georgia State College tennis team, under the guidance of Coach Francis Bridges, begins a promising rebuilding year with the return of veterans Jerry Black, Jerry Sosebee, David Nicholas, and Joe Elkins. Added to the squad are promising newcomers Kirk McDaniel, Ray Phelps, Andrew Moye, Paris

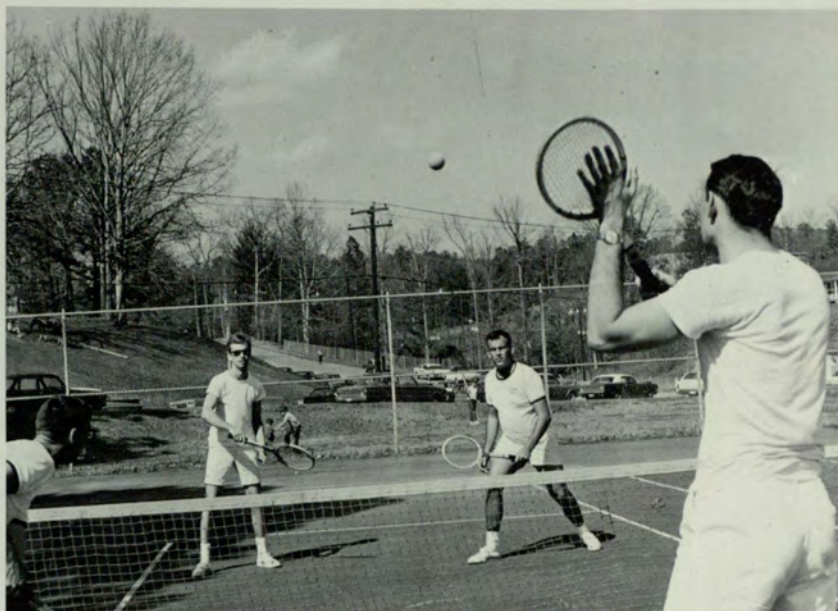

Couturiaux, Morris Rosenberg, Dallas Hutcheson, Andy Campbell, Tim Nicholas, Bill Guyton, George Stuart, and George Hynes. Featured on this year's schedule are the College of William and Mary and Florida Southern College.

Baseball

In their second season of NCAA competition, the Georgia State baseball team again won only one game. This victory, though, was very sweet, for it was over neighboring Oglethorpe. Coach Archie Crenshaw's charges led by Captain Jerry Hill started the season with a spring trip to Florida, and then played their home games at Glenn Field. Besides Hill, the team was anchored by Loye McElroy, Jim Jacobs, Preston Loftin, Jim Murray, Jerry Eickhoff, Bill Hearn, and David Rutledge.

IFC Softball 1966

The 1966 IFC softball season saw Kappa Sigma go through another undefeated slate but not without receiving tough competition from Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Kappa Alpha Epsilon. For the Kappa Sigs, a tight infield and the hitting of Gene Epps, Jim Burdine, and Jim Fleming coupled with the pitching of Bart Hickman enabled the Bombers to win the championship. Sigma Nu, behind the pitching of Alvin Rateree, came in second place, losing only once to Kappa Sigma.

Cross Country

The Georgia State Cross Country team, coached this year by Dean of Men, Tim Singleton, had its third straight winning season (7-5) against tough opposition. The Panthers lost their first two meets, but bounced back to win seven out of their next eight matches. Bruce LaBudde, the fourth best distance runner in the South, led the team with eight first place wins. Bruce also won the Atlanta Marathon, beating, among others, Tireless Tim Singleton. Bill Bracken was the team's second fastest runner.

Georgia State Golf

The Panther golfers fared well again in their encounters on the links during the past season. Led by Coach Ben Curry and the clutch shooting of Jim Webb and Larry Morris, the team posted a 4 and 5 record. On the home course of Cherokee Country Club, our men have fallen only twice in ten outings over the past two years. Georgia State also finished midway in a field of 25 schools at the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Cape Coral, Florida.

IFC Football

The Fraternity football crown was taken by Kappa Sigma again this season. Led by Gene Epps and "Hondo" Jackson, the "Bombers" were undefeated, and scored on only once. Defensively, the winners were led by Tom Taffs, Mac DeVaughn, Glenn Milligan, Gray Jernigan, and Dick Eickhoff. Sigma Nu came in second, losing only to the Kappa Sigs.

Basketball 1967

Georgia State, led by a group of talented sophomores, posted a 4-20 record this season. Paced by their one-two scoring punch of Jimmy Jacobs and Tommy Mullins, Coach Richard Wehr's Panthers showed great promise for the future. Jacobs set numerous school records, including most points for a game (37), most field goals in a game (17), most points for a season (397), and season average (17.2). Mullins closed out a three year college career by averaging 15.6 and leading the team in rebounding for the second straight year. The future looks bright as the team loses only Mullins and Jim Copeland, while sophomores Jacobs, Matt Farmer, Dave Witter, Joe Wilson, Bo Wolfe and freshmen Greg Marshall, Bo Strong and Luther Hudson all return.

Sylvia Smith, Secretary

Sybil Boudreaux, Treasurer

Crimson Key Honor Society, founded at Georgia State in 1934, is both an honor and a service organization. Membership is by invitation only to those junior and senior women who have a "B" or better average and have exhibited leadership ability by making a contribution to the college through extra-curricular activities.

The purpose of Crimson Key is to promote a closer understanding between the Administration and the students and to cooperate with the faculty and other organizations of the college to the end that there may be fostered and maintained the highest standards of scholarship, social activities, and moral ideals among the women students.

The projects during the year include assistance with orientation, co-sponsorship of the Breakfast and Career Day, presentation of citation awards to outstanding women graduates and presentation of a special senior award annually.

Blue Key

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, founded in 1924 at the University of Florida, consists of 124 chapters in universities and colleges throughout the United States. Membership in the fraternity is by invitation to juniors, seniors and graduate students who excel in scholarship, exhibit leadership qualities and have demonstrated a willingness and desire to serve their fellows and their college.

The Georgia State chapter established in 1951, provides a unique service to fellow students through the operation of the Blue Key Book Exchange, wherein students may buy and sell text books at modest prices.

Handling fees accrued in the operation are utilized for projects in support of the college and student activities, and for contributions to scholarship funds for deserving students.

In promotion of excellence in academic achievement, the chapter awards a gold key annually to the male sophomore with the highest grade point average in his class.

We consider membership in Blue Key to be a cherished and singular honor, and we stand ready to serve Georgia State in any way we can.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi is a national, honorary, and professional fraternity for students of accounting. Since its origin at the University of Illinois in 1919, it has established chapters at most of the major collegiate schools of business. Beta Mu Chapter was installed in 1961 as the first chapter in the state of Georgia.

Beta Alpha Psi encourages and gives recognition to scholastic and professional excellence, promotes the collegiate study of accounting, provides opportunities for the interchange of ideas between its members and practicing accountants, and encourages the cultivation of a sense of responsibility and service in its members.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma is a national honor society for male freshmen who have excelled in scholarship. For several years our chapter of this society has been inactive. With its reactivation at Georgia State, Phi Eta Sigma has made an excellent beginning in recognizing and encouraging excellence in scholastic attainment which constitutes the purpose of this distinctive group.

Phi Eta Sigma has more than one hundred chapters and a national membership of nearly one hundred thousand persons. Membership is extended to males having an average of B+, or better, for two consecutive quarters during their freshman year.

In seeking to fulfill their purpose to the highest degree, practically all the various chapters of Phi Eta Sigma engage in activities or projects which have proven to be of major importance and benefit on their respective campuses. They might well be listed as follows:

1. Distribution of "Hints on How to Study" pamphlets to all freshmen during Orientation Week.

2. The sponsorship of lectures by faculty members on "Effective Study Methods," etc.

3. The sponsorship of a smoker for freshmen men who during the first part of the school year have been outstanding in the field of scholarship.

4. The tutoring of students who express a need for additional instruction or help in their course work. This type of service is available to the good as well as the poor student.

Upsilon Chapter of Phi Chi Theta became the first national woman's organization to be installed at Georgia State College in 1929. Phi Chi Theta is a national professional fraternity for women enrolled in the School of Business Administration and pursuing a business degree.

The purpose of Phi Chi Theta is to promote the cause of higher business education and training for all women; to foster high ideals for women in business careers; to encourage fraternity and cooperation among women preparing for such careers; and to stimulate the spirit of sacrifice and unselfish devotion to the attainment of such ends.

Upsilon Chapter continuously strives for a well rounded program. This encompasses such activities as rush parties, professional dinners, professional tours, and an annual houseparty.

On Honors Day each spring an outstanding junior woman is awarded the Phi Chi Theta National Key Award. The key is awarded on the basis of scholarship, activities, and leadership, by a committee selected from the faculty and Fraternity members.

The aims of Alpha Kappa Psi are to "further the individual welfare of its members; to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts, and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein; and to promote and advance in institutions of college rank courses leading to degrees in business administration."

Pi chapter, in service to the school, provides a group of student leaders, which the activities and publications of the fraternity encourage and develop, to perform tasks and services for the school of business, which can be best accomplished by a student group.

Alpha Kappa Psi, the first professional fraternity in business, was founded on October 5, 1904. It was incorporated in New York on May 20, 1905, and it is a charter member of the Professional Interfraternity Conference.

The fraternity is made up of 131 collegiate chapters and 40 alumni chapters. Each chapter conducts a definite program of professional activity each year. Such activities include speakers on economic, business and educational topics; industrial tours, research projects and service to the school.

Delta Sigma Pi

From its birth as a national organization at New York University, November 7, 1907, to its beginning at Georgia State College on March 12, 1921, and at present, the purposes and high ideals of Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity have remained consistent. Its purpose is to provide students preparing for business careers with well rounded backgrounds of social activity, academic study, and personal contact with the commercial world of the future.

Delta Sigs have traditionally shown outstanding achievements in the fields of scholarship and leadership. In regard to social activities, the Fraternity continuously strives for a well rounded program. This incorporates such activities as rush parties, professional dinners, professional tours, the Rose Ball held each Spring, and more recently co-sponsored functions with other organizations on campus.

Pershing Rifles

The National Society of Pershing Rifles was founded at the University of Nebraska in 1894. Company T-4 was installed at Georgia State College in 1954. Pershing Rifles was founded to encourage, preserve, and develop the highest ideals of the military profession as exemplified by General of the Armies, John J. Pershing, founder and patron of the organization, and also to unite cadets and midshipmen through the common bonds of activity, respect, and brotherhood.

In addition to fielding a prize winning drill team P/R's indulge in combat and counter insurgency maneuvers. The Riflemen's social life was highlighted in 1966-67 by the P/R Christmas Formal, the Military Ball, and three days of parades and festivities at the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

As a service organization Pershing Rifles provides an honor guard for the school, a funeral detail for military war funerals and various other service functions at Georgia State and throughout the Southeast.

Scabbard and Blade

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade is an honorary fraternal organization for those cadet officers possessing high leadership qualities.

Scabbard and Blade was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1905 with the expressed purpose of raising the standard of military education, uniting college military departments, fostering essential qualities of good officers, and promoting fellowship among cadet officers. Although inactive during both world wars, the Society has since become the nation's largest college military organization.

Company F, 11th Regiment, was founded here at Georgia State in 1954 and now has its largest membership in its history with 29 members. Company F-11 participated in several activities this year, chief of these being sponsorship of the annual Military Ball, of Summer Camp Orientation classes for Junior cadets, coordination with the Cadet Brigade on the Springfield training exercise, setting up a visit to the Army Ranger Camp at Dahlonega, Georgia, and the continuance of a blood bank. The company awarded its medals for outstanding cadets at the Military Honors Day.

Georgia State Players

The Georgia State Players present four major dramatic productions each year. The winter quarter production was The Heiress. During spring quarter, two student-directed plays, The Private Ear and The Public Eye, were presented. For summer, the Players produced the comedy, Light up the Sky. In the fall quarter, The Man Who Came to Dinner played to "standing room only" each night.

The purpose of this organization is to teach and learn through experience in theatre, in the hopes that an even wider program in the Performing Arts will be forthcoming at the College. All students are eligible for membership.

In addition to the four plays presented, the Players this year initiated the Georgia State College Concert Reading Group, which presented The Glass Menagerie for the 1966 seniors and for the faculty. Special performances of all plays are given for invited high school audiences, after which the actors and director discuss the plays with the audiences. Pernell Roberts was one of several guests sponsored by the Players. Also, the first of an annual series of theatre seminar-workshops was sponsored this past year, with considerable success and acclaim.

This is the ninth year for the Players under the capable direction of James E. Sligh.

Credo

Credo is a student publication of ideas. The mind has many moods, concepts, fantasies and beliefs. To portray any one as a concrete answer to man's constant search for belief would be untrue and biased.

Credo, "I believe," is a collection of student moods as we search in and around ourselves for something to say is truth. Man even if his only answer is to believe in the despair of nothing has at least found some security by believing this is the correct evaluation of life.

This year's staff has collected the thoughts which students have presented as their moods, their beliefs, their bewilderments. Literarily, its merit is that it is our communication of feelings to one another, a universal desire of Man. Great literature possesses that quality of involving each reader with his own feelings as viewed by the author and in this way seeing himself a little clearer, linked a little closer with someone else.

The Actuarial Science Club is composed of both undergraduate and graduate students interested in actuarial science and insurance. This interest may be academic, professional, or both. The club holds monthly meetings with occasional luncheon and dinner meetings.

The Club invites representatives of the insurance industry (both local and national) to speak at Georgia State. These speakers inform the students of current trends and developments in the applications of actuarial science in the business world and give the students an opportunity to learn about the different areas of actuarial science. The students are provided an opportunity to meet these representatives and establish professional and employment contacts.

Besides these professional objectives, the Club helps develop a cohesiveness among the increasing number of actuarial students who share common goals. This cohesiveness can be attributed to the leadership, inspiration and friendship of the club's advisors, Dr. Eli Zubay and Mr. Robert Batten.

History Club

The Georgia State College History Club was formed in the fall of 1966 by a number of students and faculty members interested in the study of history. The organization aims to promote the intellectual growth of its members, to maintain interest in past and present historical trends and events, to stimulate interest in historical studies, to provide opportunity for detailed investigation into topics of interest to students of history and to supply an outlet for self-expression in the field of history. To obtain these objectives, the club maintains contact with history students at other schools in the Atlanta area, presents speakers on historical topics, and provides opportunities for students to know history professors better, both as individuals and as historians. Field trips, discussions and seminars are also utilized to provide a broad orientation to the field of history, both as a discipline and as a vocation. Membership is open to graduate and undergraduate students interested in history.

International Students Club

The International Students Club was organized in the Spring Quarter of 1965. Its purpose is to bring together the international students at Georgia State so that they may have a better appreciation and understanding of each other's culture and to provide interesting and stimulating means of social contact among themselves and American students.

The Club works closely with the International Students Bureau, which is affiliated with the Institute of International Education, and sponsors a series of social and cultural activities for international students in the Atlanta area.

As a service to the local community the Club maintains a list of members available for speaking engagements at schools and clubs in the metropolitan area.

During the academic year the Club holds meetings with programs of international interest, sponsoring films, slides, lectures, and informal social gatherings to which all faculty and students are invited.

Students for Private Enterprise

Students for Private Enterprise was founded on January 23, 1963. This unique club, sponsored by the Chair of Private Enterprise, is dedicated to the promotion of the American economic system. To emphasize the importance of maintaining our private enterprise system, the club invites business and civic leaders as speakers for regular and special assemblies concerning the private enterprise system.

The club is open to all students from freshmen to doctoral candidates who feel that it is necessary to become articulate about the American economic system. If we are to preserve the freedoms that are associated with it, it must be kept in mind that the tradition of the American private enterprise system must always be recognized.

The Baptist Student Union is a student-led, Christ-centered fellowship. It is the largest religious organization on the campus and functions exclusively for the purpose of serving the spiritual, social and other personal needs of the student. It offers opportunity to the individual for Christian growth through its various activities. Members of the B.S.U.

meet weekly to hear prominent speakers and to enter discussions on controversial topics facing our world today. Many other activities are open to members including periodic social events, statewide conferences and conventions and two annual nationwide conferences.

The Wesley Foundation was instituted on the campus of Georgia State College in 1952. Its purpose is to promote the spiritual and intellectual growth of its members. The group meets weekly to hear outstanding speakers, discuss controversial religious issues and participate in Christian fellowship. The Wesley Foundation has several service projects throughout the year and contributes to missions through the National Methodist Student Movement.

The goal of the Wesley Foundation is to follow the ideal set forth by John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, "Do all the good you can, in all the places you can, for all the people you can, in every way you can."

Alpha Epsilon Pi has progressed through 50 years, rising from a small local fraternity of eleven men to an important organization of seventy-eight chapters, forty alumni clubs, and over 24,000 members.

Alpha Epsilon Pi is the oldest National fraternity on the Georgia State College Campus. It is devoted to the ideals of brotherly love, religious conviction and community responsibility.

In the past three years, Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity has grown from a small nucleus to a strong chapter boasting over 40 members. Of this we are proud.

Alpha Epsilon Pi believes in all-around participation and stresses continued scholastic achievement. As Georgia State College progressively grows, AEPi hopes to play an integral role in a dynamic student body destined for greatness.

Time will pass; friends will be made, and brethren shall depart; Alpha Epsilon Pi will live on.

The Alpha Tau Omega Colony was founded at Georgia State College April 14, 1966. Though it is the newest fraternity on campus it is a colony of one of the oldest national fraternities, founded in Virginia in 1865. The ATO's are very proud of the value of the brotherhood and their contribution to the College this past year. One of the first projects was the founding of the Little Sisters of the Maltese. The Maltesians were the first auxiliary group of a fraternity at Georgia State.

Other events were the Children's party at Christmas, Hawaiian Fantasy, the Gold Cross Formal, Ski Weekend and Mardi Gras. Tau's participated in Homecoming (behind the scene), Greek Week, and furniture moving projects (hall to wall to none at all).

ATO Sweetheart, Miss Judy Schenck, has proved herself so beautiful and affectionate that we all have a special place for her in our hearts. Next year brings the promise of a charter and a room.

Kappa Alpha Epsilon

Kappa Alpha Epsilon is the only local fraternity at Georgia State College. KAE is very unique in that the membership has been low since its founding in 1959. KAE is highly selective in its pledging procedures and this is reflected in the high academic and athletic standings of the fraternity.

KAE has in the past and present ranked high in academic achievement, and has previously won the All-Sports trophy four years consecutively. These facts are impressive for such a small but active group.

A program was installed last year to increase the membership of Kappa Alpha Epsilon. This program has succeeded and the membership was increased considerably this year. If the goals of this program can be fully accomplished and at the same time the fraternity can maintain its high standards at the college, KAE plans to petition a national fraternity in the near future.

Kappa Sigma Fraternity, the largest social organization at Georgia State, seeks to promote scholarship, leadership, and brotherhood. The fraternity seeks to augment the college curriculum by providing a well-rounded social life for its members.

Kappa Sigma has grown with Georgia State and continues to build as does our college. The purchase of a seven acre tract of land will provide a site for the fraternity lodge to be built in the near future.

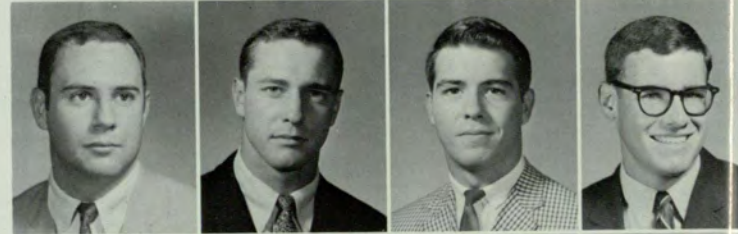

Kappa Sigma's record for leadership speaks for itself. At Georgia State the names of over thirty-five Kappa Sigs appear on the rolls of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and brothers hold offices in every phase of student government.

However, a fraternity is basically a social organization. Kappa Sigma is a leader in this field also. Numerous parties and projects illustrate the intangible ideal called brotherhood for which this fraternity is recognized.

The ideal of friendship upon which Pi Kappa Alpha was founded, has been followed by many men since it was written on March 1, 1868. Today Pi Kappa Alpha ranks among the top fraternities in the nation and has one hundred and thirty-four chapters across the United States.

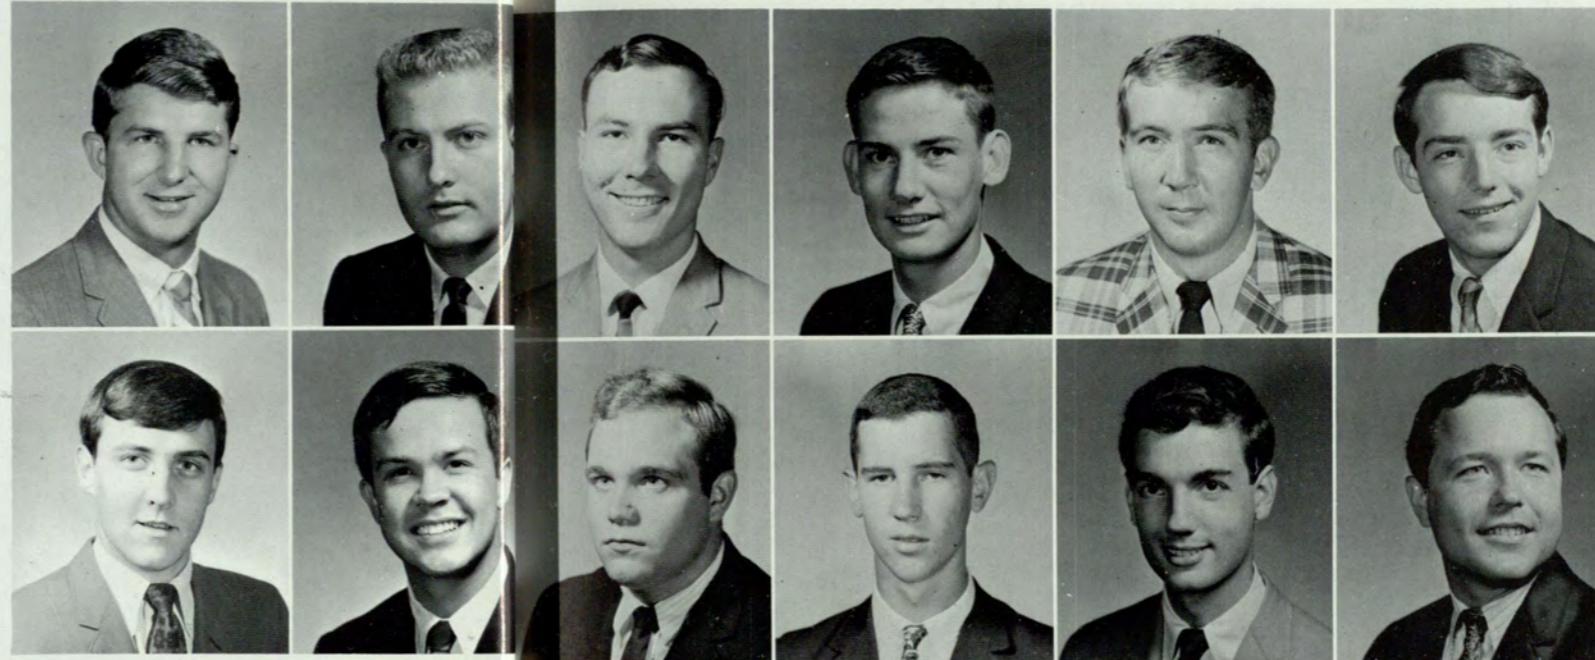

Pi Kappa Alpha stresses scholarship and leadership; many Pikes have held positions in the Student Government Association.

The social calendar of Epsilon Nu chapter is a full one. Beginning with the Garnet and Gold Rush; continuing with the annual Barn Party, Pledge Christmas Party, New Year's Party; and ending in the Spring with the Dream Girl Ball and the famous Beach-comber Party.

The Pikes' spirit is not only seen in social activities but also in the many worthwhile projects which it undertakes. Among these is the Little 100 Bicycle Race, with all proceeds going to the Cancer Society.

This, as well as many other events, helps the members of Pi Kappa Alpha maintain a spirit of friendship and closeness which can be seen throughout the school.

Pi Kappa Phi

Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity was chartered at Georgia State in September, 1954, as the first national social fraternity on the campus. The fraternity was founded nationally in Charleston, South Carolina, on December 10, 1904, and now has over ninety chapters and twenty thousand brothers.

The aims of Pi Kappa Phi are to develop within its men fraternal friendship, social responsibility, leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship, democracy, and valuable experiences.

Some of the many events that Pi Kapps sponsor each year are the Rose Ball, Jungle Party, the Founders Day Banquet, Bacchus Day Celebration, New Year's Eve Party and the "Feed the Children" Drive. They also participate in school sponsored activities and are active members of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Through wide association with men and women from all walks of life, the brothers and pledges are made more aware of their responsibilities as good citizens.

Sigma Nu

The Men of Sigma Nu Fraternity boast a proud and honorable tradition. Founded in Virginia in 1869, Sigma Nu has more than 100,000 brothers wearing the White Star. Since its inception Sigma Nu has been a dynamic and responsible leader in the Greek system. Today, Sigma Nu ranks among the top four fraternities in the nation.

Locally, Eta Gamma Chapter of Sigma Nu proudly carries the national tradition. Fifty-five Sigma Nu brothers at Georgia State have been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, far more than any other fraternity at Georgia State. This fall fourteen Sigma Nu brothers were elected to the Student Government Association also.

Sigma Nu enthusiastically supports all facets of Georgia State activity. The inter-sorority Sigma Nu Sweepstakes; the Outstanding Alumnus Award; the Ugly Man on Campus contest for the William Sparks Scholarship fund are all Sigma Nu sponsored activities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, cognizant of both the undergraduate needs of intellectual stimulation and social ingratiation supplements these primary factors with a brotherhood founded on the ideals stipulated in the Holy Bible and practiced by over 80,000 Sig Eps. Sigma Phi Epsilon indeed truly represents a fraternal embodiment of intellectual atmosphere and of a never-ending quest for knowledge.

To every Sig Ep the primary and ultimate goal is the attainment of that diploma which symbolizes not only the preparatory knowledge upon which the real learnings of life are based but also the result of the omnipresent spirit of intellectual quest. It is the goal of Sigma Phi Epsilon to set the foundations for our attainments, referring always to the good of ourselves as individuals and to society as a whole.

An integral part of this fraternal attainment is reflected in the goal of culture predicated on the motive of learning and enjoyment. On the lighter side of Sig Ep, academic life must be mitigated via a rounded and virile program of social activities and athletic contests.

Sig Ep has further developed its fullness of function by an active program of community, church, and campus service. Notwithstanding, at the close of a truly robust and golden year, Sigma Phi Epsilon hopes always to live up to those tenets of brotherhood upon which it was founded.

Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council at Georgia State is the governing body of sororities, both local and national, on campus. Its membership is composed of all sororities, with a delegate and an alternate representing each group. Its officers rotate through the group from year to year.

The Panhellenic Council is a member of the National Panhellenic Council and abides by its rules and regulations.

Panhellenic recommends policies and programs for sororities regarding all activities on campus, basing these policies and programs upon what is best for the sororities and the campus as a whole. Strong programs in scholarship and philanthropy are stressed heavily. It strives to promote an atmosphere of friendship and fellowship throughout the college. Intramural sports are held each quarter and provide for enjoyable competition among the groups.

Phi Sigma Sigma, Georgia State's growingest sorority, began a year with dreams that materialized into overwhelming realities. Fall Rush more than doubled Phi Sig membership. The Annual Mother-Daughter Luncheon brought mothers and daughters together in a sorority spirit and added a Mother's Club to the Phi Sig family. Founder's Day celebrated the 53rd Birthday of National Phi Sigma Sigma. Sisters and pledges danced and blew out candles at parties and surprise birthday celebrations. A ward filled with lonely children at Grady Hospital smilingly received homemade handpuppets. All this is Phi Sigma Sigma. The 1966 Homecoming Queen, the 1967 Greek Goddess, the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for Spring quarter and Fall quarter of 1966, a representative in the "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," and initiates of Alpha Lambda Delta and Beta Beta Beta honorary societies brought both the beauty and the brains of Phi Sigma Sigma to school and community attention. This, too, is Phi Sigma Sigma, an achieving sorority.

Phi Sigma Sigma sorority, founded on November 26, 1913, at Hunter College in New York, has reason to be proud of Beta Phi Chapter at Georgia State College. The four original founders of Beta Phi Chapter have seen us grow and develop in membership, activity, and achievement since our beginning in 1964.

Alpha Omicron Pi

In 1897, four girls dedicated to preserving their friendship on a lasting basis met in a dusty attic room at Barnard College in New York. There Alpha Omicron Pi was born. From the original Alpha chapter at Barnard, the sorority has grown into a large international organization with more than 90 chapters in the United States and Canada.

In its ten years at Georgia State, Gamma Sigma chapter of AOPi has excelled in every field of endeavor. The chapter has striven to uphold the traditions and the high ideals of AOPi—to stand at all times for character, dignity and scholarship, and to encourage a spirit of fraternity and love among its members and the other students at the College.

This year AOPi's hold several class offices, are on the staff of the Signal and Rampway, and are members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Chi Theta, and other honorary organizations. In addition, the sorority was the first winner of the Panhellenic rotating scholarship trophy. AOPi beauty titles during the past year include first runner-up to the Homecoming Queen, second runner-up to the Greek Goddess, a finalist in the Miss DeKalb County contest, a member of the May Day Court and one of the Ten Best Dressed Coeds on campus.

At Homecoming 1966, AOPi saw its candidate, Buster Bledsoe, named Ugliest Man on Campus. The sorority also won the contest for the Best Homecoming Display and the Alpha Tau Omega school spirit award.

The biggest event on the AOPi social calendar is the annual Rose Ball, held in the spring. At this dance, the AOPi's award a trophy to the Most Outstanding Fraternity. At Christmas this year the sorority had an old-fashioned Christmas party and trimmed a giant tree with popcorn, cranberries and candy. Christmas was also the time for the traditional Big Sister-Little Sister party. Other AOPi social events include the annual Crying Towel Party for pledges of all Greek organizations on campus, and several other casual parties during the year.

Alpha Phi encourages and develops leadership in all fields of college life and in many services throughout the year. At Halloween an Alpha Phi "Great Pumpkin" comes to the school and then goes to Grady Hospital to distribute candy to the children there. At Christmas they help decorate at Grady in the Children's ward. Every year at Valentines

Alpha Phi sponsors a dance to raise money for its philanthropy.

Alpha Phi also enjoys its social activities. We enjoy Pledge and Spring weekends with a spend-the-night party on Friday night and a dance on Saturday night. We also have an Alumni Christmas Party, a Founders' Day Tea and a Slave Auction for pledges.

Mike Adams, BIG BROTHER

Busy was the word for the Alpha Xi Deltas this year. Our work would have truly pleased our last living founder, Alice Bartlett Bruner, who died during the past year. She left with us the lasting sisterhood of a true Alpha Xi Delta and the incentive to make the Delta Xi Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta the best sorority ever at Georgia State College.

We were well on our way when four finalists for Miss Freshman were Alpha Xi Delta pledges. We captured both the Miss Freshman and first runner-up titles. Members than worked diligently for our Annual Apple Polishing Party. The party was the best ever as more faculty members discovered the hospitality of Alpha Xi Delta. Then we worked equally hard in the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes, capturing second place.

Alpha Xi Delta at GSC truly set the example this year in service to the community. This service is a most important part of our sorority life. Weekly our members participated in a program with teenage girls at the Atlanta YWCA. At Christmas Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Tau Omega gave a Christmas party for underprivileged children, giving gifts of clothing, toys, and food. Also for the second year in a row Alpha Xi Delta won the Feed the Children Award given by Pi Kappa Phi at Thanksgiving.

Besides our many group activities, individual Alpha Xi Deltas were very active as Sweethearts of Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Tau Omega, Vice President of Phi Chi Theta, Secretary and Treasurer of General Council, officer of Alpha Lambda Delta, and members of Maltesians. Two Alpha Xis were named to Who's Who this year and several members worked on the Signal Staff. Alpha Xis were very busy but they still found the time to maintain good scholarship standards.

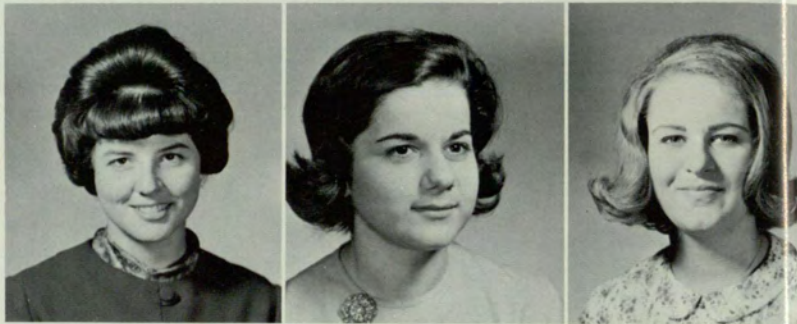

Alpha Xi Delta participates in the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes.

DG'S PARTICIPATE IN HOMECOMING PARADE

In November, 1965, twelve Georgia State coeds met with the Dean of Women to organize a new sorority on State's ever-expanding campus. Georgia State needed a new sorority because enrollment increases kept sororities at quota and many rushees were unable to pledge. Kappa Chi Delta, as the founders named it, quickly took an active part in campus life. After little more than a year on campus, the sisters and pledges of Kappa Chi Delta local sorority have become pledges in the Delta Theta Chapter of Delta Gamma National Fraternity.

Still one of the smaller sororities, Delta Gamma Colony actively participates in all school functions and is well represented in campus organizations. Delta Gammas are active members of Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society, the religious clubs, the Georgia

State majorettes, the Georgia State Players, WPLO-FM, and in the Little Sisters of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. The sorority often cooperates with Georgia State and Georgia Tech fraternities on service projects and social activities. Delta Gammas are also listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Sisterhood, scholarship, and service are the goals of Delta Gamma Colony. Sisters and pledges have frequent barbecues, spend the night parties, and work session parties. The sorority's scholastic average is higher than the Georgia State All Women's Average. Delta Gamma has participated in the Sigma Nu Sweepstakes, Greek Week Skit Night, formal and informal rushes, the Ugly Man Contest, and has sponsored the college basketball team.

Delta Zeta

The Delta Delta Chapter of Delta Zeta is not only one of the leading sororities at Georgia State College, but it is also among the top chapters of Delta Zeta Sorority in the nation.

Delta Zeta has been the recipient of the Kappa Sigma trophy for the Most Outstanding Sorority on Campus for six years out of the seven it has been given and holds the trophy for the year 1966-67.

This year Delta Zetas hold memberships and offices in scholastic honorary societies of Crimson Key and Alpha Lambda Delta. Six senior Delta Zetas were elected to the collegiate Who's Who. Delta Zetas are also active in the Student Government Association, holding the offices of Vice-President and Secretary, as well as a number of class offices. This year members of the sorority were honored with such titles as May Queen, Miss Little 100, Miss Georgia State College, first runner-up to Best Dressed Co-ed, and second runner-up to Homecoming Queen. Delta Zetas are Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Pershing Rifles and Military sweethearts. Other Delta Zetas are members of fraternity sweetheart courts. Three Delta Zetas are active as "Little Sisters" of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

Each year Delta Zeta's events are Founder's Day, the Silver Tree Ball, the Pledge Party, and the Spring Dinner Dance. The "Man of the Year" is announced annually at the Silver Tree Ball.

The purpose of Delta Zeta Sorority is to unite its members in all fields. But Delta Zeta is not a self-centered organization. Because of the loving sisterhood of its members, Delta Zetas are anxious to be of service and support to others.

Mu Rho Sigma

Mu Rho Sigma was founded at Georgia State College in 1955 and is the only campus organization limited to women students who are or have been married. The purpose of the sorority is to promote friendship, scholarship and service for the college, in an atmosphere of mutual interests and understanding.

Alpha Chapter numbers among its members many who have been given scholastic recognition by election to Alpha Lambda Delta, Crimson Key and Who's Who, and by receiving the Dean's Key and National Scholarship awards.

Alpha Chapter also encourages its members to take an active part in campus life and to participate in other organizations in the college. Members have been on the May Court and Homecoming Court. Other members have held office in SEA and the Psychology Club, and several have participated in General Council committees.

Our social functions include quarterly luncheons, rush teas and informal coke parties, and the Annual Awards Banquet.

Alpha Chapter is proud to announce the chartering of Beta Chapter at the University of Georgia last June. Beta Chapter is the first stage of Mu Rho Sigma's expansion as planned by the Board of Trustees.

The major goal of Mu Rho Sigma is to promote sisterhood among all eligible women on campus.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Delta Lambda is the 106th Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, which is recognized as one of the five top sororities in the nation. Since Delta Lambda was chartered, five years ago, the chapter received the "Achievement Award", the highest honor given by the national organization of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Since that time, Zeta's growth as a sisterhood has been unsurpassed. But although sisterhood is an intangible thing, it has many tangible rewards. The foremost of these rewards are three won by the efforts of the whole chapter.

The first is Sing Night, 1967; Zetas won first place. The second was Mardi Gras, where Zeta won King and Queen, and Best Concession. Third of the achievements of the chapter was first place in the Pi Kappa Alpha Trike Race.

Besides these and other tangible rewards, this year has been filled with social activities such as a Parent-Daughter Fashion Show. The highlight of the year is the Silver Crown Ball, where awards are presented to the Best Faculty Member and the Best Male and Female Student.

LEADERSHIP

Capable leadership at Georgia State College plays a major role in the rapid growth and prominent position of this urban institution in Atlanta. The good judgment and sense of fairness of her administration provide Georgia State College with an atmosphere of enthusiasm and cooperation between students and faculty. This mutual understanding prepares students of Georgia State with an eagerness to meet and solve the problems they inevitably encounter. Certainly the ability with which the leaders of Georgia State College handle their jobs makes it difficult to imagine how extensive these jobs really are.

School of Arts & Sciences

The primary purpose of the School of Arts and Sciences is to afford the student a liberal education, which by its nature is broad rather than narrow, devoted to intellectual development and discipline rather than to the acquisition of technical skills. It should give the student some knowledge of the achievements of the human mind, with special reference to the Western civilization of which both the ancient world and contemporary America are parts; of the historical and cultural backgrounds essential to a true understanding of our world; above all, of orderly thinking processes and of a scale of values by which he can distinguish the permanent from the trivial, the substantial from the pretentious, the good from the bad. To that end he will need some familiarity with historical and political studies, the sciences, and the arts. The curricula require a number of courses deemed essential, individually and as a group, to the intellectual competence at which the liberal education aims; in addition to these, the student has electives which he may use to further his general knowledge or to specialize in certain fields.

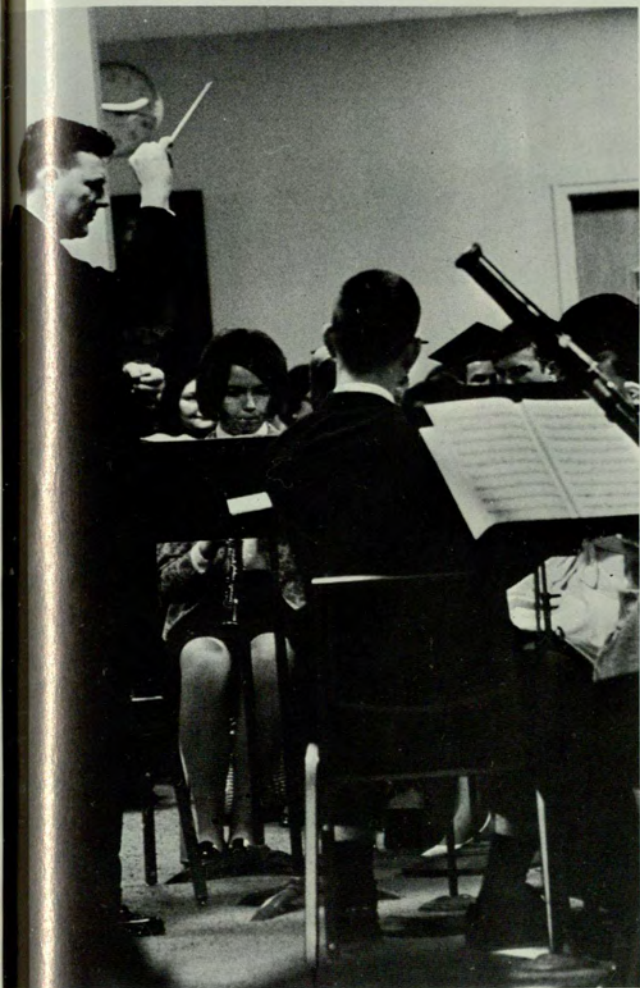

On the Undergraduate level, the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts degree, the Bachelor of Science degree, the Bachelor of Music degree, the Bachelor of Science in Education degree in the area of Special Education, and the Bachelor of Visual Arts degree. In most of these degree programs curricula which meet the requirements of the State Board of Education of Georgia prepare teachers for certification on the elementary and secondary school levels.

Through its Division of Graduate Studies the School of Arts and Sciences offers the Master of Arts degree in economics, English, history, mathematics, political science, and psychology; the Master of Science degree in biology and mathematics, the Master of Arts for Teachers degree, the Master of Education degree, and the Sixth Year Program for Teachers.

The School of Arts and Sciences has been authorized to admit students in 1967 for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in psychology.

Art Department

The Art Department at Georgia State College is located on the 6th and 7th floors of Kell Hall. The department serves about 300 art majors who are pursuing professional degree programs in art in nine major areas: Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture, Ceramics, Crafts, Advertising Art, Interior Design, Art Education, Art History. Currently there are ten full-time faculty members and two part-time faculty members, all of whom are distinguished professional artists contributing to the culturally rich metropolitan environment.

Each year the Art Department presents a number of exhibitions in the Georgia State College Art Gallery which is located on the first floor of Kell Hall. These exhibitions include a wide variety of media and interests such as drawing, painting, crafts, advertising design, sculpture and printmaking. Art students at Georgia State also have the opportunity to visit the High Museum of Art as well as a number of private and commercial galleries in the Atlanta area.

Plans are now underway for a new building which will house the Art and Music Departments. Completion of this new facility is expected within two years.

Biology Department

ROBERT J. REIBER, B.S., M.S. (University of Georgia), Professor of Biology and Head of the Department of Biology

One of the main goals of the Biology Department is to help the student understand the world in which he lives. Nearly eight-hundred students enroll in the department every quarter. Many of these students take introductory courses which are designed to give a concept of biological principles and to instruct the student in the fundamentals of the biology of man. Introductory courses in anatomy and physiology and microbiology are presented to about three-hundred nursing students from a number of hospitals in the city. The other students in the department are specializing in biology at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Undergraduate majors number about two-hundred. They are offered courses leading to a B.S. in Biology with a specialization in zoology or microbiology. In addition, a B.S. degree in Medical Technology is offered, as well as preprofessional programs for teaching, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, and veterinary science.

A graduate program leading to a M.S. in Biology or to a M.A.T. is given to students who wish to pursue advanced studies in the field. Other types of master's degrees and a doctoral program are part of the future plans of the departments.

Chemistry Department

The Chemistry Department offers courses in general chemistry which combine the cultural aspects of the subject with a foundation of basic training for those who will continue with more advanced work in preparation for careers in chemistry and allied fields:

The cultural value of elementary chemistry lies chiefly in showing how a measure of order and meaning can be obtained from our otherwise bewildering observations in the world of matter. In the development of these unifying concepts, the study affords splendid illustrations of the methods of scientific logic.

Advanced courses are not without their cultural value, but there is more emphasis on the development of technical knowledge and experience which is necessary in chemistry and related fields. Georgia State's undergraduate program trains the student for work in research, control, and testing laboratories as well as for executive positions requiring a chemical background.

The Department of Chemistry continues to develop its staff, facilities and students commensurate with Georgia State College's growth in size and excellence.

Education Department

The Department of Education is responsible for the education of elementary and secondary teachers and other personnel who comprise the staffs of school systems.

Many of our basic courses are also desirable electives for general education of parents and others interested in the learning problems of children and youth, and in the improvement of education in our society.

During the past two years the Department has been expanding rapidly and has added new programs for the teachers of the mentally retarded and for guidance and counseling personnel. Early in 1966 the development of a School of Education was approved by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia and plans are well under way for still further expansion in other areas of service to schools and related agencies in the state of Georgia and the nation.

Members of the Department are always ready and willing to talk with students who plan to go or might consider going into any one of the many areas of service represented within this professional educational complex.

English Department

A variety of programs in composition, language, and literature are available in the Department of English. The program in the freshman-sophomore years is designed to improve the student's ability to write effective expository prose, to analyze and organize ideas, and to read literature with appreciative understanding. Advanced undergraduate courses offer instruction in the history and structure of the English language, in the content and development of British and American literatures, in the study and application of principles of literary criticism, and in creative writing.

In its graduate division the department offers programs leading to the M.A., the M.A.T., and the professional T-6 certificate. Graduate instruction stresses both the disciplined study of British and American literatures, including critical and scholarly methods, and the academic skills of English as a teaching field.

Programs in language and literature at Georgia State College attract students of diversified interests and backgrounds. In addition to those who plan to teach, many students find a close relationship between courses in English and their professions, which put increasing emphasis upon clear writing and coherent organization of thought. Indeed, opportunities for employment for those who specialize in the techniques of language expression and communication are numerous and rewarding. Students also discover that through a study of literature they may expect to enlarge and discipline their understanding of human problems and character; and, by their active participation in the ordered experience which the artist presents, they often realize a pleasure which is imaginatively exciting and personally satisfying.

Foreign Language Department

It is increasingly evident that foreign language study is an opportunity for the student to obtain an understanding and appreciation of the character and significance of foreign culture and civilization. This can best be achieved by emphasizing both the active, communicative side of the language and the written, historical record of its literature. A successful language program—the goal of the College—will also attempt to integrate this conception of language study into the patterns of modern life and society.

The Department of Foreign Languages at Georgia State College currently offers a field of concentration in either the German, French, or Spanish languages. Elementary and intermediate courses are also offered in Italian, Russian, and Greek. Advanced courses in Latin are given to meet the requirements for certification of the State Department of Education. Prospective teachers for the elementary and secondary schools have the opportunity to prepare for a teaching career in any of the languages in which a major is offered. Students who intend to do advanced work in foreign languages at graduate school are guided and directed by the Department. Work in the language laboratory supplements all levels of classroom instruction at the College.

 ELIZABETH STANFIELD, B.A., M.A. (Emory University), Instructor in Spanish

Department of Geology, Geography and Anthropology

Geology is the science of the earth and is concerned with the study of rocks and their structures, and with earth history as disclosed by rock formations and fossils. Graduate geologists are found today in mining, petroleum, mineral exploration, research, teaching, ground water and surface water studies, soil analysis, and engineering.

The general objective of geographic study is an understanding of the various parts of the world, their inhabitants, and their resources. Such broad knowledge is a valuable adjunct of the appreciation of world problems and of intelligent citizenship. Professional careers in geography may be followed by teaching on various levels, in public service, and in business.

Anthropology is the science which deals with the evolution of man as a biological organism; with the origin, development, and integration of the customs, techniques, and beliefs that make up the ways of life of human social groups; and with the inter-relationship of these biological and cultural factors in human behavior.

CHESTER R. SMITH, B.S., M.S. (Louisiana State University), Associate Professor of Geology and Head of the Department of Geology, Geography, and Anthropology

SANFORD H. BEDERMAN, B.A., M.A. (Louisiana State University), Associate Professor of Geography

ROBERT D. BENTLEY, B.S. (Oregon State University), Assistant Professor of Geology

BENJAMIN A. MORGAN, III, B.S., M.A. (University of North Carolina), Assistant Professor of Geology

DAVID E. OGREN, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (Northwestern University), Assistant Professor of Geology

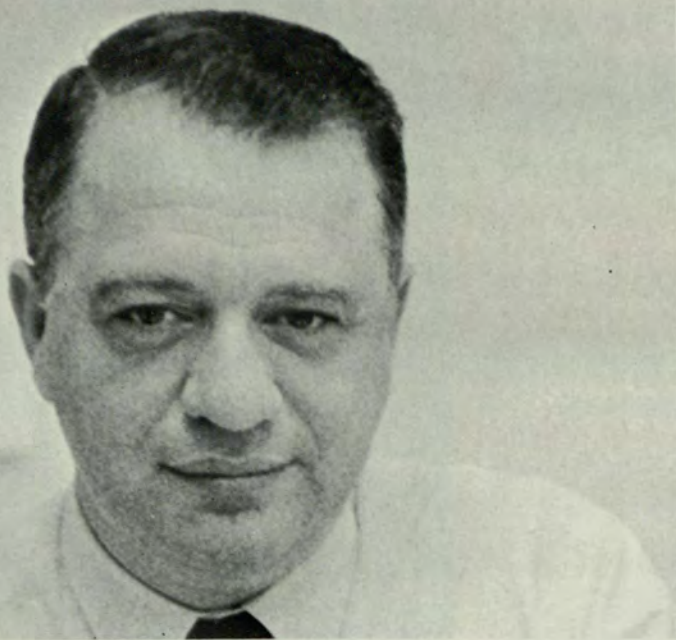

J. KENNETH SMAIL, A.B., M.Ed., M.A. (Indiana University), Assistant Professor of Anthropology

History Department

As the record of human achievements, hopes, and failures and as a humanistic discipline, history encompasses the study of man's political, social, cultural, economic, and spiritual life. It provides mankind with an understanding and an appreciation of its past in the hope that by a good knowledge of causation and historical analysis and synthesis, men will utilize what they have learned of the past to develop a more rational life in the present and to chart a better life in the future.

With a faculty which combines excellent teaching and high quality research, the Department of History's major objective is to provide a sound knowledge of history for the non-specialist as well as the specialist. While the European and American history survey courses contribute to the over-all general education program, the more advanced courses in American, European, and non-Western history are designed to educate majors and minors in history for careers in teaching, postgraduate study, and government and public service.

JOSEPH O. BAYLEN, B.Ed., M.A., Ph.D., F.R.H.S. (Emory University, University of New Mexico), Professor of History and Head of the Department of History

 JOE B. EZELL, B.A., M.A. (University of Alabama), Assistant Professor of History and Administrative Assistant to the Vice President for Academic Affairs

WILLIAM H. FERRISS, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (Vanderbilt University), Assistant Professor of History
 RAY T. GEIGER, B.A.B.E., A.B., M.A.T. (Emory University) Instructor in History
 CLEMENT L. GRANT, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (Vanderbilt University), Professor of History and Assistant Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences
 MARILLA B. GUPTIL, A.B., A.M. (University of Chicago), Instructor in History

MERL E. REED, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (Syracuse University), Associate Professor of History
 LELA F. RICH, B.A., M.A.T. (Duke University), Instructor in History
 EDWARD L. WELDON, A.B., M.A. (Emory University), Instructor in History
 DAVID F. WELLS, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky), Associate Professor of History

Journalism Department

The Department of Journalism offers a major which prepares students for newspaper, radio, television, magazine, or public relations careers. Most of the Journalism courses also are designed so that non-majors may take them as part of their general education. The Department's main objective is to turn out highly competent, professional-type graduates with a strong background in the liberal arts and social sciences.

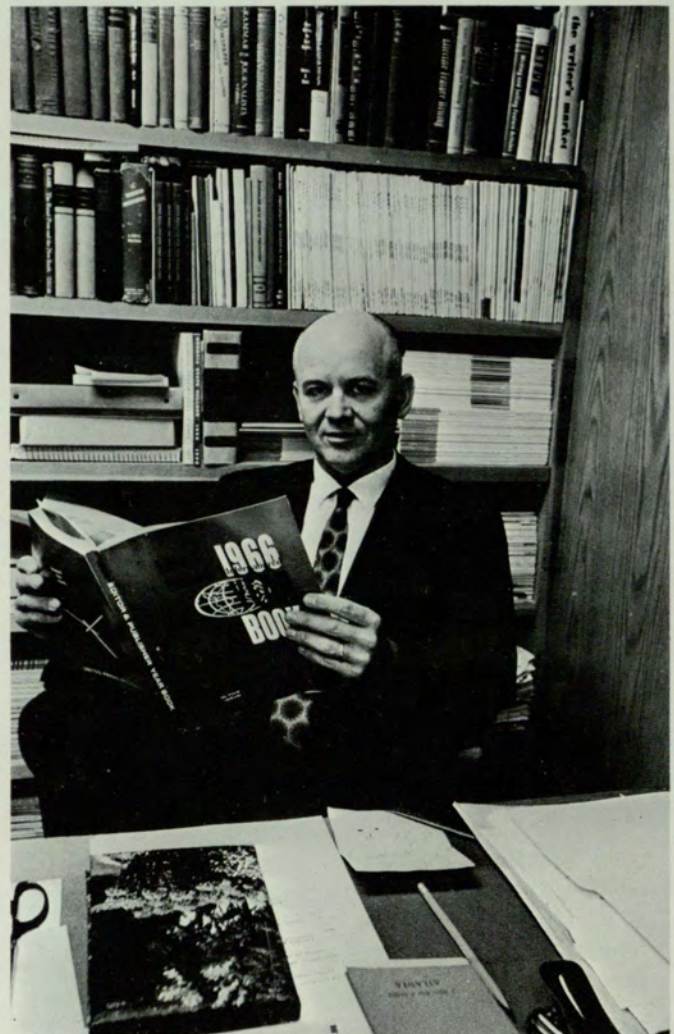

In addition to working on the Georgia State SIGNAL and the WPLO-FM station, Journalism students are required to gather and write news in the Atlanta area, which is used with the help and facilities of the news media as a "living laboratory" for the students. Practicing professionals are guest lecturers in the classes, and some of them teach part-time at the College in their special fields.

The Department sponsors two student professional organizations: the Society for Men in Journalism and the Society for Women in Journalism. Journalism majors also hold honorary memberships in, and attend meetings of, the Atlanta Press Club. They also attend meetings of the Atlanta Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional Journalistic society.

Georgia State College is the only educational institution in Georgia besides the University of Georgia offering a major in Journalism. The College is a member of the American Society of Journalism School Administrators.

GEORGE R. GREIFF, B.S., M.S.J. (Northwestern University), Assistant Professor of Journalism

DOZIER C. CADE, A.B., M.S.J., Ph.D. (State University of Iowa), Professor of Journalism and Head of the Department of Journalism

 JANICE T. ASTIN, M.A. (Emory University), Instructor in Mathematics
 CHARLES L. COPE, B.S., M.A. (University of Georgia), Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 DONALD L. DUNCAN, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (University of Florida), Associate Professor of Mathematics

ELTON A. EASON, B.S., M.A. (Emory University), Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 ERNEST H. EMORY, B.A., B.S. (Georgia Institute of Technology) Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 CHARLES S. FRADY, B.S., M.S. (Auburn University), Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 JULIA P. KENNEDY, A.B., M.S. (University of South Carolina), Assistant Professor of Mathematics

WILLIAM W. LEONARD, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (University of South Carolina), Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 SAMUEL W. MORRIS, III, B.E.E. (Georgia Institute of Technology), Instructor in Mathematics
 PICKETT H. RIGGS, B.C.S., M.A. (Emory University), Instructor in Mathematics
 WILLIAM F. STRALEY, B.S. (Georgia State College), Instructor in Mathematics

LEON R. WALKER, B.S. (University of Georgia), Instructor in Mathematics
 KENNETH E. WHIPPLE, B.S., Ph.D. (Auburn University), Assistant Professor of Mathematics
 RICHARD C. WILLIAMS, B.S., M.S. (Georgia Institute of Technology), Instructor in Mathematics
 LEROY M. WLLSON, B.S., M.A. (University of Georgia), Associate Professor of Mathematics

GARNET L. TILLER, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky), Professor of Mathematics and Head of the Department of Mathematics

Mathematics Department

The Mathematics Department offers courses leading to five degrees with a major in mathematics. These degrees are the two undergraduate degrees, bachelor of arts and bachelor of science, and the three graduate degrees, the master of arts, the master of science, and the master of arts for teachers. In addition to this function, the Mathematics Department is a service department to the students in business and science and it teaches the courses which impart essential knowledge of mathematics to all students of the college.

Music Department

The educational purpose of the Department of Music is directed toward assisting the individual student to the fullest possible development of his innate musical gifts and helping him to make the musical arts a constructive cultural asset in his own life and that of his fellow man, to the extent that this will be compatible with his own interests and happiness and that of the community in which he will live. The Department furthermore aims to provide opportunities to the greatest possible number of students to share in the heritage of the music culture of the human race and in turn to contribute to this culture.

THOMAS M. BRUMBY, III, B.A., M.S.M. (Union Theological Seminary, Columbia University), Professor of Music and Head of the Department of Music

ELIZABETH A. BAILEY, A.B., M.Mus. (Florida State University), Instructor in Music
 JERRY H. ETHERIDGE, A.B., B.M., M.M. (University of Rochester), Associate Professor of Music
 WILLIAM H. HILL, B.M. (New England Conservatory), Assistant Professor of Music
 WILLIAM W. JOHNSON, B.F.A., M.F.A. (University of Georgia), Associate Professor of Music

CHARLES C. KNOX, B.F.A., M.Mus., Ph.D. (Indiana University), Associate Professor of Music
 JOHN SCHNEIDER, B.S., Graduate Performer Diploma (Juilliard School of Music), Instructor in Music
 KAREEN G. VALLANDIGHAM, B.S., M.S. (University of Illinois), Instructor in Music

RALF F. MUNSTER, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (Duke University), Professor of Philosophy and Head of the Department of Philosophy

ROBERT L. ARRINGTON, B.A., M.A., (Tulane University), Assistant Professor of Philosophy

GEORGE W. BEISWANGER, A.B., B.D., M.A., Ph.D. (State University of Iowa), Professor of Philosophy

ARTHUR W. RUDOLPH, B.A., B.D., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Southern California), Associate Professor of Philosophy

Philosophy Department

Philosophy studies the basic presuppositions of human belief, thought, and action, critically examining all that is taken for granted when men claim to know what they are talking about and to be sure of what they are doing. Philosophical scrutiny extends from the assumptions of everyday conduct to those of scientist, artist, prophet, and priest. Above all, philosophical analysis provides the means to a unified perspective on human knowledge. Hence, philosophy is an appropriate study for those wishing a broadly liberal education that includes the skills of disciplined insight, and it is invaluable for those looking toward careers of policy-making and leadership.

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department presents to the student an opportunity to develop his physical fitness through a program of circuit training. Circuit training was introduced into the program in the Winter quarter of 1966 since it was felt that this type of program would best fit the needs of our students. We have a rapidly expanding student body with a very severe shortage of space in which to run a more traditional program.

Classes are primarily held at the YWCA and YMCA with community resources being utilized whenever feasible. Construction of a new physical education facility adjacent to the present campus is expected to be started within the next year. Upon completion of this facility the department will be able to offer the student a much wider range of activities.

Upon completion of the new physical education facility it is anticipated that a teacher training program and an intramural program will be initiated in conjunction with the present required program.

RICHARD W. WEHR, B.S., M.Ed., Ed.D. (Florida State University), Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Physical Education

Physics Department

The Department of Physics offers a comprehensive major program leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. Over one hundred physics majors are pursuing this course of study, which prepares them for graduate school or successful careers in physics. Those Georgia State physics majors who do not go to graduate school are much sought after by industrial and government research laboratories.

Physics is the most basic of the laboratory sciences. To be truly educated, a person must have a fundamental knowledge of the laws of physics. To meet the needs of all Georgia State students, two separate elementary physics sequences are offered—one for non-science students and the other for science majors.

JOSEPH H. HADLEY, JR., B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (Duke University), Professor of Physics and Head of the Department of Physics

ROBERT H. HANKLA, A.B., M.S., Ph.D. (Vanderbilt University), Assistant Professor of Physics

HUGHES B. JENKINS, JR., A.B., M.S., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky), Associate Professor of Physics

GUS A. PETTITT, B.S., Ph.D. (Duke University), Assistant Professor of Physics

Political Science Department

KARL O'LESSKER, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (Indiana University), Associate Professor of Political Science and Head of the Department of Political Science

At present, the Political Science Department has a full-time faculty of ten teaching its undergraduate courses. Six of these professors also belong to the graduate faculty of the School of Arts and Sciences and offer courses leading to the M.A. and M.A.T. degrees.

As well as teaching the course in American Government which is required for all students, the Department offers upper-division courses in the following areas: American government and politics; foreign and comparative government; political theory; foreign policy and international relations; and public administration. The graduate courses fall into generally the same categories.

The Department also participates in the Foreign Area Studies Program. Under this program, an inter-disciplinary course of study composed of social science and economics courses, a student receives an A.B. in Foreign Area Studies with concentration on Asia, Latin America or International Relations.

WILLIAM M. GRUBBS, A.B., M.A. (University of North Carolina), Professor of Political Science

FREDERICK H. HARRIS, JR., A.B., A.M., Ph.D. (University of North Carolina), Associate Professor of Political Science

JACK W. HOPKINS, B.A., M.A. (Emory University), Assistant Professor of Political Science

TOMMIE S. MONTGOMERY, A.B., M.A. (American University), Instructor in Political Science

BASCOM O. QUILLIAN, JR., B.S., LL.B., M.A. (University of Georgia), Associate Professor of Political Science and Assistant Dean of Student Affairs

Psychology Department

Psychology is both a science and a profession; it is a discipline in its own right; it also supports allied disciplines, and serves as a basic science for many professions.

The Department offers programs of study leading to undergraduate and graduate degrees. The general objective of instruction in psychology is to give the student a scientific attitude toward, and an understanding of behavior, both human and animal. The student is offered psychological knowledge about how we experience, perceive, think, and learn; how individuals differ from one another; how personality develops from infancy to maturity; and how inter-personal factors affect relationships in the home, on the job, and in the community. Instruction on the graduate level is designed to introduce the student to advanced topics in psychology, and to foster the pursuit of scholarly and research objectives. In substantiation of offerings, the Department maintains a system of selection and advisement for students, a faculty which is representative of the broad areas of specialization in psychology, and an increasingly wide range of laboratory and practicum facilities.

EARL C. BROWN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (Purdue University), Professor of Psychology and Head of the Department of Psychology

EDNA D. COPELAND, A.B., M.S. (University of Pittsburgh), Instructor in Psychology and Admissions Counselor
 WALTER F. DAVES, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (Duke University), Assistant Professor of Psychology
 MARGARET J. FAGAN, A.B., M.S., Ph.D. (Pennsylvania State University), Associate Professor of Psychology
 IRMA L. SHEPHERD, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. (Pennsylvania State University), Associate Professor of Psychology
 FRED H. WRIGHT, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (Ohio State University), Associate Professor of Psychology

Sociology Department

The Department of Sociology at Georgia State is designed to educate the student with respect to the structural and functional forces of society on a universal plane.

The average quarter enrollment for the academic year 1966-67 is approximately 1000 students. At the present time there are about 300 students who are listed as sociology majors.

The Department is responsible for the teaching of behavioral science to all majors in the School of Business Administration. The Behavioral Science Program presently consists of a two course sequence, 101 and 102.

At present the Department of Sociology has eight full-time faculty and nine part-time faculty. Next year it is hoped that the Department will have approximately fifteen full-time faculty members. Further expectations lie in the approval of the Master of Arts with a major in sociology which is pending at the present time.

Sociology as a discipline in colleges and universities over the world is developing at a phenomenal pace. The discipline is now considered as one of the four or five index departments in developing universities. In our complex society, sociology becomes one of the most relevant disciplines on campus serving as a foundation for liberal education as well as training for professional careers.

WILLIAM D. AMIS, A.B., Ph.D. (University of North Carolina), Associate Professor of Sociology
BEATE S. BANDY, Ph.D. Candidate (University of Heidelberg), Assistant Professor of Sociology
CLYDE W. FAULKNER, A.B., B.D. (Duke University), Assistant Professor of Sociology
JAMES C. SIMMS, A.B., A.M., Ph.D. (Emory University), Associate Professor of Sociology

ROBERT E. GARREN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (University of North Carolina), Professor of Sociology and Head of the Department of Sociology

Speech Department

Courses in speech are intended to provide the basic instruction for general students in the fundamentals of speech or for the students who anticipate professional careers as speakers and actors or who intend to teach speech or drama. The courses offered by the Department of Speech and Drama will be of cultural and practical value to students of both the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration by increasing personal effectiveness in public speaking, conversation, and the everyday concerns of life.

HILDA G. DYCHES, B.S.Ed. (University of Georgia), Special Lecturer, Speech and Drama

School of Business Administration

Curricula in the School of Business Administration are designed to give broad experience in the liberal arts and applied sciences as preparation for productive living and progress toward executive responsibilities. The School is organized into nine departments, a Bureau of Business and Economic Research, an Institute of International Business and the Computing and Data Processing Center.

The degrees offered by the School of Business Administration, which is a full member of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, are the Bachelor of Business Administration, Master of Business Administration, Master of Actuarial Science, Master of Professional Accountancy, Master of Business Education, Master of Hospital Administration, Doctor of Business Administration, Doctor of Philosophy in Economics, and the Doctor of Philosophy in Business Administration.

Accounting Department

The objective of the Department of Accounting is to provide students with an education which will prepare them for professional careers in industry, government, education and public accounting. The offerings of the Department at the bachelor's, master's and doctoral levels are quite varied. The field of accounting is broad and challenging; and at any level of study a student may select courses which will develop his knowledge and ability in accounting as related to managerial, financial, economic and general business situations. By pursuing an advanced degree, a student may select a program which not only will provide a technical and theoretical foundation in accounting but also will provide extensive concentration and specialization in selected phases of accounting according to his individual needs and desires. A person with ability and training in accounting will find unlimited career opportunities with superior financial rewards and professional recognition.

CATHERINE E. MILES, B.S., LL.B., M.S., Ph.D
(University of Alabama), Professor of Accounting and Chairman of the Department of Accounting

JOHN W. COOK, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., (University of Alabama), C.P.A., Professor of Accounting.
WILLIAM L. FURLONG, B.S., M.B.A., Ph.D., (University of Alabama), Professor of Accounting.
WALTER N. GENTRY, A.B., M.S., (Florida State University), Assistant Professor of Accounting.
TOMMY P. HALL, B.B.A., M.S., (Georgia Institute of Technology), C.P.A., Associate Professor of Accounting.
JOHN F. McMULLAN, B.B.A., M.B.A., (University of Georgia), C.P.A., Assistant Professor of Accounting.

KERMIT C. NATHO, JR., B.A., M.B.A., (Louisiana State University), Assistant Professor of Accounting.
MARTIN B. ROBERTS, B.I.E., M.S.I.E., (Georgia Institute of Technology), Assistant Professor of Accounting).
ELLIOTT L. SLOCUM, B.S., M.A., (University of Missouri), Assistant Professor of Accounting.
FRED A. THORNTON, B.S., M.Acc., (Florida State University), C.P.A., Assistant Professor of Accounting

ELEANOR HARRISON, B.B.A., M.B.E. (Georgia State College), Assistant Professor of Business Education.

DANA VERRY, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (University of Pittsburgh), Associate Professor of Business Education.

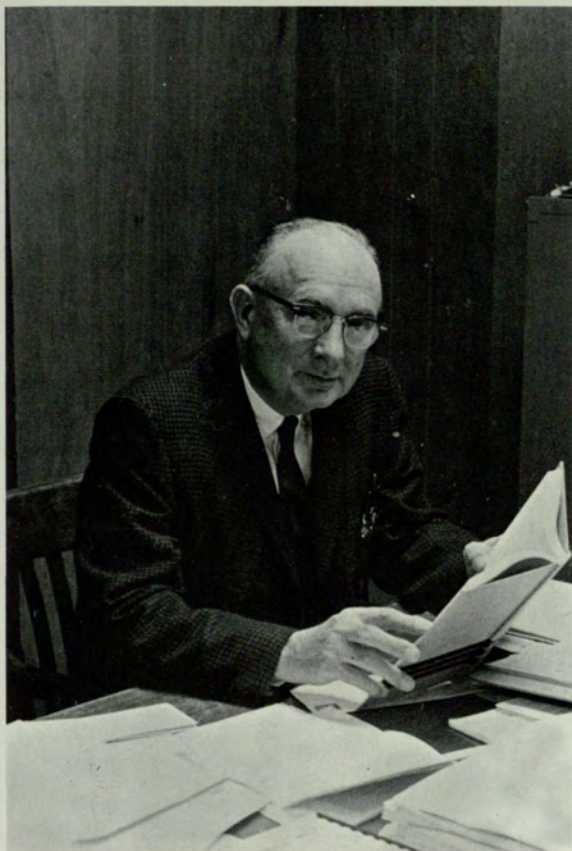

JEAN VOYLES, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. (Ohio State University), Associate Professor of Business Education.

Business Education Department

The curriculum in the Department of Business Education is designed so that students may elect either of two areas of concentration leading to the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration: executive secretarial or business teacher education. The objective of the secretarial curriculum is to prepare executive secretaries and office supervisory personnel qualified to assume administrative positions of responsibility and with sufficient breadth of educational preparation to enable them to advance to positions of higher responsibility and authority.

The objective of the business teacher curriculum is to prepare well-qualified teachers of business subjects for secondary schools and colleges. The provisions of this curriculum meet the requirements of the State Department of Education for certification and graduates are eligible to receive the T-4 certificate.

The Department provides a service function to students who major in other areas through such courses as office machines, shorthand, typewriting, and report writing, which may be taken as electives.

ALTON B. PARKER LILES, A.B., B.S., M.A., Ph.D. (University of Kentucky), Professor of Business Education and Chairman of the Department of Business Education

Economics Department

Modern man is faced with a host of economic problems, personal and public, and almost every social problem has its economic aspects. Consequently, broad understanding of the modern world requires some knowledge of the functioning of the economic system; and the individual's intelligent participation in the solutions of problems in our society will be aided by an understanding of the point of view and the techniques of analysis developed by economists. The introductory courses in economics are designed for this purpose. They also lay the groundwork for further courses in economics for those students who may wish to pursue the subject more intensively.

In the School of Business Administration, the Department of Economics offers the B.B.A. degree with a major in economics or statistics, and the M.B.A., D.B.A., and the Ph.D. in Economics. Students in the School of Arts and Sciences may work toward the A.B. and M.A. degrees with a major in economics. The programs stress quantitative analysis and are designed to provide preparation for careers in a broad range of fields.

ALBERT H. CLARK, B.B.A., M.B.A., Ph.D., (University of Pennsylvania), Professor of Finance

JOHN S. COCHRAN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (Harvard University), Associate Professor of Finance

HOWARD S. GORDMAN, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Michigan), Professor of Finance

HARRY H. KUNIANSKY, B.B.A., M.B.A., (Emory University), Instructor of Finance

Finance Department

The Finance Program is designed to instruct students in the financial processes of the economy and to make them aware of the problems and methods of the sound financial operation of all organizations. They are thus grounded in the principles and practices underlying the financial organization and management of business firms and financial institutions, and also of governmental bodies. The approach is both theoretical and factual, with full recognition being given to the economics of finance and to the economic setting.

The major is designed to develop further skills in analysis and management. In addition to advanced treatment of corporate financial management, courses in related subjects like monetary theory, banking, investments, and financial institutions are offered.

Career opportunities in finance are growing. Since finance is an essential service function, its study is appropriate not only for careers in the wide and fast growing array of financial institutions proper, but also in business, governmental and institutional management in general.

JOHN E. LEWIS, B.B.A., M.B.A., Ph.D. (University of Alabama), Professor of Finance and Chairman of the Department of Finance

ROBERT W. BATTEN, B.S., M.A., (Duke University), Assistant Professor of Actuarial Science.
 DUGALD HUDSON, B.S., LL.B., M.B.A., LL.M., (George Washington University), C.P.C.U., Professor of Law.
 HUMBERT O. NELLI, B.B.A., M.B.A., D.B.A., (Georgia State College), Assistant Professor of Insurance.

RICHARD E. RAPPS, A.B., LL.B., (Columbia Law School), Assistant Professor of Business Law.
 STUART SCHWARZCHILD, B.S., Ph.D., (University of Pennsylvania), C.L.U., C.P.C.U., Professor of Insurance.
 ELI A. ZUBAY, B.S., M.A., Ph.D., (Iowa State University), Professor of Actuarial Science and Mathematics.

Insurance Department

The purpose of the courses offered in the Department of Insurance is to provide the student with an education that will satisfy professional needs. The three areas of concentration in the Department of Insurance are (1) risk and insurance, (2) actuarial science, and (3) law.

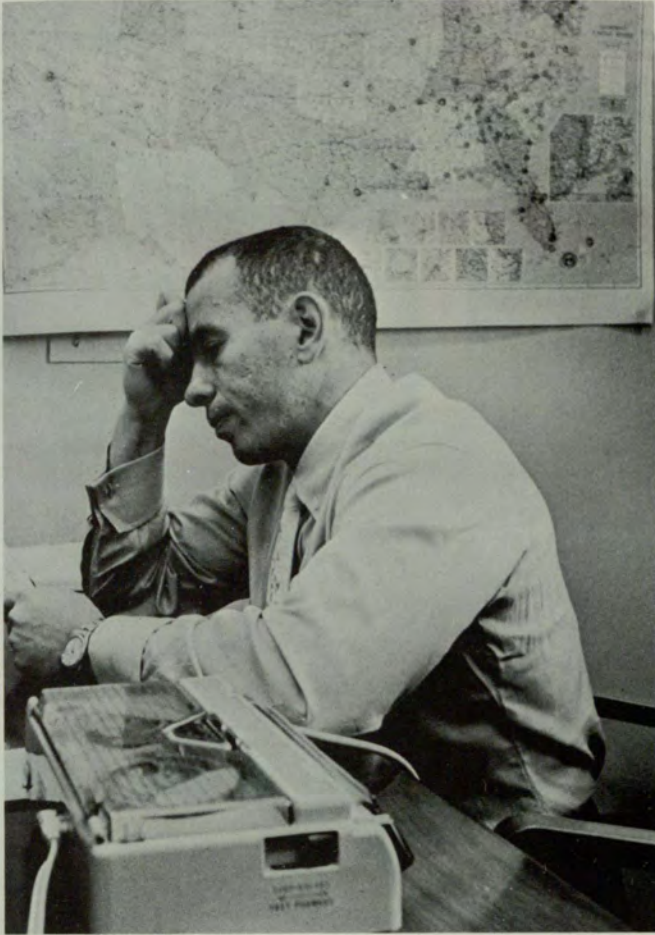

The area of risk and insurance seeks to help each student understand the phenomenon of risk, to appreciate its significance in our economic and social life, to evaluate various risk-treating devices, and to make national choices concerning the use of alternative devices. The insurance business offers a wide range of career opportunities and provides financial support for the insurance program to facilitate the development of manpower for this leading employer.

The area of actuarial science seeks to educate students who are interested in a professional career in the insurance industry in the capacity of a specialist whose function is to make the mathematical calculations necessary to maintain the insurance business on a sound financial basis. The actuarial science program of the Department is recognized as the center for actuarial science in this part of the United States.

The academic goal of the law area is to acquaint the prospective businessman with substantive principles of law governing commercial transactions and their proper relation with social and economic objectives of business. Another important function of the professor in the law area is to counsel with students interested in careers in law.

KENNETH BLACK, JR., A.B., M.S., Ph.D., (University of Pennsylvania), C.L.U., C.P.C.U., Regents' Professor of Insurance and Chairman of the Department of Insurance

MICHAEL H. MESCON, B.A., M.Ed., Ph.D. (New York University), Professor of Human Relations, Chairman of the Department of Management, and Holder of the Chair of Private Enterprise

Management Department

The program of the Department of Management is designed to provide professional education and to develop the confidence of students for careers in the management of business and economic affairs. The vital importance of the management function in our society is well recognized as is the value of formal education as preparation for efficient performance as a manager. Management is essential to each enterprise, large or small, whether it is industrial, commercial, financial, social, educational, or governmental. So fundamental and widespread are the uses of management and so great is the demand for qualified managers that this general field ranks as one of the most important in our society.

In addition, the Department of Management includes within its framework the vital area of Hospital Administration.

The fourteen members of the Department of Management bring to the classroom a record of academic accomplishments, research and publications, and practical experience.

JOEL P. AUTHEMENT, B.S., M.B.A., (Louisiana State University), Instructor.

JAMES E. CHAPMAN, B.C.S., M.S., Ph.D. (University of Alabama), Professor of Management.

E. T. EGGERS, B.S., M.S., D.B.A., (Indiana University), Professor of Management.

AUGUSTUS E. JORDAN, A.B., M.S., M.A., Ph.D., (University of California), Professor of Management.

LEON H. ROBERTSON, B.S., M.S., (Georgia Institute of Technology), Assistant Professor of Business Administration.

LEONARD A. ROBINSON, B.S., M.S., D.B.A., (Georgia State College), Associate Professor of Management and Administrative Assistant to the Vice President.

G. HUGH RUSSELL, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., (Purdue University), Professor of Management.

L. FREDERICK VAN ECK, JR., A.B., M.B.A., (Indiana University), Assistant Professor of Management.

RHEA H. WEST, B.S., Ph.D., (University of Alabama), Professor of Management.

Marketing Department

The Marketing Department prepares its majors to become professional business executives—experts in Marketing. There is a growing demand for such graduates. Thousands of students have majored in Marketing at Georgia State over the years. According to the last Census of Business there are now over 20,000,000 persons employed in Marketing in America.

The department provides its majors with a well-rounded education via a wide range of courses, cases, discussions, projects, talks by leading executives, research, and a competent teaching staff. All professors who are members of the department possess advanced degrees. In addition, every professor in the department has had past experience in business, and currently, all staff members engage in consultation activities for business. This activity aids in keeping these professors current in business problems, methods and procedures. Furthermore, such activity means that faculty members have continuous contact with firms which employ marketing majors.

The Marketing Department offers courses in retailing, selling, research, advertising, sales management, international and industrial marketing, etc. In addition, the department offers four different degrees: 1) The Advertising-Art Degree, 2) B.B.A. Degree (Undergraduate Degree), 3) M.B.A. Degree (Master's Degree) and 4) D.B.A. Degree (Doctoral Degree).

Quantitative Methods Department

The Quantitative Methods discipline is concerned with the application of mathematics to business situations as an aid in problem solving, forecasting, and information measurement. Georgia State College has been a leader in the development and teaching of the quantitative area. Because of the fantastic increase in the acceptance and application of quantitative methods by today's businesses, the School established this year a separate Department of Quantitative Methods.

At present it is envisioned that the Quantitative Methods Department will be active in several areas. The department will be primarily concerned with the development of the quantitative abilities of both the graduate and undergraduate students. In addition, the department will endeavor to provide continued education in the quantitative methods for the faculty and the business community. A necessary adjunct to any academic environment is our involvement with research. This is especially true in the quantitative area, and the department is thus involved in this activity.

WILLIAM F. LYLE, B.S., M.B.A., (West Virginia University), Assistant Professor of Marketing

JOHN E. TULLY, B.A., M.B.A., (Emory University), Assistant Professor of Real Estate and Urban Affairs.

CAROL W. EHLERS, B.B.A., M.B.A., D.B.A., (Indiana University), Professor of Marketing and Chairman of the Department of Marketing

DENNIS E. GRAWOIG, B.S., M.B.A., (University of Pennsylvania), C.P.A., Associate Professor of Quantitative Methods and Chairman of the Department of Quantitative Methods

RODGER D. COLLONS, B.S.C.E., LL.B., M.B.A., (Georgia State College), Assistant Professor of Quantitative Methods.

WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, B.S.E.E., M.B.A., M.S., (Stanford University), Assistant Professor of Quantitative Methods.

Department of Real Estate and Urban Affairs

The goal of the Department of Real Estate and Urban Affairs is to offer undergraduate and graduate programs of professionalism in real estate. Real estate professionals are needed in every area of development and land-use decision making, such as mortgage banking, commercial banking, investment, appraisal, land development, market analysis, and governmental affairs. A student who achieves professionalism with a specialization in real estate can seek opportunities in these areas and many more. Regardless of which professional working area he chooses, he will be in a position to take an active role in the shaping and structuring of his community.

ROBERT K. BROWN, B.S., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Pittsburgh), The Ben J. Massell Professor of Real Estate and Chairman of the Department of Real Estate and Urban Affairs

RICHARD M. FORBES, B.A., M.R.P., (University of North Carolina), Assistant Professor of Real Estate and Urban Affairs.

S. BERNARD ROSENBLATT, B.S., M.B.A., (Kent State University), Assistant Professor of Real Estate and Urban Affairs.

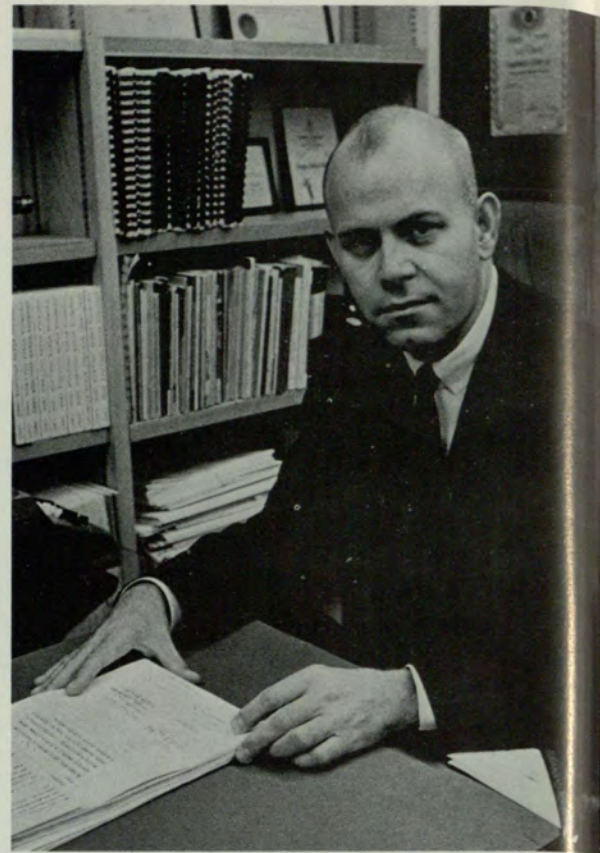

CARL J. TSCHAPPAT, B.S., M.B.A., (Ohio State University), Assistant Professor of Real Estate and Urban Affairs.

Guidance Office

The Guidance Office of the School of Business Administration serves as academic advisor for Georgia State students. This advisement program involves guidance in problems of individual program planning, credit evaluation, efficient scheduling with regard to potential for intellectual development and attainment of educational goals. Members of the Guidance offices are always willing to assist students concerning the college regulations and academic requirements.

GEORGE R. GREENE, B.B.A., M.B.A. (University of Georgia), Assistant Professor and Assistant Director of Guidance, School of Business Administration.

LEJEUNE P. BRADLEY, A.B.J., M.S., Ed.D. (Indiana University), Professor and Director of Guidance, School of Business Administration

Bureau of Business and Economic Research

The Bureau of Business and Economic Research was organized to conduct research in business and economics.

The Bureau's program for carrying out its research policy includes research by its own staff, cooperative research with the faculty, and aid to individual faculty members interested in working on research of their own through research grants.

In addition to its research activities, the Bureau has a program for publication. It publishes each month a periodical, The Atlanta Economic Review, which includes information on business trends and articles on business and economics. From time to time, the Bureau publishes special studies as monographs or research papers.

Contracts for research projects are made with industry and government.

The Bureau is a member of the Associated University Bureaus of Business and Economic Research.

WILLYS R. KNIGHT, B.A., M.A. Ph.D. (University of Maryland), Professor and Director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research

JERE L. ATCHISON, B.B.A., M.B.A., (Georgia State College), Assistant Professor and Research Assistant.

ADELE KUSHNER, A.B., M.B.A., (Georgia State College), Editor, Atlanta Economic Review.
STANLEY R. RENAS, B.S., M.A. Pending (Columbia University, Georgia State College), Graduate Research Assistant

WILLIAM H. WELLS, B.B.A., M.B.A., (University of Georgia), Associate Professor and Director of the Computing and Data Processing Center.

Computer Center

The Computer Center is both a teaching department and a service department, in that it offers courses in computer science and makes its facilities available to the faculty, the administration, and the student body. The Center's staff is also available to each of these for computational and programming assistance.

Both credit and non-credit courses are offered by the Computer Center. The credit courses cover major programming languages (FORTRAN, COBOL, ALGOL) and the principles of computer operations and logic. The non-credit courses are short programming classes offered without charge periodically during the year. Facilities maintained for the use of students taking these courses include keypunching and other card-preparation and handling equipment.

Electronic computers are also used to support courses and research projects in the areas of managerial control, linear programming, statistical analysis, numerical analysis, and the physical and behavioral sciences. A full library of programs is maintained by the Computer staff, for both general and specific applications in these fields.

WILLIAM W. COTTERMAN, B.S., M.S., (Georgia Institute of Technology), Instructor of Computer Science.
GORDON C. HOWELL, B.S., M.A., (University of Georgia), Instructor of Computer Science.

Hospital Administration

The Hospital Administration program is one of 18 such graduate programs in the United States. Four quarters of academic work, plus nine months of administrative residency in an approved hospital, leads to the Master of Hospital Administration degree.

The Hospital Administration Program also conducts an undergraduate hospital major in the bachelor of business administration program, for the education of nursing home managers, clinic managers, hospital business managers, hospital accountants, hospital personnel directors, hospital purchasing agents, hospital public relations directors and similar hospital executive positions. This undergraduate major is an experimental program financed primarily by a Kellogg Foundation grant.

The hospital administration faculty is also active in health and hospital affairs in the southeast, conducting continuing education programs, community services, research and publications. Local and national leaders in the health and hospital field are utilized in the programs as guest lecturers. Grady Memorial Hospital provides the clinical facilities for these programs.

ROBERT L. EVANS, B.S., M.B.A., M.H.A., (University of Michigan), Assistant Professor of Hospital Administration.

ALBERT F. GILBERT, A.B., M.H.A., (University of Michigan), Assistant Professor of Hospital Administration and Assistant Director of the Program of Hospital Administration.

GEORGE R. WREN, Ph.B., B.S., LL.B., M.S., M.B.A., Ph.D., (University of Chicago), Associate Professor of Hospital Administration and Director of the Program in Hospital Administration.

Institute of International Business

The Institute of International Business, administered through the Graduate Division, is an integral part of the School of Business Administration at Georgia State College. The primary mission of the Institute is to prepare graduate business students who choose to major in the field for careers in the international phases of business life. Emphasis in the program is placed on the problems relating to environment, political, economic and the cultural aspects, which differ significantly from those encountered in the domestic market.

To aid in the overall planning and to help in evaluating the present program, the Institute has established an International Business Advisory Council, composed of top-flight businessmen engaged in international operations. In Fall, 1966, the Institute published the inaugural issue of Essays in International Business. Its purpose is to inform executives and business students of current trends and problems in international business.

ERNEST W. OGRAM, JR., B.A., M.A., Ph.D., (University of Illinois), Professor of Economics and Director of the Institute of International Business.

Library

This year Georgia State College witnessed the completion of the new Library which serves the students of Georgia State with its modern facilities and efficient, well-trained staff.

Georgia State's newest addition offers her students such facilities as a self-service reserve area, conference and seminar rooms, lockers for graduate students and study and typing carrels. The Library can presently house 300,000 volumes and seat 740 students. The design of the Library, the convenient arrangement of facilities and a well-qualified library staff provide for the students of Georgia State a distinctive educational opportunity.

Going to college is not easy, but then it was not meant to be. You can only grow through exercise, and college is designed to give the student the proper exercise for intellectual and social growth.

To those who have helped in the production of this book, I wish to say thanks. You have found time to put in that extra effort that distinguishes a man from the average.

Again, thanks.
