The Retail Merchandising Clinic was held at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, on October 31 and November 1. This is the first in what is scheduled to be an annual series of these clinics.

Transportation Group Meets

The first regular monthly meeting of the University of Georgia, Atlanta Division Chapter 32 of Delta Nu Alpha, the National Transportation Fraternity was held Tuesday night, October 11, 1949 at the school.

Mr. Jack Andrews, regional Vice-President of Delta Nu Alpha was the speaker. After an interesting and informative speech concerning the past history, present status and future plans of the fraternity, the following officers were installed by Mr. Andrews. Mr. W. L. Van Dyke Jr., President, Guy J. McGarity, 1st Vice-President, Herbert E. Robbins Jr. 2nd Vice-President, J. W. Ivy, Secretary, James N. Garner, Treasurer, R. G. Jaynes, J. D. Lemming, and H. V. Pendley, Directors.

The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Van Dyke as presiding officer. An immediate vote of thanks from the entire membership was tendered Mr. Andrews for his aid and guidance in assisting those gathered to establish their chapter. The bylaws were then read, amended and accepted by the members.

A cordial invitation is extended to all students interested or engaged in transportation work to contact Mr. Clark McDonald for information concerning the fraternity.

Committees Appointed; Plans Well Under Way

BY MACKIE STACKS

Mr. Hal S. Dumas, President of Southern Bell Telephone Company, will be the guest speaker at the Homecoming Banquet, November 23rd, announced Tommy Tucker, chairman of the Homecoming Banquet committee.

MERRELL

Merrell, Womble Pass C L V Exam

Bill Womble, former student here, and Prof. W. R. Merrell, of the Atlanta Division, were the only two applicants to pass the C. L. U. examination given this past summer. The C. L. U. (Chartered Life Underwriter) in the life insurance field is comparable to the C. P. A. in the accounting professions.

The Atlanta Division has long held an outstanding record in number of our students who pass the C. P. A. examinations each year, and now through the efforts of two more of our representatives we forge ahead in the insurance elite. Mr. Merrell, one of the more popular instructors, specializes in wills, estates, and like items.

Tucker said that with the aid of the committee heads and the voluntary help of the organizations, that the Banquet should go over with tremendous success.

Ken Brunner, Evening Division faculty member, will be the Master of Ceremonies. Dick Hatch has been put in charge of ticket sales, with Dot Davis as Treasurer. Jimmy Edwards and his committee are planning decorations for the auditorium and banquet tables, and Pat Merrell is planning the entertainment. Tables have been reserved for student council members.

Tommy Tucker, also said that six thirty is the definite hour set for the banquet to start so that there will be plenty of time for the banquet and clearing the auditorium before the four hour dance begins at 9:00.

The Auburn Knights, the orchestra that made such a hit at our last homecoming banquet, will plan for our dance again this year. The dance will be from nine till one.

Tickets are on sale at $1.50 per person, which includes the banquet and the dance.

New Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi Initiated Here

On November 9th, Gamma Alpha chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity will hold its formal initiation and banquet at the Mayfair Club. Arnold Hoffman, Regional Chairman, and Sydney Goldberg, Past Supreme Master will conduct the ceremonies and rituals. Both members are residents of Atlanta, and members of the Supreme Board of Governors. The Masters of Zeta (Georgia Tech), Omicron (Athens), and Epsilon (Emory) will assist Gamma Alpha on their initiation team.

The banquet, which follows will feature the presentation of their "Sweetheart of the Division's Chapter." Johnny Martin's orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Rampway Pix Deadline Soon

The deadline for 1950 Rampway pictures will be set for early November Editor Cliff Blaisdell announced. No pictures will be taken after that date. There is a charge of 50c per student, payable at the time photos are taken.

All students who have had their picture taken were urged to identify their proofs when they are returned. If every student cooperates with the Rampway staff in identifying proofs, a better annual should result. When proofs are identified enlargements of pictures may be ordered.

The prices of these enlargements will be: $1.50 for an 8" x 10"; $1.00 for a 5" x 7"; and 75c for the 4" x 5" size. "If you have seen the display of enlargements that has been in the lobby," remarked Blaisdell, "you will agree with me that they are really something to look at."

"The Rampway staff also wishes to express its appreciation to the photographer, Ralph Sosebee, who has done a swell job this year" Blaisdell stated.

PLATFORM

A new name for the school-

Intramural sports program.

More organizations and activities.

Amendment of student council constitution.

Increased day-evening cooperation.

Solvent basis for publications.

Two Noble Endeavors

This year marks the beginning of two major functions of student activities, neither of which is new in itself but the manner in which they are being conducted is new. These are the General Council and the literary section of the SIGNAL.

Operated by itself as a literary magazine, the Flambo never did pay for itself and rarely was able to create much interest. One reason for this was that it was published quarterly; others were difficulty in locating advertisers, circulation was always low because of lack of interest, and the magazine never had the backing of the organized groups in school.

As a literary section of the SIGNAL, the cost is reduced to a minimum, circulation is increased, advertising is easier to obtain, and the interest is easier to create and maintain. We think it is a change for the best, and believe that the venture will prove a definite success.

The General Council, resulting from work all last year by the two old interfraternity councils, is a group composed of representatives from every organization and activity in school. The old councils included only fraternities and sororities.

This council has extensive powers over organizational functions, while at the same time it actually exercises these powers only when necessary to prevent conflict. They maintain a list of all organizations active in school, their members, officers, pledges, meeting dates, and any special functions given. They handle reservations of school facilities. The idea seems sound, and while difficulties will undoubtedly develop, a successful initial year should be administered.

Sometimes changes like these serve to put a dying group on its feet again. The Flambo was rapidly fading into oblivion, and the interfraternity councils were performing less and less real service to the school. Perhaps this shot in the arm is all either one needed.

Letters To The Editor . . . .

Editor, the Signal:

It has been remarked before that there is little to keep a student in the building after classes are over for the day. It is my suggestion that a phonograph or juke box be placed in the penthouse to provide music for those who might like to dance or between classes.

Alan Meisel.

Editor, the Signal:

For over one year I have faithfully read every word of the Signal. As far as I know, I have never missed an issue. In fact, I have read so many Signals that I was beginning to look forward to the next issue. I liked the Signal! I could see a great spark of journalistic achievement in the Signal. Until the last issue, I held this high opinion of my school newspaper.

Whoever sprained himself to think of mixing the pages of the Signal up, as it was in the last issue, I want particularly to read this letter. After I have twisted and turned the paper for about an hour,

Clack Tucker
Hitch - Hiking

This is veering off on a tangent, but the theme this week is "hitch-hiking". It is a subject well worth the attention of most all male students, since prices are still high, and even if they weren't, only students like Marvin Cole, Ralph Page, C. B. Knight, etc., could afford to buy a car. An even if you are lucky enough to own one, the price of petrol doesn't warrant using it for anything less than taking Fannie Mae Snodgrass home from school once a quarter.

Now it occurs to us that there may be quite a few around here who don't know the first thing about the art. And we think everybody ought to be acquainted with at least the fundamentals of hitching a ride. Most guys just stand around the corner and hold up their thumbs when a car comes by. That is no good. It is obsolete. Square. Commercial. No driver in his right mind is gung pick up a commercial square. You've got to be subtle.

Below are the most subtle ways to hitch a ride. Follow the instructions closely and you will have no trouble at all.

1. Subtle Aristocratic Method: First, make sure that you are dressed casually incorrect. This may be accomplished by wearing a tail-coat and no pants. If you have no tail-coat, a passable substitution can be made by wearing pants without the tail-coat. If you have neither, that will be even better, since it will be apparent to all that you really have that I-just-don't-care attitude. Having carelessly dangled a cigarette from the corner of your mouth, stroll leisurely out to the corner, lean against the road sign and wait for passing cars. When a car to your liking approaches, sneer, and then spit at the windshield. As a rule, the driver will immediately see that you are really an aristocrat and will stop and humbly offer you a ride. In some cases, however, he will get nasty and stop and try to spit back at you. When this happens, smile weakly, take out your handkerchief and begin polishing his windshield. Maybe you can convince him you are a filling station attendant.

2. The Subtle Edge Method: Do some of Bill Edge's homework for him for nothing and get to be friends with him. Then, some night, when you want to get somewhere in a hurry, get him to go out to the corner of Edgewood and Ivy with you. When a car comes along, get him to lie down in the middle of the road. If the car stops, get in. If not, tell Bill he can get back and wait for another one. If you try this method with a truck, it would be wise to have Bill lie so that the wheels will roll over his instead of his body in

I gave up. One page was printed across and the other pages were printed up and down. This was impossible. I like to read the Signal, but I am not a contortionist, and a contortionist, or a madman, was required in order to straighten that monstrosity out.

If this was a mistake on the part of the printer, I sincerely hope it never happens again. If it was deliberate, then God help the University Signal.

Richard Ramsaur.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Ramsaur, we considered anyone with sub-normal intelligence could manage to figure out the aforementioned layout. We expected deviations.

The Signal received many comments on the unusual layout, most of them good. But we're not censors; we print items turned in to us from all types of individuals.

Incidentally, tell us about this "spark of journalistic achievement" in the paper; we just want a sheet students can enjoy reading. Reader Ramsaur, who are you kidding?

A Good Job

Clack Tucker, president of the evening division student body, has acquitted himself nobly in the matter of fall elections. The president is expected to be both fair and impartial, and Tucker has been.

Although there were some irregularities, as there inevitably are, we are convinced there have been no attempts engineered by the president which would favor any particular group.

Notice of elections was not given far enough in advance, no provision was made for chairmen of the various class elections, and questionable procedures were adopted at times in an attempt to "speed things up." Also, one election was held in such a manner that a total of five votes elected a class president.

But, we repeat, these were not deliberate, and were actual minor; few people were hurt. Any other student with the same job would probably have made as many mistakes or more. And may not have been as impartial.

Again we want to toss orchids Clack Tucker's way, and hope the balance of his administration will measure up to the same standard. It is refreshing to have an impartial president conducting elections this year.

case the truck does not stop.

3. The Subtle Sure-Fire Method: Get Edith Walker to thumb for you.

4. The Subtle Almost-Sure-Fire Method: Dress up like Edith.

5. The Subtle Aggressive Method: Throw yourself under the wheels. (not recommended).

6. The Subtle Snowball Method: Have a group of your friends hurl snowballs at passing cars. When one stops and the driver gets out and goes after them, hide in the trunk of his car. This is an excellent method, as the driver does not know he is doing you a favor. However, it will be necessary for you to have another group of friends stationed at your destination for a similar purpose in order that you may escape undetected. (If there is no snow on the ground, rocks or mud clods will work just as well.)

If you've read this far, please try to overlook the attempted humor, as I am in no mood at this writing to gripe about school administration, student activities, Gene Kyser and so forth.

P. S. (POSS SCRIPTS)

A TALE OF THE CLAN

BY JOHN POSS

Three years ago, when I enrolled in the University of Georgia, Atlanta Division, I had one big ambition: to write a regular column for the SIGNAL.

Now that I prepare to pound out my first batch of journalistic bunk I find myself in the same predicament with the little boy who, after repeated tries finally persuaded a young girl to ride in his wagon with him, said; "Now that I got it, I don't know what to do with it."

I seem to have inherited the space devoted last year to one Bob Willis. Bob, who is now up in Athens town, is still throwing his sarcastic remarks around in a SIGNAL guest column.

Well, if I can't out 'sarcasm' the Great I'll try to out 'witticism' him.

In the earlier days of my life, when anyone yelled "Poss" I would instinctively answer, knowing that I was the sole owner of that moniker within a few hundred miles. But now the situation is exactly the reverse.

When anyone cries "Poss", I have to query; Which one, Carl, Bill, Jerry, John, or Madelene?

I have come to the belated conclusion that about 'lebenty-eight of the varmints should be exterminated, with only one left to carry on the proud family name. In case anyone can't guess, I propose that John be the member of the clan allowed to survive.

When I first entered college in 1946, Madelene Poss made the headlines here with her student activities, not to mention her beauty.

Then came Bill Poss. Bill acquired fame in one or two fraternal organizations. But I worry about Bill no more, because Cupid's little bow and arrow has eliminated Bill from the "foot loose and fancy free" faction of the clan.

Next came Carl, and he's still in my hair. Take a look elsewhere on these SIGNAL pages. Whose name do you see scattered everywhere? Carl Poss! Carl Poss! Carl Poss!

Carl—Drop Dead!

And what did I find out via the grapevine last week. Jerry Poss, whom I haven't seen in years, is returning to school this quarter. I'm sorry, Jerry, but I can't put too much enthusiasm in my voice when I say "Welcome".

Yet, to top off these other troubles, my kid brother, another Bill, intends to enter UGAA upon his graduation from high school this winter.

My answer to that; "Oh brother!"

I'm going to recommend to the Board of Regents that the name of our institution of higher learning be changed to Poss University, Atlanta Division.

Just A Few

Some of the teachers cannot be complimented on the manner in which they handle elections and student activities in their classes. While a majority of the faculty are cooperative, there are always some who consider themselves above such activities.

Regardless of a teacher's personal opinion of student activities, he is obligated to see that those interested have ample opportunity to take part. Even if he goes through the motions, his attitude (and sometimes sarcastic comments) is detrimental to extra-curricular activities. The matter of cooperation with the Rampway is also included.

We certainly do not threaten any instructor, but we do think students deserve to know in advance which professors fit the above pattern. We have some names and will publish them if the same situations occur in the future.

Editor's Corner

Intramural Sports

BY GENE KYSER

Let's call this the "kickoff" for a program of intramural sports here at the Atlanta Division. We have purposely waited until the football season is half over because it is harder to organize a football team than a basketball, golf or tennis team.

Students who work all day and go to school at night are especially in need of recreation. An intramural sports league would provide at least a portion of them with the opportunity to obtain this recreation and exercise, and at the same time would add to the school something in the way of sports other physical education classes.

Without attempting to be arbitrary about the formation of such a program, here are a few pointers which deserve consideration:

1. There should be a league formed, each member having some organizational basis, and not just a group of players.
2. At least the following sports should be included in competition between these league members, each being instituted as their season approaches: basketball, golf, tennis, softball, and touch football. Other sports could be included if desired later: track, badminton, volleyball, horseshoes, table tennis, bowling, boxing, etc.
3. Each group should furnish such individual supplies as are needed, such as gloves, shoes, rackets, etc., but a grant from the school will possibly be needed to cover such items as balls, proper court fixtures, bats, etc. This should be large enough to include cost of modest trophies as prizes to championship teams. Total cost would be extremely small, and possibly could be raised by dues to member teams.

4. A regular league, with president, club representatives, should govern the actual rules, play, disputes, should fix schedules, and should perform other necessary items of administration, such as furnishing officials.

5. Most of the following groups probably should enter teams in at least part of the competing activities: Alpha Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma Pi, Kappa Sigma Kappa, Sigma Kappa Chi (Alpha and Beta), Phi Sigma Alpha, Tau Epsilon Phi, Alpha Epsilon Pi, student council, any class, and other groups interested. Since there is some duplication of members, eligibility rules must be devised.

A group of student leaders will be selected to discuss the matter with the athletic department and the faculty student activities committee. We are reasonably confident that full cooperation from all interested factions can be secured, especially if administration of the league is not dumped on the athletic department. Such a program could begin with the basketball season the latter part of this year and early 1950.

But don't expect to see me on the basketball floor.

We're all there, mirrored in at least one of the cartoonish situations.

Much emphasis is placed on the death rate in accident prevention work. This is natural because death always makes the headlines. But it is dangerous, too, because it is so easy to overlook injury rate as a true measure of success or failure in safety campaigns. The hundreds of persons saved from death are living tributes to the safety job that has been done, it is pointed out, but the injured millions should be constant reminders that the job is far from completed.

The Human Race

America's miserable traffic accident record is, in a sense, the sum of all our trifling human frailties. Most of us know how to drive and walk with safety, but it is so human to let our absurd little personal foibles botch our better judgment.

There is the fellow who breaks every ordinance in the book to get home in 28½ minutes flat, only to read a comic book during the minute and a half he saves. There is the teenager who knows every rule in the baseball book but none of the laws on the traffic books. And the woman who can spot a nylon stocking sale from four aisles away but

Admission Standards

We note with interest a campaign being conducted in Florida to urge higher admission standards for the colleges and universities of that state in a belated effort to purge those institutions of so-called "loafers".

The SIGNAL commends this action on the part of Florida educators and would like to see similar action taken by Georgia school officials.

As pointed out by President Doak Campbell of Florida State University, there are too many students in the nation's colleges today who are attending school simply to better their social, economic, and cultural advantage, or, in the case of many veterans, just to get money from generous Uncle Sam.

We agree with Dr. Campbell when he said that "students should not be admitted to any higher institution who do not possess a burning desire to secure the advantages that are there for them in the highest possible degree."

Review your own case. Is your conscience clear?

OUR GUEST

BY H. B. MONTGOMERY, JR.

When graduation day comes for us, and it eventually will, each one of us want to receive a degree from a school that is recognized as one of the leading institutions in our section of the country. We want people to think of our school as a progressive organization that allows only those who deserve to graduate. We want it to be known in any section of the country in which we might find ourselves.

If each of us have only good things to say about the school when we're outside the school, it will go a long way towards creating this impression. People are impressionable, and if every time they hear of the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, they hear only good things, what other opinion can they have?

I don't believe that we should sit back and say, "We've got a good school," and then proceed to overlook the faults that we have. But by handling these faults through our student council, the faculty, the SIGNAL and other student organizations, we can correct them.

Have you ever heard a Texan say anything derogatory about Texas? No, Texas is filled with too many good things to talk of (or so they tell us). Our school also has good points.

Our growth in the last ten years is nothing short of phenomenal, and we must realize that because of this growth our classrooms are somewhat crowded. But that point within itself raises a question: Why should several thousand Atlantians give up three nights a week in school, and the studying required between times, if the school weren't worth it?

Atlanta businessmen already realize that the future leaders of business in Atlanta come from this school. Let's let all of the South and the country as a whole know that we think it's a fine school, and are mighty proud to be a part of it.

Who will benefit? Well, first of all we will, because our degrees from this school will give us the opportunity for better positions. The companies that we work for will benefit because we're given the chance to advance and prove ourselves worthy of that chance; then in turn the city, state and nation will benefit.

This is no longer a "night school" for a few people who couldn't afford college. It's now the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia, where people in business who feel the need of more education can attend a "first class university," and can earn a livelihood at the same time.

No One Clique

About 85% of this school is "dead wood" insofar as student activities are concerned.

Only about 15% of the students belong to any organization or take an interest in the various functions of the university, the general council, or the student council. The rest are not interested.

All we are pointing out is such students have no right ever to complain about the "clique that runs things around here." Actually there is no such clique, but there are many such cliques who are interested; some for selfish purposes, some for the best interests of the school, and some for both.

They have a strong voice in the school because 85% of the students apparently don't care. And many are glad the 85% doesn't care; it makes things easier.

DICK HATCH

Our World; Russian A-Blast

It was a typical day in the Atlanta offices of the United Press. The teletype machines were setting up a steady drone. Reporters sat at their typewriters going through their daily routine. Everything was normal. To read loudly, "TRUMAN ANNOUNCES RECENT ATOMIC EXPLOSION IN RUSSIA."

Suddenly a bell on the machine sending Washington copy began to ring fast. It had an urgent note to it, like a fire alarm foretelling some disaster. It was a flash. The bureau manager jumped from his desk and began

Then something very unusual happened. Every teletype in the office was silent at once. It was only for a minute. But in that minute an eerie chill went down my spine. It was as if the machines understood that Russia too had mastered the secret of the most destructive force known to man and had paused to contemplate it.

At first I was scared. Pictures of smashed cities and torn bodies flashed through my mind. I recalled the scenes of horror at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. And I could see Atlanta, lying dead in a mass of rubble.

But then another thought occurred to me. Was this perhaps the announcement of an act of God? Hasn't God always offset a force with some counter-force to maintain the balance of things? What if the American people had remained in sole possession of this terrible secret indefinitely? Wouldn't we begin to be overly impressed with our own sense of power? We are not without fault. Wouldn't we begin to think that everything we wanted we got and everything we said went?

And perhaps the realization that this force was wielded by two rival powers would drive home to the world that we can not and must not have another war. Perhaps this force of destruction would become an instrument of peace.

The revelation leaves two courses open for our country and for Russia. One would be to scrap not only atomic weapons but mass armies and mass air fleets and submit to some sort of international arms control. The other alternative would be for Russian and the United State to embark on an armaments race such as the world has never known. Countries who cohes this alternative always have and always will end in war.

Let us hope we chose the former course.

OLD ANNUALS NOW ON SALE

Students who failed to buy a copy of the 1947 or 1948 Rampways may now purchase a copy at the Rampway office, Room 111. Prices have been set at $1.50 each, and the books will be on sale from November 9 through November 16.

1949 Rampways may be purchased in the school book store at a cost of $5.00 each, which was the original price last year.

Chatterbox . . .

Quite a few of the Deltasig's took off for the National Convention a couple of weeks ago, and also some of them went on to New York, boy I bet they really took that city by storm, or maybe it was vice-versa.

Jean Sutherland is doing quite well for herself. Just look at her achievements of the summer. Congratulations to being named "Miss Atlanta", Jean.

What's this about having a traitor in the crowd??? We hear that one popular belle says, "I really do have to support Georgia Tech because my boy friend goes to school there. All we can say is Traitor!!"

Kathryn Miller was heard sighing with satisfaction at the thought of the coming Alpha Kappa Psi southeastern convention which will be held in Atlanta. Seems she had a date with a cute yankee AKPsi at the last one.

Dame Rumor says there's something in the wind. Is your Fraternity pin getting "loose", Bill Robins.

Pirates Walk Gangplank For Kappa Thetas

Kappa Theta issued unique invitations to their rushees to attend a "Pirate's Party" on October 29th at Indian Creek Lodge. These invitations were made on white paper, using black ink, and in addition to inviting the guest to attend, the map imprinted thereon added a further note of mystery. To top it all off, the edges of each invitation were burned.

The entrance to the lodge was decorated in true boarding ship style—a "gangplank." Upon entering the lodge, the living room was converted into a wilderness of darkness, except for the gayly styled Pirate flags used throughout the room. In the midst of the room, a huge, old, wornout keg, filled to the brim with water, and containing luscious, red apples provided moments of merriment for those that bobbed.

The dining hall formed the "Main Galley" of the ship, and truly reminded those of the horrors of a night aboard a "pirate's" ship. During the evening, the guests and rushees were entertained with a "Treasure Hunt." The couple appearing as the best dressed 'pirates' were awarded a prize of a miniature pirate.

At the alarm of a ship approaching of hostile nature, everyone gathered in the Galley to eat a typical "Pirates supper", baked beans, spiced rolls, apple juice, "Mulligan's Stew" and hot coffee. Everyone retired to a bunk for the remainder of the night.

Campus Plans Delayed By Roofing Problem Material Needed To Withstand Wear of Weather and Students

Plans for a "campus in the sky" here at UGAA which have been under study since early last year seemed temporarily bogged down this week.

Dr. George M. Sparks, Director of the Division, said the delay in construction of the roof garden atop the present building is due to lack of a roofing material which will stand up under the wear and tear imposed by both weather and students.

An appropriation of nearly $30,000 has been received with which to construct the roof campus which will cover 20,000 square feet.

Dr. Sparks said that extensive searching and researching has been done in an attempt to find a suitable material for the roof. Building of the new campus will involve removing the present asphalt and gravel roof and replacing it with one that will not leak and that will stand up under the wear of dancing, tennis, badminton, and shuffleboard.

Dr. Sparks and the university engineers have been visiting some of the downtown buildings which have attempted the same project, but as yet have not found a satisfactory method of construction.

"If we make it smooth enough to dance on" remarked Dr. Sparks, then the rain will go right through it (this would be to the displeasure of the Music Dept. which has its new pianos on the floor below, and if we make it waterproof it will be too rough to dance on.

When completed the half-acre campus will have space for a temporary sand beach for sunbathing during the summer, two tennis courts, eight shuffleboard courts, two or three badminton courts, chairs for just plain relaxation, and a dance floor.

Plans for a swimming pool have been discouraged by the school engineers because of the weight it would put on the foundation of the building.

With the completion of the campus in the sky, UGAA will have one of the most modern, and complete roof gardens in the country. With the location of the present Penthouse, dancing, both indoors and out, will be possible at the same time and to the same music.

Dramatics Club Needs Members

The University Playcrafters held their first meeting of the fall quarter last Sunday. Although the Atlanta Division no longer has a drama department, the Playcrafters are still active. The possibilities and plans for the production of a play for students were discussed at the Sunday meeting.

Last year, under the supervision of Professor James E. Popovitch, the Playcrafters presented three plays in the school auditorium. Professor Popovitch is now teaching drama at Athens.

The Playcrafters have extended an invitation for membership to any student who is interested in drama. The Playcrafters, now only one year old, is the only organization of its kind here at the Atlanta Division.

Any student, interested in joining the drama group, should contact Helen Mackris, the Playcrafters secretary, at ATwood 2940.

36 Pass C P A Exams Held Here Last May

Results of the last CPA examination held in May, 1949, reveal that the highest number ever to pass the examination in Georgia did so at that time. It was further disclosed that out of a total of 36 passing the test, nine were students in Professor Hewitt S. Hills' CPA Review class here at the University. This record of 25% compares with a record of 38% for and 42% for 1948.

Congratulations are due to the students who passed, Mr. Hills, and the accounting faculty for the excellent showing on this test, which is considered extremely difficult.

6,600,000 Vets Use G.I. Training

The Veteran's Administration has revealed that a total number of 6,600,000 veterans of World II have taken some sort of training offered under the G. I. Bill and Public Law 16.

The administration said that more veterans have taken courses in schools below college level than in any other type of training offered, with more than 2,500,000 enrolled in such schools. These schools include high schools, vocational schools, business schools and similar institutions.

Colleges and universities ran a close second, according to the report, with more than 2,000,000 veterans enrolled in them since the war.

More than 1,600,000 G. I.'s have taken on-the-job training and some 500,000 have enrolled in institutional on-the-farm training. The report also pointed out that these figures show only the final training the veterans takes. For example if a veteran completes on-the-job training and then takes a course in a vocational school, he would be included only in the below-college-level totals.

The G. I. Bill began in June, 1944 and Public Law 16, for disabled veterans, went into effect in March of 1943.

New Air Coach Schedule Started

On Nov. 1, Capital Airlines inaugurated economy airline service, the Air Coach, between Atlanta, Detroit, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Minneapolis-St. Paul. Previously, Capital was operating its Air Coach between Atlanta, Pittsburgh and New York. On the new schedule effective Nov. 1, the Air Coach will leave Atlanta at 10:00 P. M., arriving New York 2:45 A.M., Pittsburgh 12:50 A.M., Cleveland 2:07 A.M., Detroit and 3:02 A. M., Milwaukee 3:43 A. M. Minneapolis-St. Paul 6:02 A.M.

Capital's Air Coach operates nightly using the same equipment and crews as are used on daytime flights. In some instances Air Coach fare is approximately rail coach fare and in many cases is below rail plus lower berth fares.

N.S.L.I. Refunds May Be Delayed By Carelessness

Some serious errors and omissions in filling out application forms for the $2.8 billion National Service Life Insurance dividend were reported today by Veterans Administration as millions of veterans began applying for their special payments.

Most common error, VA said, is failure to include service serial numbers, required under item 4 of the application form. Here the form provides three spaces labeled, respectively, "Enlisted", "Officer" and "Other." These labels refer to the class of serial number assigned the veteran when he was serving as an enlisted man, as an officer, or in some other status.

Many veterans, however, are putting their date of enlistment in the first box, and their grade or rank in one of the other two. VA said such information is not required for dividend purposes, but that the serial number is absolutely essential.

Some veterans even are failing to sign their applications. Unsigned applications are not acceptable, VA said.

More Than 100 At Open House

Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity in the field of commerce, held an open house at its lodge near Tucker, Georgia, on October 22. Over 100 members of the faculty, freshmen, new students, and Deltasigs attended.

The afternoon started with volleyball and concluded with a hole-in-one golf tournament. Prof. Baker, Frank Byrd, and Rocky Ivey won first, second and third prizes. Refreshments rounded out the days activities.

Later in the afternoon Dr. Sparks, Dr. Hollingsworth, Prof. Manners, and Prof. Honea each delivered a short talk. Their words were a source of inspiration to those present.

Recent Division Grads Continuing Education

Several recent graduates of the Atlanta Division are now furthering their education in graduate schools elsewhere.

Among these students are John L. Clayton, former editor of the SIGNAL and graduate of June 1949, who is attending the Walton School of Finance, University of Columbia University; Walter M. Dodds, June 1949 graduate, who is a student at the Graduate School of Business, University of Georgia, Athens.

Claudia Marie Couch, graduate of June, 1949, is enrolled in the Graduate School of Business, Columbia University; William M. Rutledge, recent graduate, is at the Graduate School of Business, University of Chicago; and Lyle C. Clark, June 1949 graduate, is now attending the Graduate School of Georgia Tech, majoring in Industrial Management.

Honest, officer, I thought this was the Ivy Street Garage!

Major Norm Hays, Oklahoma A&M, '40 - Aviation Executive, U.S. Air Force!

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.

Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant . . . married his college sweetheart.

Sent to an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington . . . with a secure career . . . a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26 1/2, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. ### GEORGIA TO WIN SATURDAY

For some reason or other, this correspondent has a hunch that the Bulldogs may emerge victorious Saturday, a rare weekend feat for the below par red and black eleven.

It will probably be their next to last win of the season. The Bulldogs may squeeze by Duquesne but it is very doubtful if they can escape from Grant Field without defeat.

This column is not written to criticize the Georgia football team. It just presents the facts. Let's review the season. Georgia opened the year by beating Furman and Chattanooga, two squads that the Red and Black freshman teams of old could have defeated with ease. Then the first test, a game with the not so powerful Tarheels. Georgia was beaten. The following week they were soundly trounced by Kentucky and one week later, Wally's eleven eked out a 7-0 win over LSU at Athens. However, if the game was played at Baton Rouge, chances are that the Tigers would have been on the long end of the score.

The only thing memorable about Georgia's trip to Miami were visits to Collins Avenue and Ocean Drive. The grid team did visit the Orange Bowl, but before it left, the up and coming Hurricanes had humiliated the ragged eleven, 16-7.

Georgia returned to Athens. It was Homecoming and the Bulldogs were fired-up for the gala occasion. However, the Crimson Tide put out the short-lived fire by winning, 14-7.

What puzzles this columnist is how Georgia was so terrific last season and is so lousy this year.

The reason is not lack of material. On the contrary, Gene Chandler, could easily be called one of the outstanding defensive players in the country. He's fast, grid-wise, and a sure tackler. Porter Payne has the ability to make any college eleven in the Southeast and ditto for Bob Walston, Al Bodine, John Tillitski, and George Ford. There are many other seasoned veterans on hand at Athens and why they do not function as a team is quite a confusing question.

At any rate, Georgia should play well enough to take Auburn Saturday and Duquesne on the following weekend. Even though the Jackets will probably be crippled November 26, unless Georgia decides to coordinate, it should climax the unsuccessful Georgia season by inflicting another defeat on the hapless Bulldogs.

Another thing, we hear that Tom Burnett is also going to school in Davenport, Iowa. We want to wish him good luck.

Phi Chi Thetas Hear Dr. Gilbreth

Members of Phi Chi Theta were accorded a signal honor in being privileged to attend the dinner on October 11 at the Henry Grady Hotel at which Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, national honorary member, was the speaker. The meeting was sponsored jointly by the Society for the Advancement of Management and Georgia Tech and was not open to the general public.

The world's leading woman engineer, Dr. Gilbreth, and her husband, Frank B. Gilbreth, were pioneers in Time and Motion Study. She is Professor Emeritus of Industrial Engineering at Purdue and the only woman in the world who is a member of both the American Society of Electrical Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

While in Atlanta, Dr. Gilbreth was honored by Georgia Tech when she became the first and only woman to be initiated into Alpha Pi Mu, honorary industrial engineering fraternity. It is fitting that she should be honored by Georgia Tech; for Upsilon Chapter of Phi Chi Theta was installed in 1939 when the Atlanta Division was known as the Tech Evening School of Commerce, being the first women's national fraternity at the school.

Dr. George M. Sparks, director of the Atlanta Division, became the first honorary member of the chapter. Mrs. William C. Cantrell, secretary to the Director, was a charter member.

Jane Binford, Joan Smith, Marvin Cole and Johnny Harwell did a fine job in decorating for the Deltasig Halloween party.

Royce Freeman and Betty Hill are always wide awake, so say the folks that went on a recent house party with them.

We think that Ann Mobley, Mary Ella Screven, and Ann Mucklow should decide to stay in Evening College. It's a grand place!

If ever you want to look a word up in the dictionary, just come up to the SIGNAL office and use their "huge" one. Believe it or not, it's 2¼ by 4¼, inches, that is.

Who is that "cute" gal that we have been seeing you with in the lobby, Busby???

The big day is coming up for Marjorie Davis and Jim (Rube) Hardy. It's November 20.

The weather is kinda chilly to be wearing a "bathing suit", Sue Bryant. Especially a two-piece one.

Sigma Kappa Chi Revives Football

Touch football will make its first major comeback appearance at the Atlanta Division in several years on Thanksgiving morning when Alpha and Beta Chapter of Sigma Kappa Chi Fraternity clash in the revived 'Linament Bowl' classic, which had formerly seen Alpha Kappa Psi and Delta Sigma

Cliff Blaisdell was commenting on the recent article published in this column. He wanted to know "Who's this cute blonde?"

Wonder why Marvin Cole and Johnny Harwell went to the Pent House? Was it to check up? Or was it, to see the Petticoat play?

Announcement—the Glee Club needs 10 basses, 10 sopranos, 10 tenors; anyone interested in singing is invited to come to the Tuesdays and Thursdays practices.

Class teacher: (laughing) Guess anyone in the class who thinks he can sing should go.

Pi as annual participants. Game time is 10:30 a. m. at Piedmont Park. An added attraction for this bowl bout will be cheering sections composed of two of the Atlanta Division sororities. Girls from Delta Lambda Sigma will cheer for the Bets while Chi Rho Sigma members will root for the Alphas.

The two teams met for the first time last season with the Betas fashioning a two-touchdown victory. On the strength of this, the evening school squad will enter the game as slight favorites. John Poss, Beta, and Tony Dinos, Alpha, both predicted victory for their respective clubs. They evidenced none of the pessimism generally shown before a big 'rivalry' game such as this.

Practice for the tilt began early this week, and resulting strains and sprains in the enemy camps showed that the bowl encounter is well named. However, it is hoped that all members of both squads will have recovered sufficiently in time to engage in the fray.

After the contest, members of the two chapters of Sigma Kappa Chi and the Chi Rho Sigmas and the Delta Lambda Sigmas will attend the Ga. Tech-Georgia Freshman in a group.
